Results of examination: BACKGROUND INFORMATION: For complete results of examination in this matter please refer to previous Laboratory report dated January 31, 1996. CHEMISTRY: The results of a physical and instrumental examination of a material removed from specimen Q3 identified the presence of hexachlorocyclohexane (Lindane) and aluminum in the form of both a powder and larger chunks. The chemical lindane is considered a potent insecticide and can pose health risks if exposed to humans at certain levels. An analysis of a material remover from a center compartment of specimen Q3 identified potassium nitrate, particles of a silicon containing material, a lead/oxygen containing material consistent with lead oxide, and a barium/chromium containing material consistent with barium chromate. A combination of these components have been found in some ignition mixtures. Based on conversations with representatives in the Lindane industry along with the design, specimen Q3 is consistent with a Lindane smoke dispersion device. Unfortunately, no reference could be found as to a product containing a combination of chemicals detected in this matter. The specimen was examined using the following techniques: optical microscopy, chemical spot tests, x-ray diffraction, scanning electron microscopy with energy dispersive x-ray analysis, ion chromatography, and gas chromatography with mass spectrometry detection. Specimen Q5 was not examined in this matter. DISPOSITION OF SPECIMENS: The submitted specimens will be retained by the Laboratory for additional examinations in this matter. You will be advised of the results of in subsequent reports. Page 5 51020004 S/D AD

In November, 1992, Peter Kevin MeGregor Langan was arrested by the Cincinnati, Ohio Police Division at his home on Biegler Street, Cincinnati. He was arrested on an armed robbery warrant out of Georgia. Subsequent to his arrest, his house was searched, by consent. Found in his house were numerous guns, ammunition, and explosives. While Peter Langan was incarcerated in the Hamilton County, Ohio jail, awaiting extradition to Georgia, he confided to his cell mate that he was a white supremacist. The two found they had much in common along those lines and, subsequently, Langan told his cell mate that he was being supplied guns, ammunition and ordinance by the Army.

On 08/15/1991, a storage locker which had been rented by Richard Guthrie was searched by the Martinsburg, West Virginia Police Department. Found in the locker were night vision goggles which had been stolen from the U. S. Army, Ft. Bragg, Fayetteville, N.C.

Investigation at Cincinnati, Ohio has determined that the Langan family is identified as follows: Peter Kevin McGregor Langan is the of the siblings.

Lives of crime

for suspects in bank heists

By Jill Wepenhoff, Brent LaLande and Jim Woods Disputch Staff Reporters

Peter K. Langan was barely 16 when he was arrested for robbing a Florida man of $78 and his Ford van.

Police shot Langan in the left hand during the arrest, and presecutors sent him to a Florida prison with adult criminals for five years.

"When he got out, I thought he had kept his nose clean," said Langan's sister, Leslie Maloney, 41, of Cincinnati.

Apparently not.

Langan and a childhood friend, Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., both 37, are believed to be part of the Midwestern Bank Bandits, a gang suspected of robbing 18 banks in seven states of at least $250,000 since 1994.

The bandits taunted the FBI with letters to newspapers, bought getaway cars in the names of retired federal agents and, during some robberies, wore shirts featuring the loges of the FBI and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Guthrie, armed with two semiautomatic handguns, was arrested on Jan. 15 in Cincinnati after a 2-mile chase by the FBI.

Three days later, federal agents arrested Langan in Columbus after a shootout outside the South Side house he rented at 585 Reinhard Ave. Langan, who suffered minor gunshot wounds, was charged with assaulting a federal officer.

Guthrie

Langan and Guthrie. It began in Wheaton, Md., a middle-class suburb just north of the Washington beltway.

FRIENDS SINCE CHILDHOOD

Langan, the youngest of three boys and three girls, was born May 18, 1958, in Saipan, in the Mariana Islands, where his father worked for the CIA.

When the family returned to the United States in 1964, 6-year-old Peter could speak Vietnamese, French and English. Maloney said.

Langan met Guthrie, a native of Washington D.C., when the family moved to Wheaton. The two, along with Norman H. Smith, became fast friends.

"They all went to elementary and junior high school together," Maloney said. "They used to ride bikes."

Langan and Guthrie came from solid Roman Catholic families and were "pretty good kids," Smith said Friday by telephone from a Maryland prison. He is serving six years for assault and larceny.

The three attended Wheaton High School, where Smith recalled Guthrie styling himself as an "outcast

Smith graduated from Wheaton High in 1978. Guthrie had transferred to nearby Robert E. Perry High School in Rockville, Md., and graduated in 1977. Langur withdrew from Wheaton in May 1974.

By that time, life had changed for Langan. The turning point apparently was his father's death in 1967 at age 50 of complications of asthma and emphysema.

"It just devastated him," Maloney said.

The FBI recently identified Jim Thompson, who lived off and on with Langan and Guthrie in Pittsburg, Kan., as a possible third member of the robbery gang.

Thompson's whereabouts are unknown. Langan is in the Franklin County jail; Guthrie is in jail in Covington, Ky. Both have been charged in two of the robberies.

FBI agents now are trying to trace the trail of

The FBI says these items, including masks and fake FBI clothing, were used in bank robberies and were recovered from a storage locker in Shawnee, Kan.

SUSPECTS from 1A

While Mr. Langan had sent his family home in 1964, he remained in Vietnam until 1967.

"Peter had been waiting and waiting for him to come home," Maloney said. "He came home, and he died within a few months. Peter was never the same after that.

Her brother "went wild for a while," she said. "He ran away from home and went to Florida."

Not long after, Langan, then 16, was convicted of the robbery near Daytona Beach. He was tried as an adult and sentenced to 20 years.

After Langan's release from prison in 1978, he married and had a son, Peter Jr., now 14 and living with his mother in Maryland. The marriage broke up within two years.

"Peter tried real hard to make it," Smith recalled. "But Guthrie was around to influence him and draw him down his path."

Langan had little contact with his sister until 1988, when he moved in with her in Cincinnati.

"Peter and I became close then," Maloney said.

Her brother lived there off and on until 1993. He baby-sat her children while she worked third shift at the Internal Revenue Service processing center in Covington, Ky. During the day, he worked as a handyman. fake receipts, a search warrant states.

Langan was involved in similar trouble on May 11, 1992, when he returned a $272 power washer to a Kmart in Harrison, Ohio, in Hamilton County. He received a 30-day sentence for receiving stolen property. Langan's sister recalled that Guthrie was visiting at the time.

When Guthrie was arrested in West Virginia in 1991, he listed an apartment on 38th Street in Ocean City, Md., as a home address. Guthrie also listed that address when arrested Jan. 15.

Detective Rob Deickman, of the Ocean City Police Department, said Guthrie is a possible suspect in a Jan. 13, 1992 bank robbery.

LOOKING FOR TIES

In December, the FBI told Maloney that the Midwestern Bank Bandits were financing activities of a white supremacy group.

Federal agents are trying to determine the extent of Langan's and Guthrie's connections to rightving extremist groups and unorganized militias.

In the 1980s, Smith said, he and Guthrie traveled three times to Hayden Lake. Idaho. for an annual conference of the Aryan Nation, a white visited or called Langan.

ARGUMENT RIPS TRIO APART

The trio's friendship changed in 1991, after Smith and Guthrie had a falling-out that nearly turned into a shootout at Smith's home in Martinsburg, W.Va., in Berkeley County.

Smith said he and Guthrie had a disagreement over some "unofficial business" they had conducted at Fort Bragg, the Army base in Fayetteville, N.C.

Guthrie, Smith said, threatened to kill him.

When a deputy arrived at Smith's home, Guthrie was getting out of a black Ford Bronco with a loaded 12-gauge pump shotgun in one hand and a bandoleer of ammunition over his shoulder. Smith recalled being in a tree at the time, with Guthrie in his rifle's scope.

Guthrie was arrested on a misdemeanor weapons charge.

Berkeley County Prosecutor Pamela Games-Neely said "Smith was a one-man militia, and Guthrie was likewise."

Deputies found 11 guns and more than 5,000 rounds of ammunition in Smith's house, court records show.

While Langan tried to mediate the dispute between his two friends, West Virginia authorities tried to sort out Guthrie's criminal past.

In 1983, Guthrie was charged with grand theft in Broward County, Fla. He posted bond and fied. Authorities in West Virginia became aware of the warrant when they arrested Guthrie.

Florida authorities declined to extradite Guthrie, probably because of the age of the case and the distance, said Carol Napierala of the state attorney's office.

Guthrie's arrest in Martinsburg, however, triggered an investigation into a wide range of illegal activities.

"He was a mystery person at the time, and when we had most of it figured out, he was gone," said Deputy Sheriff Russell Shackleford, of Berkeley County, W.Va.

A search of the nearby Oak Crest Motel, where Guthrie had stayed in 1991, turned up a pair of night-vision goggles worth more than $1,000. They had been stolen from Fort Bragg, court records show.

. Guthrie had served in the Navy until 1984.

Deputies also found items that appeared to have been stolen from Kmart stores.

Guthrie was accused of buying items from Kmart, making copies of the receipts, returning the items, then stealing the same items and returning them for money using the

Smith said the FBI has interviewed him since the arrests of Guthrie and Langan. Smith described Langan as "a brother" but labeled Guthrie a "sociopath."

"He was a malcontent on a sacred mission to fight against the system in any way and all costs." Smith said of Guthrie.

On a form filed in federal court, Langan listed his occupation as a "revolutionary." He told reporters he is "Commander Pedro" of the Aryan Republican Army.

The FBI has never heard of the Aryan Republican Army, spokesman Ed Boldt said, "but that's not to say

'INVINCIBLE' GUTHRIE

Smith believes Guthrie was a bad influence on Langan.

Guthrie, Smith said, "believes

he is invincible."

Langan was arrested in Cincinnati on charges of weapons violations in late 1992 when Secret Service agents showed up at his house looking for Guthrie, who was suspected of making threats against President Bush.

Langan served a short jail sentence in Cincinnati before being extradited to Georgia in 1993 to face a charge that he and Guthrie robbed a Pizza Hut in Lavonia, Ga., in 1992.

Langan was released from the Georgia jail, however, after he agreed to help the Secret Service find Guthrie. Langan returned to Cincinnati.

"At first, Peter was to call if certain people contacted him," Maloney said. "Then they began to put pressure on him to infiltrate something. He got scared (and ran)."

Before he disappeared, Maloney said, Langan had moved in with a girlfriend, who gave birth to a daughter, Erin.

On Monday, Maloney saw her brother for the first time in 2½ years when she took socks and underwear to him in the Franklin County jail.

His brown hair had been dyed red and hung below his shoulders. His unshaven beard is brown.

"I wouldn't have recognized him if I saw him on the street," Maloney said. "It was strange. But I was so happy to see him. I never thought I'd ever see my brother again."

During their visit, Langan told Maloney that he didn't shoot at the officers who arrested him.

Maloney said she is confused by all the accusations involving her brother but remains realistic.

"I can understand now why people say, "The person I know would never do something like that," she said.

ASSUCIATED Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Federal authorities are investigating whether a man arrested on a fugitive warrant is connected to a string of 18 bank robberies throughout the Midwest, an FBI spokesman said today.

Peter Langan, 37, was arrested Thursday after a shootout with authorities outside a home. He was treated at a hospital for multiple gunshot wounds and released. No one else was injured.

A search of the house turned up seven pipe bombs, four grenades and other bombmaking materials.

Dave Hanna, senior supervisor in the Columbus office of the FBI, said agents would continue to search the house today for additional evidence.

"All I can tell you is that we acquired or located a large number of explosive devices in the residence yesterday and last night, and right now our investigation is continuing to determine whether there is any connection between these materials and those robberies," Hanna said.

The FBI is investigating whether Langan may be one of two robbers who call themselves the "Midwestern Bank Bandits."

The pair began taunting agents last year when they bought getaway cars in the names of retired agents and sent letters to newspapers poking fun at agents. They wore shirts with FBI and federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms logos during at least two of their 18 robberies, which have netted the pair an estimated $250,000.

Another suspect in the robberies is Richard Lee Guthrie, 37, who was arrested in Cincinnati and is being held there on federal charges from Georgia and West Virginia. Hanna said Guthrie had rented the Columbus residence where Langan was staying.

Ed Boldt, an FBI spokesman, said Thursday that Langan was wanted for the October 1992 armed robbery of a Pizza Hut in Lavonla, Ga, The FBI has no hometown listed for Langan.

FBI agents and a task force of Columbus police, Franklin County sheriff's deputies and Secret Service agents attempted to arrest Langan outside the home Thursday. He started shooting at the agents, who returned fire. Boldt said.

Langan was charged with one count of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and made an initial appearance before U.S. Magistrate Terence Kemp. He was taken to the Frank-In County jail, where he was being held without bond: His bond hearing is today. Q[A-C[-63809-42]

Suspect arrested in shootout

Man linked to robberies across Midwest

FBI agents might have gotten the last laugh yesterday when they arrested a man on the South Side, who, sources said, is suspected of a string of 18 bank robberies throughout the Midwest, including an October 1994 holdup in Columbus.

Two robbers who call themselves the "Midwestern Bank Bandits" began taunting Federal Bureau of Investigation agents last year when they started to buy getaway cars in the names of retired FBI agents; sent letters to newspapers poking fun at agents; and wore shirts with FBI and federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms logos during at least two robberies.

Peter K. Langan, 37, whose permanent address is not known, was shot in the back and face about 9:45 a.m. when law enforcement officials attempted to arrest him as he prepared to leave 585 Reinhard Ave.

Afterward, the Columbus Division of Fire's bomb squad spent several hours inside the house, where they found several explosives. Seven pipe bombs, four grenades and other bomb-making materials were found early in the search. Bomb squad members were at the house through the evening and were expected to return today. Several neighbors were evacuated.

Langan was wanted on a federal warrant, issued in Georgia, for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, but several law enforcement sources said that Langan and another man, Richard Lee Guthrie, are believed to be the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

Guthrie, 37, was arrested recently in Cincinnati and is being held in the Hamilton County jail on federal charges from Georgia and West Virginia.

FBI agent Ed Boldt would not say whether Langan and Guthrie are suspects in the bank robberies, adding that "no one has been charged with the so-called Midwestern bank robberies." Boldt refused to comment when asked whether any suspects in the heists were in custody.

But several law enforcement

But several law enforcement sources, who did not want to be identified, confirmed that Langan is wanted in connection with the robberies, and that FBI agents had filed the unlawful flight warrant so they could arrest Langan and question him about the heists.

At a hearing in U.S. District Court yesterday afternoon on the unlawful flight charge, Langan denied taking part in the bank jobs.

"I'm just another innocent person caught up in the tyrannical legal system," he told reporters. "Power to the people; up with the revolution," Langan said he was a founder of the "Aryan Republican Army," which aims to overthrow the government and "set free the oppressed people of North America." He said he wants to be referred to as "Commander Petiro.'

The unlawful flight warrant stemmed from an October 1992 robbery of a Pizza Hut in Lavonia, Ga. Guthrie also is suspected of participating in the robbery, Lavonia police Langan is expected to be charged today with assault on a federal officer and possibly other charges related to the shootout, Boldt said.

The Midwestern Bank Bandits began hitting in January 1994 and have struck banks in Ohio, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Kentucky.

The gang is suspected of one Columbus robbery: the Oct. 25, 1994, holdup of the Columbus National Bank at 6121 E. Livingston Ave. A lunch box containing a pipe bomb and a Twinkie was left behind by the robbers, who were dressed in construction hats. The 18 robberies have netted the pair an estimated $250,000, according to news reports.

The robbers have developed a distinctive mode of operation: They arrive in town several days before the robbery and purchase a junk car to be used in the getaway; they dress in disguises, such as construction workers or FBI agents; and they leave behind a bomb or fake explosive at the bank or in the getaway car to delay law enforcement officials.

The robbers angered FBI agents in December when they sent letters to several Midwestern newspapers, including papers in Cleveland: St. Louis: Des Moines, Iowa:

and Milwaukee.

In one letter, the robbers nominated FBI agent Jim Nelson, based in St. Louis, for a community service award and appointed him as the robbers' "new spokesman for 1996." Another letter called Larry Holmquist, an agent based in Omaha, Neb., a "loudmouth."

Nobody has been injured in the robberies, but investigators said the robbers got braver and more arrogant as the robberies continued.

"Eventually, one of the bombs will go off, somebody will get shot or somebody will get hurt," FBI agent Douglass Ogden told The Dispatch last year.

Langan was arrested when he got into a shootout with members of the FBI Safe Streets Task Force made up of federal agents, Franklin County sheriff's deputies and Columbus police officers.

Task force members had been staking out the Reinhard Avenue address and tried to arrest Langan when he came out the back door and got into a white van. Agents were hesitant to raid the house because of the explosives, sources said.

Langan fired at task force members when they approached the van and announced that Langan was under arrest, Boldt said. Langan was believed to have fired several times

Up to seven task force members returned fire, striking Langan in the back and face. He was treated at Grant Medical Center for minor injuries and was being held last night in the Franklin County jail.

No officers were hit.

Investigators found 47 spent shells in the area of the shooting, and Langan's van had at least 30 bullet holes in it. Investigators also found a .22-caliber automatic pistol outside the van and a .380-caliber automatic inside.

Police and neighbors said Langan had frequented the Reinhard Avenue duplex for about three months.

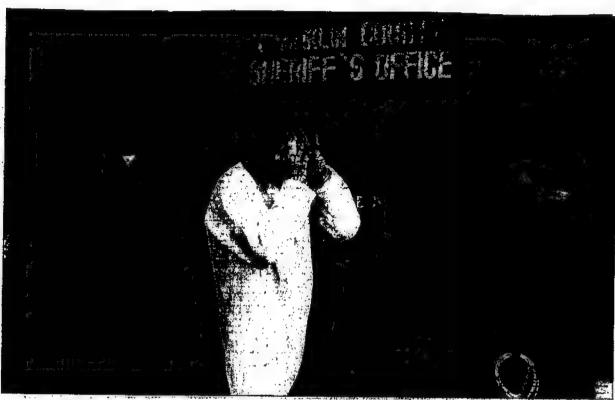

Marcia Hall, 32, lives upstairs in the duplex with her three children. She said she thought the two men who occasionally stayed downstairs were police officers because they once flashed badges at her and her 10-year-old son Jeffrey.

"They were real quiet guys, and they stayed to themselves," Hall said. "But if they were making bombs in there, that's dangerous."

Hall said the two men would stop by the house once a week or so. Yesterday, she awoke to sounds of gunfire.

"I looked out the window and there was a guy with a machine gur pointing at me," she said. "He tok me to get away from the window. I was scary as hell."

FBI nabs suspected 'Midwest bandits'

BY CANDACE GOFORTH and CHRISTOPHER DAVEY

The Cincinnati Enquirer

Two men, including one from Cincinnati, are being held as prime suspects in a series of Midwest bank heists in which the robbers taunted the lawmen trying to catch them, the FBI said Friday.

At a news conference in Columbus, federal officials said they think former Cincinnatian Peter Kevin Langan, 37, arrested Thursday in Columbus, and Richard Lee Guthrie, 37, arrested Monday in Green Township, are the notorious "Midwestern Bank Bandits" responsible for at least 18 robberies in seven states. Mr. Guthrie's hometown is unknown.

Cincinnati FBI agents arrested Mr. Guthrie, who was armed with a semi-automatic pistol, on Monday after a car chase through Green waship. Authorities took him into tody based on warrants for char-on lesser crimes in West Virginia Georgia.

But late Friday, Edward Sargus, U.S. Attorney for Southern Ohio, filed charges against Mr. Guthrie in connection with the Dec. 8, 1995 robbery of Society National Bank on Spring-dale Road, Colerain Township.

P\Langan Mr. Langan was shot when he tried to evade airest outside a Columbus home Guthrie had rented, police said. He was treated for multiple gunshot wounds and released from a hospital.

division, said Mr. Langan and Mr. Guthrie became suspects after intensive investigation involving nearly every FBI division in the Midwest.

He said sources told investigators that Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Langan have espoused hatred of blacks, Jews, the federal government and are aligned with extremist philosophies.

Officials said Friday that the robbers may have had help in their work. In fact, they said, they may have had a network of "safe houses" in the states where they struck.

At the news conference at the Columbus headquarters of the FBI, the agents displayed items taken from the South Columbus home where Mr. Langan was arrested.

Obtained in the seizure were three rifles, two pipe bombs and a packet of literature, including a book about the Oklahoma City bombing and one called, FBI Secrets: An

Mr. Jackson said the two men were in Ohiò because Mr. Langan has relatives in the Cincinnati area. He would not reveal their identities.

Authorities also confiscated some cash, but Mr. Jackson said they were still counting it Friday afternoon, He said the FBI will try to match serial numbers and return any identified money to the banks from which it came.

Given the number of weapons and explosives found, Mr. Jackson said he was "very surprised" that no one was injured in the string of robberies.

"They were definitely armed and dangerous," he said.

Mr. Jackson sald houses or storage facilities the men may have used may be booby trapped.

■ Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., charged in Midwestern bank robberies, allegedly made a threat against then-President Bush.

By Jill Riepenhoff and Brent LaLonde

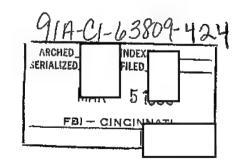

Dispatch Staff Reponers

Richard Lee Guthrie Jr. had captured the attention of several law enforcement agencies in recent

Now a suspect in 18 Midwestern bank robberies, Guthrie, 37, drew the attention of the Secret Service in 1992 after the agency received a tip that he had made threats against President Bush. Making a threat against the president is a federal

"We never developed any information to corroborate any statements he made," said Dick Rathnell, agent in charge of the Secret Service's Cincinnati office. "We sort them all out after we take a look at their background. We make a judg-ment call: Is this person dangerous? That's why we never put this Guthrie thing to rest."

A year earlier, in 1991, Guthrie was arrested in eastern West Virginia when he allegedly armed himself with a shotgun and confronted a business partner. The business partner had called deputy sheriffs in Martinsburg, W.Va., and said he feared for his life.

When deputies arrived, they found Guthrie in the driveway. He was charged with misdemeanor weapons violations and a felony count of bringing stolen property into the state. The felony count is pending, Deputy Sheriff Russell Shackelford of Berkeley County said yesterday.

After he was arrested, Guthrie posted bond and disappeared.

"He reminded me of a guy with a survivalist's mentality," Shackelford recalled. "He seemed like he was ready to take off into the woods if he had to.

"But he was very polite to me, and he appeared to be very intelligent. In fact, he thought he was smarter than us."

Guthrie and Peter K. Langan, also 37, were identified tast week as suspects in a string of bank robberies in seven states, including an October 1994 bank robbery in Columbus. Agents are looking for at least one more suspect, said James Nelson, an FBI agent based in St. Louis.

Guthrie was arrested on Jan. 15 in Cincinnati, while Langan was arrested Thursday after a shootout with federal agents on the South Side. FBI agents nabbed Langan while he was entering a van behind 585 Reinhard Ave., which Guthrie had rented, agents said.

In addition, Langan had rented an apartment in Pittsburg, Kan., the FBI said yesterday.

Langan rented the apartment a few blocks away from Pittsburg State University in southeastern Kansas from April 1, 1994, until Jan. 12 under the name Donald J. McClure, said Max Geiman, FBI spokesman in Kansas City, Mo. Langan had a man living with him for at least part of that time, Geiman said.

The bank robberies occurred between January 1994 and December 1995. Real or fake explosives usually were left behind, although none went off and nobody was injured. Investigators believe Langan and Guthrie wrote letters to several newspapers in which they taunted FBI agents and referred to themselves as the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

Langan is being held in the Franklin County jail. Noting that Langan poses a potential "danger to the community and risk of flight," U.S. Magistrate Judge Terence P. Kemp denied bail for him yesterday at the end of a two-hour detention hearing in federal court in Columbus.

Guthrie is being held in jail in Covington, Ky.

Both Langan and Guthrie are charged with an Aug. 3, 1994, bank robbery in Omaha, Neb. Langan also is charged with robbing a bank in Glendale, Wis., on June 22, 1995, and Guthrie is charged with holding up a bank in Springdale, Ohio, on Dec. 8, 1995. Langan also faces federal charges of assaulting a federal officer stemming from Thursday's shootout. More charges are expected.

Federal authorities believe they have solved a mystery surrounding Langan's Thursday arrest: How did he survive a shootout with federal agents without being seriously injured?

Although agents fired up to 50 shots at Langan while he was hiding in his van parked behind the Reinhard Avenue house, the suspect was only slightly injured in the face and back.

During yesterday's detention hearing, FBI Agent David A. Stout testified that someone had built a large plywood box in the back of the van. Authorities believe Langan dove into this box during the brief shootout, Stout said after the hearing. Many of the bullets fired at the van were found imbedded in the box, he added.

After Guthrie allegedly threatened the president, agents tried in vain to find him. In 1993, they worked a deal with Langan, Guthrie's childhood friend, Rathnell said.

Rathnell described Langan as Guthrie's "partner and associate,"

At the time, Langan was in the county jail in Carnesville, Ga., awaiting trial on an armed robbery charge.

"He gave outward appearances he would help to locate Guthrie. We attempted to work with him," Rathnell said.

In exchange for his cooperation, Langan was released from jail, authorities in Georgia said.

The Secret Service paid to have telephone service connected at his home in Cincinnati, and the agency paid for him to visit his son in Maryland, said Langan's sister, Leslie Maloney.

Maloney last saw her brother in November 1993, about three months after he was released from the Georgia jail. Langan reneged on his agreement with authorities. The Secret Service then began searching for Langan, believing he could lead agents to Guthrie. They questioned Maloney on three occasions and once searched her house after receiving a tip that Langan was there. He wasn't.

"Our main interest is to find if there was an interest to harm the president or overthrow the government," Rathnell said. "Our main focus was on Guthrie. We didn't realize they were these bank robbers."

Rathnell said the Secret Service shared information with the FBI when Guthrie and Langan were identified as suspects in the robberies of 18 Midwestern banks.

Secret Service agents have interviewed Guthrie once since his arrest Jan. 15 in Cincinnati.

"He denied making any types of plans," Rathnell said, but the investigation is continuing.

Guthrie, who was born in Washington, D.C., and last lived in Ocean City, Md., was once in the U.S. Navy but was kicked out after he failed to qualify for the Navy SEALS team, Nelson said.

"These people are demented misfits," Nelson said. "They don't fit in with normal society."

DURING THE INTERVIEW IT WAS CLARIFIED THAT GUTHRIE AND THE OTHERS ONLY PARTICIPATED IN THE 22 ROBBERIES LISTED IN REFERENCED TELETYPES, AND NO ARMORED CAR ROBBERIES. GUTHRIE
DOES NOT BELIEVE THAT THERE ARE ANY OTHER BANK ROBBERIES COMMITTED BY THESE INDIVIDUALS DURING THIS PERIOD. HOWEVER, AFTER THE ARREST OF GUTHRIE AND LANGAN; SCOTT LNU, KEVIN LNU, AND TIM LNU, MAY HAVE PARTICIPATED IN OTHER ROBBERIES.

IT SHOULD BE NOTED BY ALL OFFICES: GUTHRIE BELIEVED THAT IN REGARD TO THE MID-AMERICA BANK, SYLVANIA, OHIO, WHICH WAS ROBBED BY LANGAN, KEVIN LNU, AND SCOTT LNU ON 12/19/95, THAT THEY WOULD NOT HAVE USED A HOAX OR IED DEVICE. GUTHRIE SAW SCOTT LNU'S RECENT PA DRIVER'S LICENSE AND BELIEVED THAT THE LAST NAME WAS (PHONETICALLY) "THAGLIONE" OR "TAGLIONE", HOWEVER, THIS MAY HAVE BEEN THE STREET ADDRESS ON THE LICENSE. GUTHRIE SAW IT ONLY VERY BRIEFLY.

SCOTT LNU IS FROM THE PHILADELPHIA AREA WHERE HIS PARENTS
BOTH STILL LIVE THERE; HIS FATHER IS A RETIRED DEFENSE CONTRACTOR OF SOME TYPE.

ARMED AND DANGEROUS

Synopsis: This communication providing copies of search inventory at Shawnee, Kansas, on January 18, 1996.

Details: For information of receiving offices, Kansas City is enclosing a duplicate copy of the inventory regarding the search of a storage locker rented in Shawnee, Kansas, by Peter Kevin Langan. Langan used the name Don Mc Clure to rent the locker, which began in June 1994. The rent was paid monthly in cash, which from computer records indicated the payment was done by someone in person, not by mail.

Kansas City, after receiving the consent to search form from Cincinnati, on January 18, conducted the search the same evening. Two pipe bombs were removed by local police bomb squad and detonated safely at another area. These two pipe bombs were assembled and "ready to go" according to the bomb technicians. Also removed with the pipe bombs were several containers of black powder, samples of which were obtained for the FBI Lab.

The inventory does not reflect specific items located, which Kansas City will advise in the near future under separate communication.

Peter K. Langan was released from the county jail in Carnesville, Ga., in August 1993 to help the · Secret Service investigate threats against the government, said Lindsay Tise, district attorney for the Northern Judicial Circuit in Georgia and the person who approved the deal.

However, Langan fled after he was released and is believed to have joined his childhood friend, Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., as members of a group calling itself the Midwestern Bank Bandits, said vėsterday.

Tise said he was uncomfortable with approving Langan's 1993 release, but agreed because federal agents said they needed Langan's cooperation.

Langan was being held in Georgia on armed robbery charges involving a Pizza Hut store in Lavonia, Langan was arrested Thursday at 585 Reinhard Ave. following a shootout that occurred when members of a federal task force went to the South Side house to arrest him on a federal warrant for unlawful flight from Georgia.

Since then, the FBI and other federal agencies have moved swiftly:

■ In Columbus, FBI Special Agent Ted Jackson confirmed yesterday that Langan and Guthrie are suspects in a string of 18 Midwestern bank robberies that began in January 1994.

A search of the Reinhard Avenue home yielded 13 pipe bombs, seven homemade grenades, a cache of assault weapons, automatic pistols and an undisclosed amount of cash.

the FBI said.

■ In Shawnee, Kan., federal agents searched a storage shed Thursday night and early yesterday and found pipe bombs; circuit boards; a Santa Claus suit; uniforms from the FBI, Bureau of Alcohol; Tobacco and Firearms and the U.S. Marshal's Service; addresses of FBI offices; masks of President Clinton and President Nixon; and several pieces of false identification.

■ In Omaha, Neb., Langan and Gutherie were charged yesterday with an Aug. 3, 1994, bank robbery.

Bank robbery charges also were filed yesterday against. Langan in Milwaukee involving the June 22, 1995 robbery of a Glendale, Wis.,

Guthrie was charged yesterday in a Dec. 8 robbery of a Springdale, Ohio, bank. However, Guthrie acted alone and the Springdale robbery does not fit the pattern of the other 18 robberies attributed to the bandit gang, Jackson said.

Langan and Guthrie have "espoused hatred for the black and Jewish population, the FBI and U.S. government and are believed to have identified themselves with right-wing extremist philosophies," the FBI said yesterday.

Langan's sister, Leslie Maloney of Cincinnati, told The Dispatch that the Secret Service has questioned her for three years about Langan's whereabouts and activities.

"They told me they (Langan and Gutherie) were robbing banks and giving money to some white supremacy groups," Maloney said.

Maloney said Langan called her yesterday from the Franklin County

"He said, 'When they (the FBI) find out what I've really been doing the past two years, they'll really be surprised,' " Maloney said,

BREAK CAME IN DECEMBER

Taunting letters with cartoon depictions of FBI agents sent to newspaper reporters, pipe bombs littering getaway paths, robbery dis-guises featuring FBI logos on clothing, the so-called Midwestern Bank Bandits stayed a step ahead of a nationwide manhunt until Decem-

The first break, federal agents said, came that month, after Langan and Guthrie were identified as "prime suspects," but agents declined to give details.

"All of this happened so fast," said Jackson. "We just haven't had time to start the investigation."

The heavily armed gang has left a trail of distinctive trademarks including pipe bombs, grenades and getaway cars purchased in the names of FBI agents - in a string of robberies in Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas.

Armed with federal warrants, agents began the hunt for Langari and Guthrie in early January.

On Monday, agents spotted Guthrie at a convenience store on Cincinnati's west side. Guthrie led authorities on a 2-mile chase before crashing his van into a snow bank, Jackson said.

He was arrested after a short foot chase. Agents said he was carrying a semiautomatic weapon. Another gun was found in his van, say court records.

Guthrie, 37, is being held in the Kenton County jail in Covington, Ky., on federal warrants involving the Pizza Hut robbery in Georgia and credit card fraud in West Virgin-

On Wednesday night, FBI agents staked out the Reinhard Avenue home that had been rented by Langan for three months.

Because agents believed Langan and Guthrie worked with explosives, Jackson said, members of the FBI Safe Streets task force formed to deal with violent fugitives — waited until Langan came out of the house before attempting to make

"We had information that they wouldn't be taken alive," Jackson said. "And Langan did not hesitate to fire upon us."

Jackson said Langan was shot at after Langan himself fired shots at task force members. Nearly 50 shots were fired during the 45-second shootout. Langan was struck in the back and face with shotgun pellets, agents said.

He was treated at Grant Medical Center for minor injuries, then taken to the Franklin County jail.

For the second time in two days, Langan returned to U.S. District Court yesterday, where he appeared before U.S. Magistrate Judge Terence P. Kemp on charges of assaulting a federal officer and using a firearm in the commission of a violent crime.

Kemp told Langan no bond would be set.

After the hearing, Langan was returned to the jail. A detention hearing will be held Monday.

While Langan was making a federal court appearance, federal agents held a news conference at FBI headquarters — with assault weapons, pipe bombs and right-wing extremist literature displayed on a table. The items were among those found at the Reinhard Avenue address, Jackson said.

"These guys were real professionals," he said. "They didn't make any mistakes."

Agents are looking for others who may have taken part in some of the robberies, which began in Ames, Iowa.

"We only have first names — Joe, Tony and Sandy," Jackson said. "But that doesn't really tell us anything."

Although real or fake explosives were left behind at the banks or in the getaway cars, none ever went off and nobody was injured. The explosives were left to slow police officers, agents believe.

While agents think Langan and Guthrie may be linked to right-wing terrorist groups, Jackson said no evidence has been found linking the pair to the bombing of a federal building in Oklahoma City last year. He said every angle will be investigated, however.

The FBI released the photographs of the pair and information about the arrests in hopes that the public will come forward with information about their whereabouts in recent years.

Agents want to find other safe houses where Langan and Guthrie may have more explosives, weapons and ammunition stockpiled, Jackson said.

WEAPONS DISCOVERED

One of the first clues to Langan's preoccupation with weapons came Nov. 9, 1992, when police and the Secret Service raided a home on Biegler Street in Cincinnati. Langan was arrested on the Georgia robbery warrant. Police also found four weapons, including a semiautomatic rifle, and charged Langan with three counts of possessing illegal firearms.

Langan told investigators he needed the weapons to protect himself from "unidentified Vietnamese citizens," Cincinnati court records show.

By April 15, Langan waived extradition to Georgia and was returned to Carnesville in Franklin County, Ga.

According to an affidavit by FBI Agent Kenneth C. Howard, filed in federal court in Georgia, Langan agreed in 1992 to be an informant for the Secret Service.

After release, Langan reneged on the agreement and fled, Howard's affidavit says.

The affidavit also says authorities believe that Langan and Guthrie left Georgia shortly after the 1992 robbery and traveled "from one state to another."

CINCINNATI — For three years, Leslie Maloney has tried to figure out why the U.S. Secret Service and the FBI have been so interested in her brother and his lifelong friend.

Secret Service agents have visited her home three times since 1992, she said. Once, armed agents surrounded it, then searched it when they thought her brother, Peter K. Langan, was there.

Maloney, of Cincinnati, became even more confused Wednesday when Langan called from the Franklin County jail to tell her that he had been arrested on federal charges.

Yesterday, the FBI identified

"I'm really shocked. I can't see him robbing banks. That's not the Pete I know."

Leslie Maloney Peter Langan's sister

Langan and his friend, Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., both 37, as suspects in 18 bank robberies in the Midwest.

"I'm really shocked. I can't see him robbing banks. That's not the Pete I know," Maloney said yesterday.

Maloney, 41, said her brother lived with her off and on, for a year or two at a time.

SISTER from 1A

"He used to go to a very small church every Sunday," said Maloney, a single mother who works for the Internal Revenue Service. "He would help me take care of my kids."

She last saw her brother in November 1992, the same month he was charged with possessing semiautomatic weapons at a house he shared with a girlfriend in Langan said he needed the weapons because "he feared an attack by unidentified Vietnamese citizens," court records indicate.

"That's when everything started," Maloney recalled. "The Secret Service and the FBI told me they were after him for two different things, but the cases weren't related."

In November 1992, "He came here one day and said, 'Well, I might not be seeing you for a while,'" Maloney recalled. "He made a deal with the Secret Service, and then he disappeared. They wanted information about this Guthrie guy."

Langan and Guthrie met when they were children growing up in Wheaton, Md., near Washington, D.C., Maloney said; as adults Guthrie would visit Langan in Cincinnati,

"He came up here to say hi to my brother, have dinner, then leave," Maloney said. She recalled that Guthrie's political views were much more extreme than her brother's. "He hates everybody." Maloney said of Guthrie.

Maloney said her brother was bothered by the actions of federal agents in the raid on the Branch Davidian compound in Waco, Texas, and the shootout with white separatist Randy Weaver at Ruby Ridge, Idaho.

"My brother is not perfect. He's got these strange ideas about politics," she said. He's part of a group that "thinks they have their own laws. He wanted to go out West and live there quietly."

She said she didn't understand her brother's hatred of minorities or the federal government.

Secret Service agents first talked to Maloney in 1992 and wanted her to help them find her brother.

The second time, "They said it had to do with some kind of revolutionary movement they were involved in," Maloney said of her brother and Guthrie. "They also said Richard Guthrie wanted to kill my brother."

In the summer of 1993, Maloney came home to find agents had surrounded her house after receiving a tip that her brother was there. He wasn't.

"They asked me the same questions they asked before," she said.

On Dec. 28, FBI agents came to her house again and asked her to identify a photograph taken by a surveillance camera at one of the banks robbed in the Midwest.

Maloney said the photograph was so small and grainy she could not tell if it was her brother.

"This whole thing," Maloney said, "it's just really bizarre."

. Mike Corne knew something was up in his South Side neighborhood late last week, but he didn't know what.

He was shocked when he found out that FBI agents were tracking one of the nation's most-wanted fugitives in his own back yard.

"We didn't know which house they were looking for, but we knew something was up," Come said, adding that undercover police cars were apparent in the area.

FBI agents said Friday that Peter K. Langan and Richard L. Guthrie Jr., both 37, are suspected of being key players in the Midwestern Bank Bandits — a group of up to four people believed to be responsible for 18 bank robberies in seven Midwestern states since January 1994. The string includes the October 1994 holdup of the Columbus National Bank on the Far East Side, as well as holdups in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The bank bandits — who agents said shared space atop the FBI's Most Wanted list with the "Unabomber" received nationwide attention as they taunted the FBI by purchasing getaway cars in the names of agents, wearing shirts and caps with FBI logos during holdups and sending letters to newspapers nominating a St. Louis-based agent as the group's spokesman for 1996. They also would leave real or fake explosives behind during robberies.

"I can't believe that guy was living in our neighborhood," Corne said.

The landlord who rented the house to Langan and Guthrie said last week he was "flabbergasted" after he learned of the shootout and the suspected backgrounds of his tenants.

"I'm telling you the gospel truth: I never suspected nothing," said Harlyn Bennett of the West Side. "I don't see how in the world a person can lie, steal and ... lay their head to go down to sleep at night."

Bennett, who said he has emphysema and heart trouble, said he tries to check renters' backgrounds. "You can only check the information they give you," he said

Geraldine Haynes, 49, who lives on Siebert Street behind the Reinhard Avenue address, saw the shootout from her back porch.

"I had never been so scared in my life," she said. "It was like watching Bonnie and Clyde. I thought it was gang members out here shooting. I had never seen so many police officers."

Langan, 37, is being held in the Franklin County jail, while his boyhood friend Guthrie is jailed in Covington, Ky., after being arrested Monday in Cincinnati. Both have been charged with robbing a bank in Omaha, Neb., in August 1994. Langan is also charged in a bank robbery in June 1995 in Glendale, Wis., while Guthrie is charged with a bank robbery last month in Springdale, Ohio.

The arrest of Langan came as a surprise to Marcia Hall, who lives in the upper half of the Reinhard Avenue duplex where Langan was staying. She was in her bedroom when she awoke to gunfire. She looked out her window and saw agents running toward her house.

FBI agents said Guthrie rented the apartment late last year. Hall, 32, said Guthrie and Langan were pleasant, although they weren't around very often.

"They would only stop by about one time a week," Hall recalled. "They would usually come by at night and leave in the morning.

"They were two real nice guys. When they moved in, the landlord said they would keep an eye on me. . . . I did talk to them a couple of times."

Hall, in fact, thought the pair were police officers because they once flashed badges at her and her 10-year-old son, Jeffrey. FBI Special Agent Douglass Ogden wasn't surprised by that.

During a search of the Reinhard Avenue address, federal agents found U.S. marshals' badges and identification, shirts and hats bearing the logo of the FBI and the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and books about how to monitor police scanners.

FBI Agent Ed Boldt said agents spent yesterday reviewing the shoot out. He said he doesn't expect any additional charges to be filed against the pair until Monday.

He said agents throughout the Midwest will spend the upcoming weeks gathering evidence in an attempt to link Langan and Guthrie with the other robberies.

"We don't want to paint these guys as being automatically responsible for all 18 bank robberies," he said. "We have to find evidence beyond a reasonable doubt. There is a lot of work to be done."

Suspect attracted attention

■ Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., charged in Midwestern bank robberies, allegedly made a threat against then-President Bush.

By Jill Riepenhoff and Brent LaLonde Dispatch Staff Reporters

Richard Lee Guthrie Jr. had captured the attention of several law enforcement agencies in recent years.

Now a suspect in 18 Midwestern bank robberies, Guthrie, 37, drew the attention of the Secret Service in 1992 after the agency received a tip that he had made threats against President Bush. Making a threat against the president is a federal crime.

"We never developed any information to corroborate any statements he made," said Dick Rathnell, agent in charge of the Secret Service's Cincinnati office. "We sort them all out after we take a look at their background. We make a judgment call: Is this person dangerous? That's why we never put this Guthrie thing to rest."

A year earlier, in 1991, Guthrie was arrested in eastern West Virginia when he allegedly armed himself with a shotgun and confronted a business partner. The business partner had called deputy sheriffs in Martinsburg, W.Va., and said he feared for his life.

When deputies arrived, they found Guthrie in the driveway. He was charged with misdemeanor weapons violations and a felony count of bringing stolen property into the state. The felony count is pending, Deputy Sheriff Russell Shackelford of Berkeley County said yesterday.

After he was arrested, Guthrie posted bond and disappeared.

"He reminded me of a guy with a survivalist's mentality," Shackelford recalled. "He seemed like he was ready to take off into the woods if he had to.

"But he was very polite to me, and he appeared to be very intelligent. In fact, he thought he was smarter than us."

Guthrie and Peter K. Langan, also 37, were identified last week as suspects in a string of bank robberies in seven states, including an October 1994 bank robbery in Columbus. Agents are looking for at least one more suspect, said James Nelson, an FBI agent based in St. Louis.

Guthrie was arrested on Jan. 15 in Cincinnati, while Langan was arrested Thursday after a shootout with federal agents on the South Side. FBI agents nabbed Langan while he was entering a van behind 585 Reinhard Ave., which Guthrie had rented, agents said.

In addition, Langan had rented an apartment in Pittsburg, Kan., the FBI said yesterday.

Langan rented the apartment a few blocks away from Pittsburg State University in southeastern Kansas from April 1, 1994, until Jan. 12 under the name Donald J. McClure, said Max Geiman, FBI spokesman in Kansas City, Mo. Langan had a man living with him for at least part of that time, Geiman said.

The bank robberies occurred between January 1994 and December 1995. Real or fake explosives usually were left behind, although none went off and nobody was injured. Investigators believe Langan and Guthrie wrote letters to several newspapers in which they taunted FBI agents and referred to themselves as the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

SUSPECT from 1A

Langan is being held in the Franklin County jail. Noting that Langan poses a potential "danger to the community and risk of flight," U.S. Magistrate Judge Terence P. Kemp denied bail for him yesterday at the end of a two-hour detention hearing in federal court in Columbus.

Guthrie is being held in jail in Covington, Ky.

Both Langan and Guthrie are charged with an Aug. 3, 1994, bank robbery in Omaha, Neb. Langan also is charged with robbing a bank in Glendale, Wis., on June 22, 1995, and Guthrie is charged with holding up a bank in Springdale, Ohio, on Dec. 8, 1995: Langan also faces federal charges of assaulting a federal officer stemming from Thursday's shootout. More charges are expected.

Federal authorities believe they have solved a mystery surrounding Langan's Thursday arrest: How did he survive a shootout with federal agents without being seriously injured?

Although agents fired up to 50 shots at Langan while he was hiding in his van parked behind the Reinhard Avenue house, the suspect was only slightly injured in the face and back.

During yesterday's detention hearing, FBI Agent David A. Stout testified that someone had built a large plywood box in the back of the van. Authorities believe Langan dove into this box during the brief shootout, Stout said after the hearing. Many of the bullets fired at the van were found imbedded in the box, he added.

After Guthrie allegedly threatened the president, agents tried in vain to find him. In 1993, they worked a deal with Langan, Guthrie's childhood friend, Rathnell said.

Rathnell described Langan as Guthrie's "partner and associate."

At the time, Langan was in the county jail in Carnesville, Ga., awaiting trial on an armed robbery charge.

"He gave outward appearances he would help to locate Guthrie. We attempted to work with him," Rath-nell said.

In exchange for his cooperation, Langan was released from jail, authorities in Georgia said.

The Secret Service paid to have telephone service connected at his home in Cincinnati, and the agency paid for him to visit his son in Maryland, said Langan's sister, Leslie Maloney.

Maloney last saw her brother in November 1993, about three months after he was released from the Georgia jail. Langan reneged on his agreement with authorities. The Secret Service then began searching for Langan, believing he could lead agents to Guthrie. They questioned Maloney on three occasions and once searched her house after receiving a tip that Langan was there. He wasn't.

"Our main interest is to find if there was an interest to harm the president or overthrow the government," Rathnell said. "Our main focus was on Guthrie. We didn't realize they were these bank robbers."

Rathnell said the Secret Service shared information with the FBI when Guthrie and Langan were identified as suspects in the robberies of 18 Midwestern banks.

Secret Service agents have interviewed Guthrie once since his arrest Jan, 15 in Cincinnati.

"He denied making any types of plans," Rathnell said, but the investigation is continuing.

Guthrie, who was born in Washington, D.C., and last lived in Ocean City, Md., was once in the U.S. Navy but was kicked out after he failed to qualify for the Navy SEALS team, Nelson said.

"These people are demented misfits," Nelson said. "They don't fit in with normal society."

Third suspect sought by FBI in bank heists

By Jim Woods

Dispatch Staff Reporter

The FBI has identified and is searching for a third person believed to be a member of the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

Jim Thompson lived with Peter K. Langan and Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., both 37, in a rented house in Pittsburg, Kan., FBI agent Douglass Ogden said yesterday. The southeastern Kansas college town is about 100 miles south of Kansas City and close to the Missouri border.

The three are being investigated in a string of 18 robberies that began Jan. 25, 1994, in Ames, Towa, and ended Nov. 22, 1995, in St. Louis.

"There were at least three individuals in many of the robberies so we are trying to identify if he was the one (who accompanied them)," Ogden said.

Three of the robberies tied to Langan and Guthrie were in Ohio. including the Oct. 25, 1994, holdup of the Columbus National Bank at 6121 E. Livingston Ave.

Thompson is known to have lived with Langan and Guthrie at the Pittsburg house on and off between April 1994 and early December 1995, Ogden said.

Until the recent arrests of Langan and Guthrie in Ohio, the FBI was uncertain of Thompson's whereabouts for the past 20 months. He was last seen at the Pittsburg residence, Ogden said.

The FBI has described Thompson as about 6 feet tall, muscular, with short blond hair and a mustache. He is between 23 and 35 years old. Thompson was last seen driving a 1983 or '84 white Chevrolet Suburban with tinted windows and New Jersey license plates.

He is believed to be armed and is considered dangerous.

Federal agents in Kansas City, Mo., are searching for two people they believe may lead them to Thompson, the FBI in Kansas City says.

Neither Langan nor Guthrie were ever arrested in Pittsburg. They appeared to be "model citizens," who paid bills in a timely fashion, The Morning Sun in Pittsburg reported last week.

Tim Covell, who lived across from the house where Langan and Guthrie -sometimes stayed, told the newspaper the two usually kept to themselves, stayed inside during the day and went out mostly at night.

Other neighbors told the newspaper of seeing their vans - which were always backed into their driveway - filled with high-technology, police-type equipment and radar detectors.

"We were outside playing hackysack one day, and we saw them, and this friend of mine said, I bet they're bank robbers," Covell told The Morning Sun. "It's kind of weird. I called him and told him about the FBI being here."

Ogden said it is unknown whether Thompson ever visited Langan at 585 Reinhard Ave., on the South Side, where FBI agents arrested him Jan. 18.

Re: 91A-CI-63809, 02/22/1996

Package Copy: Being forwarded under separate cover are the aforementioned items.

Details: On 02/16/1996, hair samples and oral swabs were taken from RICHARD LEE GUTHRIE. GUTHRIE has signed a plea agreement and has admitted to bank robberies, including the captioned Springdale, Ohio robbery. Extensive, all encompassing comparisons addressed below (regarding GUTHRIE) may not be considered high priority. Conversely, DNA samples (swabs), hair samples and handwriting exemplars to be obtained from subject, PETER K. LANGAN, and the lab comparisons to follow appear to have greater urgency due to LANGAN'S likelihood of standing trial.

Written and voice exemplars were not obtained from GUTHRIE owing to the absence of a specific handwritten document or a particular voice recording from which to compare. Regarding audio cassette and video recordings, from the FBI Laboratory, Engineering Section has stated that speaker identification by the spectrographic method is not considered conclusive. She states that having a witness familiar with a person's voice is the strongest testimony in court. Lab personnel do not testify regarding speaker identification.

(DNA Analysis Unit)

Request DNA Analysis of oral swabs (3) obtained from the inside cheeks and roof of mouth of RICHARD LEE GUTHRIE. The results may be compared with those findings obtained during examination of envelopes/letters sealed and allegedly mailed by GUTHRIE and LANGAN. Note: During interview, GUTHRIE advised that he used a sponge with water to seal envelopes, knowing that DNA comparisons could possibly identify him.

	REGAL is in the business of selling plastic sheeting, rod and tubing materials, and also performs a limited amount of plastic fabrication services. REGAL has branches located nationwide and its corporate headquarters are located at 111 East 10th Avenue, North Kansas City, Missouri, telephone 816-421-6920.
	On three occasions during early January 1996, an individual who identified himself as George Tucker entered the Joplin REGAL location to inquire and later purchase ten plastic badge holders from the company. described Tucker as a white male, 35 to 40 years of age, 5'7" to 5'8" tall, 160 pounds, short dark hair, possibly black in color and a moustache. was shown by interviewing agent one black and white photograph of Richard L. Guthrie, Jr., two black and white photographs and one color photograph of Peter K. Langan. identified Guthrie as the individual who used the name George Tucker and purchased the badge holders from his company.
	Guthrie first came into REGAL on Thursday, January 4, 1996, to inquire about purchasing ten clear plastic badge holders from the company. Guthrie wanted the badge holders made from clear plexiglas and cut into the shape of circles, each three inches in diameter. Guthrie planned to mount a sheriff's badge, in the shape of a star, on the plastic holders. Guthrie told he designed the badge holders so they could be clipped onto a vehicle's license plate. make a sample for Guthrie. fabricated a plastic clip and glued it to the back of the holder. 7.

Details: Cincinnati Division previously provided to Minneapolis an audio tape concerning surveillances of banks in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. This tape was recovered in the console of BOMBROB subject Richard Lee Guthrie's van.

A review of this audio tape contained information which subsequently allowed Minneapolis Division to identify the following seven banks/locations apparently surveiled by BOMBROB subjects or associates:

- (1) Norwest Bank 925 West County Road 42 Burnsville, Minnesota
- (2) Dakota Bank 2109 Cliff Road Eagan, Minnesota
- (3) American Bank 2965 White Bear Avenue North Maplewood, Minnesota
- (4) TCF Bank 2989 White Bear Avenue North Maplewood, Minnesota
- (5) First Bank 3629 Crestwood Lane · Eagan, Minnesota
- (6) Signal Bank 1270 Yankee Doodle Road Eagan, Minnesota
- (7) No specific bank General area of Woodbury, Minnesota

To: CID From: Minneapolis Re: 91A-OM-41859, 03/18/1996

All of the above listed financial institutions are located in various suburbs surrounding the Minneapolis-St. Paul Twin Cities area.

Based on the above information, a comprehensive review was conducted of all Minneapolis Division bank robberies committed during the period January, 1994, to the present. Based upon this review, with the exception of the Dakota Bank in Eagan, Minnesota, none of the banks listed above have been robbed by any individual during the time period noted above.

The Dakota Bank, 2901 Cliff Road, Eagan, Minnesota, was robbed on 6/1/95. That particular bank robbery has been solved. The same bank was robbed again on 10/2/95, and that robbery is currently unsolved. Omaha and Cincinnati are being provided with Minneapolis FD-430 with photographs concerning that bank robbery. Minneapolis has determined that the individual involved in the Dakota Bank robbery of 10/2/95 is also probably responsible for the robbery of the Dakota Bank, St. Paul, Minnesota, on 12/1/95. Therefore, Omaha and Cincinnati are being provided with FD-430's and photographs regarding that bank robbery.

Based on the generic descriptions of the Unsub involved in the two Minneapolis Division bank robberies, the possibility exists that BOMBROB subjects Richard Lee Guthrie, Jr. and Peter Calvin Langan could possibly be suspects in these robberies. It should be noted that the method of operation in both the Minneapolis Division robberies does not match that of the BOMBROB subjects. The possibility exists that an associate of the BOMBROB subjects may be responsible for the two Minneapolis bank robberies.

GUTHRIE grew up in the Wheaton, MD, area and graduated from the Robert E. Perry High School, Rockville, MD, in June, 1978. During this time he met and and and through them later met PETER LANGAN. From those earliest contacts GUTHRIE was aware that both the and LANGAN followed whit supremacist beliefs.
In approximately 1978 GUTHRIE participated in a robber that was set up by where was employed at the Anchor Hocking glass company in Wheaton. MD along with and and and escaped with a "CB" radio as they tied up employees and escaped with around $2,300.
GUTHRIE remained at home with his father, but stated that his father moved frequently, and was employed in home construction until entering the U.S. Navy in December, 1979 unti receiving a General Discharge on March 3, 1983. GUTHRIE receive a Court Martial for Unauthorized Absence and was basically "scamming" the U.S. Navy by missing his ship sailings and checking into Naval hospitals with contrived illnesses.
After discharge from the service, GUTHRIE returned to Howard County, MD, resided with his father and attended Montgomery Community College (MCC) for the next 1 1/2 years taking basic freshman courses and working at odd jobs. It was during this time that he re-established his contact with and and saw LANGAN on occasion.
It was also during this time frame that GUTHRIE began making money with his K MART scam, and with conducted some credit card and Automatic Teller Machine (ATM) frauds. GUTHRIE could not recall the specifics of these activities but stated that he was not involved in any other

In September, 1984, GUTHRIE attended Embry Riddle Aeronautical Institute (ERAI), Daytona Beach, Florida, in the aeronautical science program for one full semester and was asked to leave around February, 1985 for what he termed, "pranks." GUTHRIE lived in the dormitory during this time.

GUTHRIE then lived in a rented town house on Lakewood Village Drive, and attended Daytona Beach Community College (DBCC). Between about September, 1985 and June, 1986, he lived in another rented apartment before returning to Kensington, MD to live with his father. After GUTHRIE's return to MD and until the Spring of 1987, he once again attended MCC.

GUTHRIE continued to support himself with the K MART scam and had occasional contact with and LANGAN.

During the Summer of 1987, GUTHRIE attended a summer semester at the ERAI campus in Prescott, Arizona under an assumed name, until they discovered his true identity and asked him to leave at the end of the session.

In the Fall of 1987 GUTHRIE returned again to Florida to attend DBCC, and resided with another student, in a town house on Halifax Avenue for the next 1 1/2 years through December, 1989. GUTHRIE accumulated around 70 credit hours but never obtained an Associates Degree.

At some point, GUTHRIE believes around December, 1987, he participated in a staged accident where he rented a U-Haul truck using false identification and crashed into an old vehicle being occupied by

They collected $400 for the vehicle (Pontiac), and around $4,000 or $5,000 for injuries. GUTHRIE stated that they did this on two occasions.

(During the time frame between 1984 to 1989, GUTHRIE continued to support himself with the K MART scam and in four or five instances used false identification to open accounts at Equitable Bank in the Wheaton, MD, area, obtain ATM cards, make "paper" or false deposits and withdraw cash from the ATM machines. GUTHRIE stated that he may have earned $6,000 to $7,000 with this scam, and also used false identification to obtain gas company credit cards as well as charge cards from Sears, Montgomery Ward, J.C. Pennys, Diner's Club, and others.)

In December, 1989, GUTHRIE returned to, he believes, Carol County, MD and resided with in the basement apartment of another employee; and, in January, 1990 moved into an apartment at 1503 Baylor Avenue, Rockville, MD, and attended additional classes at MCC.

Throughout this period provided GUTHRIE with ARYAN NATIONS (AN) literature and they both attended an AN congress at Hayden Lake, Idaho.

GUTHRIE served three weeks and was released on bond, never returned for these charges, and believed that warrants were issued for his arrest. Also during the Summer of 1991, around July, GUTHRIE stated that he had purchased stolen U.S. Army night vision goggles for $500 from goggles for $500 from (ph), a soldier from Ft. Bragg, North Carolina, whom GUTHRIE had known from Embry Riddle staff of the Commanding General of the 82nd Airborne Division. GUTHRIE lived for a time with his father in Ocean City, MD, and then relocated to Livonia, Georgia. During the remainder of 1991 and into 1992 GUTHRIE traveled extensively throughout the U.S. making upwards of one month trips doing his K Mart scam. At one point, around December, 1991 he visited LANGAN in Cincinnati, who at the time was living with at GUTHRIE believed that LANGAN had been in Cincinnati for about three years. LANGAN traveled with GUTHRIE on the K Mart scams and they both visited the AN compound at Hayden Lake, Utah. During this time period GUTHRIE visited Klux Klan (KKK) leader at Pyatt, Arkansas, whom he met through GUTHRIE also bought at least two vehicles on credit using false names, a Jeep Cherokee under the name of WILLIAM GUTHRIE, that was confiscated in Martinsburg, West Virginia, and a 1992 light blue, GMC pick-up truck purchased in the name of WARREN MARSH, in Greenville, South Carolina, which is now in Pyatt, Arkansas with GUTHRIE stated that around October, 1992, he and LANGAN robbed a Pizza Hut in Livonia, Georgia, that was set up by who was an employee. GUTHRIE wore a ski mask and carried a .25 caliber pistol and got money from a floor safe by the cash register. LANGAN drove GUTHRIE's 1992 GMC pick-up and they both went first to GUTHRIE's trailer in Livonia and then to residence where they divided up approximately

At this point GUTHRIE recalled that the United States Secret Service (USSS) searched his trailer in West Virginia and issued warrants for his arrest for credit card fraud, and that warrants were also issued for both he and LANGAN for the Pizza Hut robbery.

Prior to LANGAN's arrest in November, 1993, for some unknown reason, LANGAN wanted to "torch" the Masonic building located at Colerain Avenue and I-275. GUTHRIE assisted and they poured gasoline on the front door and attempted to burn down the mostly brick building. GUTHRIE stated that there was some damage.

In early November, 1992, LANGAN is arrested at Cincinnati for the Pizza Hut robbery and GUTHRIE also learns that the USSS was also involved in the arrest.

GUTHRIE makes a trip to Macungie, Penn., and visits well known AN activist,

B) B.A.R.T. (Basic Armed Resistance Tactics):

GUTHRIE stated that he contributed to a plan LANGAN had formulated for their bank robbery activities called B.A.R.T., or the Basic Armed Resistance Tactics plan that included a checklist for the selection of target banks rating them on a scale of good to poor, and the actual execution of the robberies.

The B.A.R.T. plan included the following elements:

-Rating each target as to location, highway access, parking lot location, number of employees, switch car location, escape route, size of the metropolitan area, traffic flow, etc.

-Functional and loaded weapons were always carried and bullet proof vests and gloves worn, along with appropriate disguises.

-Timing was limited to a maximum of 45 seconds in the bank itself, which included one of them vaulting the teller counter.

-Communications would be used at times between the getaway driver if one was used, and a police scanner that was either at the getaway vehicle or in the bank to warn if police were responding.

-Use of an Improvised Explosive Device (IED) in the bank and in the switch vehicle. The devices were sometimes strictly hoax devices to divert and delay law enforcement attention, but some were fashioned, mostly by LANGAN, as functional IEDs.

-They would enter the general target area about one week prior to each planned robbery staying at middle rate motels at least thirty miles from the targeted city. They would use false names to register and pay for the rooms in cash.

-The plan called for purchasing a suitable getaway vehicle at a local buy-here, pay-here used car lot or from a private individual. GUTHRIE would usually purchase a 1970s vehicle paying between $500 and $800 using false identification and addresses and obtaining what amounted to a legitimate temporary license plate. The getaway vehicle would be stored in a parking lot of a 24-hour store if necessary.

-They would carry everything they needed for each robbery with them and have their necessary equipment available in what they termed a "Go Bag."

-After their experience with exploding dye packs, they added to the B.A.R.T. checklist that the windows on the getaway vehicle would be left open during the robbery.

-During their escape they would not drive past the bank but immediately leave the area and return to their home base.

GUTHRIE advised that they used the term, "Iocked and Loaded" to mean that they were armed, wearing protective vests, disguises, had all their equipment and plans in place and were ready to rob the target bank. And, that a central part of this plan was that they were ready, willing and able, if confronted by law enforcement, "to shoot it out with the police," and if necessary, die for their cause.

GUTHRIE stated that these plans were formulated by LANGAN and himself and later discussed with SCOTT (Last Name Unknown) (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), and TIM (LNU).

C) ARA (Aryan Republican Army):

GUTHRIE stated that the extreme right-wing political theory of white-supremacy began to influence him in his late twenties mostly from white male, (now age , and member of the Nationalist Socialist Party under the leadership of

It was during the period of around 1978-79 that introduced him to LANGAN, who GUTHRIE believed had already ascribed to that type philosophy and who was also a drug addict. They would occasionally get together at GUTHRIE's home for target shooting.

Around 1988 GUTHRIE was introduced to Aryan Nation (AN) literature through

When GUTHRIE and LANGAN began a closer association around December, 1991 in Cincinnati, Ohio, LANGAN had attended a white-supremacist activity, the Christian Identity Movement (CIM) church, that held its meetings in a rented room of the Travelodge motel in Covington, Kentucky. They both also attended "law classes," above VIP Printing, a print shop on Vine Street in Cincinnati (phonetic) (ph), and (ph). The law classes were meetings of people with (ph). The law classes were meetings of people with the same white-supremacist beliefs and both the CIM and law classes were attended by "skinhead" types.

At that time both GUTHRIE and LANGAN were beginning to share the same philosophy and sometime around March or April, 1994, LANGAN formulated his beliefs into a new white-supremacist movement called the Aryan Republican Army, fashioned somewhat after the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

LANGAN assumed the name of "Commander Pedro", and GUTHRIE, "Commander Pavell", and began making audio tapes that LANGAN sent to other right wing extremist groups for their information about ARA, and to government agencies in order to "taunt" them.

Their ARA philosophy is as follows:

-To create a white-only homeland; the extermination of the Jews, removal of African-Americans to Africa; the violent overthrow of the United States Government and the creation of independent sovereign states within North America.

-Their goals would be accomplished through an armed rebellion by recruiting like-minded people and training them in military style operations.

-ARA would support itself through bank robberies and armored car robberies.

-A basic philosophy of ARA was that its members understood that if confronted by the police or military they would not be taken alive and were willing to die for their cause. GUTHRIE recalled that LANGAN had attempted unsuccessfully to obtain cyanide tablets for their use if they were captured.

-ARA would not let the U.S. Government get the best of it and shared their identity with other similar groups like; Aryan Nations, Christian Identity Movement and the Skinheads. They did not identify though with the KKK, considering them to be either always drunk or on drugs.

GUTHRIE stated that during their bank robbery activity they functioned as a bank robbery gang and continued their development of ARA, but later realized that they would have to actively recruit other members into ARA and the "cell" they had created. GUTHRIE attempted to recruit and who were both skinheads, and later recruited SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), and TIM (LNU) through a white-supremacist activist from Macungie, Pennsylvania. Their agreement with was that the "boys" as they were referred to, would join ARA and their "cell" to be trained as bank and armored car robbers and eventually return to to continue their armed robberies to raise money for his white-supremacist activities. A percentage of their income from the bank robberies would go to and later, after the "boys" were fully trained, they would do all the planning and preparation and GUTHRIE and LANGAN would join them on the actual robberies.

Up to around December, 1995 the members of ARA and the GUTHRIE and LANGAN cell group were, SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), TIM (LNU), and possibly three other new members whom SCOTT (LNU) was attempting to recruit through his own skinhead associations in the Philadelphia, Penn., area.

In order to maintain additional security, most of their contacts were initiated through the use of pagers and voice mail systems.

D) Armed Struggle Underground Video:

GUTHRIE stated that he, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), made the "Armed Struggle Underground" video in early January, 1995 at the safe-house, 1103 Elm Street, Pittsburg, Kansas over a two day period in various rooms of the house.

LANGAN came up with the idea and concept to espouse their basic ARA goals, cell structure, dealing with informants, etc., through the video as follows:

Continuation of FD-302 of RICHARD LEE GUTHRIE, JR.

, On 03/4-15/1996age

-A map of the U.S. (mounted on a piece of sheetrock) showing the location of various cells and safe-houses. GUTHRIE stated that the pins were arbitrarily placed on the map and did not represent actual or real ARA locations.

-Commander Pedro (LANGAN, wearing the black ski mask) introduced their philosophy and stated that Commander Pedro and ARA report to a higher authority, inferring God, as referenced in the Bible, and that they would achieve their ultimate goal through armed violence.

-Informants, or anyone giving aid to the enemy (the U.S. government) would be terminated (shot) or "knee-capped."

-The ARA struggle was considered a "war" and that they reserved the right to convict war criminals.

-Not everyone could join ARA and their struggle, it excluded wife beaters and child molesters.

-Their "hit list," as LANGAN referred to on the wall and map behind him showed President Clinton, FBI Director Louis Freeh, Attorney General Janet Reno, Senator Howard Metzenbaum, and one other who were enemies of ARA. These pictures were on a page taken from the National Rifle Association magazine.

-The other two ARA soldiers identified in the video were; "Tuco" (SCOTT (INU), and "Blondie" (KEVIN (LNU).

-The "commercials" for Blammo Ammo, and Second Chance Body Armor, were made by LANGAN by dubbing parts of television movies and other commercially available videos.

	-LANGAN made a reference to knowing "girls who work for the	company." GUTHRIE advised that this was a reference to who had a high ranking position with
the stance from her in any manner. According to GUTHRIE, this was	just a gratuitous remark by LANGAN.

-The weapon that LANGAN was holding and that appeared to be like an UZI machine pistol with a silencer, GUTHRIE believes, was a MAC-11 machine pistol with an extended barrel and protector. GUTHRIE thought that this weapon was purchased at a gun show in Joplin, Missouri.

(GUTHRIE stated that to his knowledge LANGAN, or he, never had silencers for any of their weapons. LANGAN attempted to make a silencer for a .22 caliber Beretta pistol by threading the barrel of this weapon but was unsuccessful.)

(GUTHRIE further claimed that they had never altered any of their semi-automatic weapons to be fully automatic, nor did they ever possess any fully automatic weapons.)

-GUTHRIE stated that during his portion of the video he wore a construction hard hat and Halloween mask and displayed what he said was an HK-91. GUTHRIE advised that he believed that this weapon belonged to LANGAN and that he purchased it in Kansas City. GUTHRIE stated that this was actually a .308 caliber, SR-8 assault rifle.

-In the video GUTHRIE, while holding a "Blaster's Handbook," said that the techniques could be used to blow up Post Offices and Federal Court Houses, but stated that at no time were any plans made or even discussed to do any type of bombings of that nature.

-The money in the jars in the video were some of the proceeds from their recent robbery of the Commercial Bank Westport, Maryland Heights, Missouri, that occurred on December 27, 1994.

-The LAW (Light Anti-tank Weapon) displayed in the video was inert and purchased at a gun show. This LAW was stored in GUTHRIE's Joblin. Missouri storage facility and was and It is now in the possession of the FBI.

GUTHRIE further stated that it was their intent to distribute the video to white-supremacist organizations in order to promote and recruit for ARA. He had prepared mailing envelopes but did not send them at that time. The envelopes and copies of the videos would have been left at the Columbus, Ohio safe-house at 585 Reinhard Street.

GUTHRIE was shown a copy of the "Armed Struggle Underground" video and identified LANGAN as the first speaker wearing a dark full-face mask and during one segment, identified LANGAN seated, himself standing, and SCOTT (LNU) standing to the left and KEVIN (LNU) standing to the right of the desk.

GUTHRIE signed and dated this video.

R) Letters sent by GUTHRIE and LANGAN:

GUTHRIE was shown a series of handwritten and typed letters and cards that had been sent to various law enforcement agencies and newspapers. GUTHRIE identified those letters as being prepared by either himself or LANGAN, and said that they were sent to "taunt" law enforcement efforts for their failure to identify and capture them. The letters were directed to individuals who were mentioned in the media and newspapers. The letters were mailed from wherever it was convenient at the time.

F) Timeline and Bank Robbery Summary; November, 1992 - March 4, 1996:

GUTHRIE stated that shortly after LANGAN's arrest in early November, 1992, he began casing banks in Cincinnati:

	GUTHRIE believes that in early October, 1993, he was told by that LANGAN had been released from jail and was living in the Cincinnati area. GUTHRIE met with LANGAN who attended "law class" meetings above VIP Printing, a print shop or Vine Street in Cincinnati. The "law class" was a front for AN and Skinhead activities, in which LANGAN at that time was actively involved, but GUTHRIE believed that he only attended one meeting.

	It was during this time that LANGAN discussed the formation of ARA and their need to begin recruiting and expanding their plans. They also intended to bring and his associates into their criminal activities. LANGAN began at this time making his "Commander Pedro" tapes.

After this robbery, they all returned again in the blue Ford van to the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house.

It is at this time, January, 1995, that GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), make the ARA, "Armed Struggle Underground" video.

LANGAN decided that they all should go to the Mesa, Arizona area and departed (around February 1st) in the blue Ford van and SCOTT (LNU)'s 1975-76 Chevrolet Van, maroon in color, with two sliding glass windows (this vehicle was subsequently sold by SCOTT (LNU) to someone in Elohim City, Oklahoma, and may have been registered in the name of with Oklahoma tags and previously carried Iowa [Des Moines County] tags). They stayed at a motel and camping ground in Apache Junction, and a motel in Superior, Arizona for a period of around two weeks.

SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) located a Wells Fargo armored truck, #402 that they all surveilled for some time and were "locked and loaded" to rob it during a stop at a movie theater, but did not because of police activity and a robbery at a nearby mall.

They also cased banks in the North Phoenix area, were "locked and loaded" for a Bank One robbery, but called it off and returned to Pittsburg, Kansas, arriving around March 21st.

Traveling in the blue Ford van, GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), drove to -[IR-]pes Moines, Iowa area.

15) Boatman's Bank, 3400 Westown Parkway, West Des Moines, Iowa, March 29, 1995: Robbod by GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU).

All four return to Pittsburg, Kansas, and LANGAN departs for Kansas City. SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), stay two or three days and go to Elohim City where SCOTT (LNU) purchases his white Chevrolet suburban (around 1983), possibly around the Ft. Smith, Arkansas area, and returns to Pittsburg. This may have occurred around the April 19, 1995 time frame. GUTHRIE believes that the suburban initially had either an Oklahoma or Arkansas title and that SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) went to Iowa (perhaps using the counties of either Mills, Fremont, Warren, Clark or Decatur), to get permanent license plates that were registered, in all likelihood, in a fictitious company name.

During this time frame LANGAN returns from Kansas City and brings with him a St. Louis Post Dispatch newspaper that lists all of their bank robberies to date, and GUTHRIE suggests that they go to Louisville, Kentucky for their next job.

At this point all four are at the Pittsburg safe-house and LANGAN returns to Kansas City to visit a girlfriend whom GUTHRIE has not met.

After this robbery they return directly to the Pittsburg, Kansas, safe-house and LANGAN leaves the next day for Kansas City where he visits a dentist and has most of his teeth removed and false teeth made.

17) Guaranty Bank, 450 West Silver Spring Drive, Glendale, Wisconsin, June 22, 1995: Robbed by GUTHRIE and LANGAN.

LANGAN and GUTHRIE return to Pittsburg, Kansas: LANGAN returns to Kansas, City, GUTHRIE remains for about a week and leaves for Macungie, Penn., and stays at a motel, possibly called the Village Inn, about ten miles south of Macungie just off route 100 and I-76. This occurred prior to a July 11, 1994 AN conference at Hayden Lake, Idaho.

GUTHRIE meets with SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), at house and tells them that they did very well on their previous robbery and gives KEVIN (LNU) and SCOTT (LNU) $1,000 each, and $2,000 for his assistance in bringing them into his "cell" and for own white-supremacist cause. They discuss recruiting TIM (LNU) and the next robbery they were planning for Madison, Wisconsin.
advised that he wanted to go along to monitor the next robbery, but never did.

(The ID-3 camera belonging to GUTHRIE was obtained from in a trade for a GMC pick-up truck around April, 1993.
purchased the ID-3 from a Polaroid distributor, around 1984, for $3,500 while he was operating some type of memorabilia business in Rockville, MD. GUTHRIE recalls this because the Polaroid salesman had to physically inspect business to ensure that it was legitimate. used the camera for making false identification for his check scams. The dark blue, 1992
GMC Sonoma pick-up GUTHRIE traded, was obtained with false identification from a Greenville, South Carolina dealership and GUTHRIE stopped making payments on the vehicle.)

also discussed his extremist strategy of using C-4 to blow up feeder lines and cripple an entire electrical grid.

GUTHRIE then returns to Pittsburg, Kansas, with plans for SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) to join him later.

During this period GUTHRIE and LANGAN make a four or five day trip to Columbus, Ohio to case armored car routes and make a video tape recording of some of their observations.

During this trip GUTHRIE advised that he opened Post Office Box 173 at Dublin, Ohio and stayed at either the Knights Inn or Motel 6, on I-71.

GUTHRIE signed and dated this video tape.

LANGAN departed, supposedly with his girlfriend for Denver, Colorado, and SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) arrive at the Pittsburg safe-house in the white Chevrolet suburban.

GUTHRIE, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), travel to Madison, Wisconsin, stay for three or four days at the Motel 6 in Janesville and choose three banks, including a Bank One. They then return to Pittsburg, Kansas with a three day stop in the Mt. Olive area, where SCOTT picks out a bank in Bridgetown, Missouri, a suburb of St. Louis.

SCOTT (LNU) purchases the getaway car, an orange colored Ford, and stashed it about a mile from the bank. They then all return again to the Pittsburg safe-house.

18) Magna Bank, 12296 St. Charles Rock Road, Bridgetown, Missouri, August 16, 1995: Robbed by GUTHRIE, SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU).

GUTHRIE, SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) return to Pittsburg, Kansas in GUTHRIE's blue Ford van. They all await LANGAN'S return. After LANGAN's return, they wait about five days and all four leave with the blue Ford van and white suburban to meet TIM (LNU) in Springfield, Missouri at a Walmart at Kansas Expressway Highway, off I-44.

All five now travel to Janesville, Wisconsin and stay in the same Motel 6, next to a Cracker Barrel (as before) and rent three rooms for cash.

19) Bank One, 4225 East Towne Boulevard, Madison, Wisconsin, August 30, 1995: Robbed by GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), and TIM (LNU).

After this robbery TIM (LNU) is dropped off at his 1991-1992 Brown Toyota pick-up in Springfield, Missouri, and the others return to the Pittsburg safe-house. SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) stay two days and go to Elohim City returning about two weeks later.

During this period GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), case banks in the St. Louis area and were "locked and loaded" at least once. They return to Pittsburg, Kansas and LANGAN returns to Kansas City.

Also during this period GUTHRIE makes a trip to Columbus, Ohio and signs a lease for 585 Reinhard Avenue on October 14, 1995.

About two weeks later, GUTHRIE meets LANGAN at the South County Center, St. Louis, and plan their next bank robbery.

20) Roosevelt Bank, 6969 South Lindbergh Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri, November 22, 1995: Robbed by GUTHRIE and LANGAN.

They both return to the Columbus, Ohio safe-house and during this period video tape armored car deliveries in anticipation of their first armored car robbery.

(GUTHRIE was shown a video tape taken from his blue Ford van subsequent to his arrest in Cincinnati on January 15, 1995. GUTHRIE identified the voices as his and LANGAN's and that it was the tape of casing armored car deliveries in the Columbus, Ohio area during this time frame. GUTHRIE signed and dated this video tape.)

They both leave separately and meet again at the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house where they make further plans to vacate that residence. LANGAN, still driving his white Chevrolet van, takes some of his belongings to Kansas City, and, during the first week in December, 1995, GUTHRIE returns to the Columbus, Ohio safe-house.

On December 8, 1995, GUTHRIE drives to Cincinnati to case banks.

21) Society National Bank, 3515 Springdale Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, December 8, 1995: Robbed by GUTHRIE alone.

During this time frame GUTHRIE stated that he remained at the Columbus, Ohio safe-house, LANGAN is still in Kansas City and SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) are in Philadelphia, Penn. Arrangements were previously made for the three of them to return to Columbus, Ohio on December 14, 1995.

(GUTHRIE listened to two audio cassette tape recordings recovered from his blue Ford van subsequent to his arrest. GUTHRIE identified tape #2, side A, as LANGAN speaking as Field Marshall Pedro, and side B as himself casing armored car deliveries in Dublin, Ohio, and mentioning the date of December 13, 1995. GUTHRIE identified tape #3, side A, as himself and LANGAN previously casing a Wells Fargo depot in Kansas City, Missouri, and banks in Joplin and Springfield, and side B, casing armored car deliveries in Columbus, Ohio.)

On December 14, 1995, GUTHRIE was joined by LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), and knew that the three of them were planning a bank robbery in northern Ohio. Without GUTHRIE, they left for short periods of time driving SCOTT (LNU's) white suburban, and cased banks north of Columbus. During one of their short trips GUTHRIE learned that they had purchased a getaway vehicle and stashed it somewhere in the area of the intended robbery.

22) Mid-America National Bank, 5830 Monroe Street, Sylvania, Ohio, December 19, 1995: Robbed by LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU).

During the evening of December 19th, all three returned and GUTHRIE learned that they had successfully robbed a bank, possibly around the Toledo, Ohio area, and escaped with around $7,300. SCOTT (LNU) had made the selection of this bank. Shortly after this, GUTHRIE was told by LANGAN, that this robbery had not been connected to them based on what he had read in the newspapers. GUTHRIE assumed from this that they did not use an IED, and may have altered their usual techniques somewhat.

LANGAN gave GUTHRIE $500 which they had owed him, and split the rest among themselves.

About two days later, LANGAN left for Kansas City in his white Chevrolet van and SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) left for Philadelphia, Penn., in the white suburban.

About two days later GUTHRIE returns to the Pittsburg safe-house in his blue Ford van and is there for Christmas morning. LANGAN joins him and moves more of his possessions back to Kansas City.

GUTHRIE remains and moves some of his weapons, etc., into a Joplin, Missouri, U-Store-it facility, #C-48, with a lock combination of "1945."
Around January 6, 1996, GUTHRIE returns to the Columbus safe-house and later contacts and attempts to recruit him into ARA and his bank robbery activities, and to form their own "cell." GUTHRIE did not think that was interested but learned from him that was on leave from and in town.
On Saturday evening, January 13, 1996, he met with at a Skyline Chili restaurant by a mall on the west side of Cincinnati and attempted to recruit him. They talked about obtaining military weapons and showed an M-1A Springfield manufactured weapon, which is a civilian version, black in color, of a military M-14, 7.62mm rifle, with folding stock, and loaded magazines. They made arrangements to meet again on Monday, at apartment in Miamitown, Ohio.
GUTHRIE returned to Columbus, and then returned to Cincinnati on the afternoon of January 18, 1996, where he was arrested by the FBI.
GUTHRIE stated that while incarcerated at the Kenton County Jail, Covington, Kentucky, he provided false information regarding a meeting with LANGAN that was supposed to occur in Indianapolis, Indiana, and on two occasions was transported there by FBI agents.	:
He then provided the location of the Columbus safe- house and a "Consent to Search" for the FBI, and later learned that LANGAN was arrested by the FBI at that location on January 18th after a shoot-out.
While incarcerated at Kenton County, GUTHRIE stated that he attempted to make a telephone call through another inmate to to warn him and the others that, "Things were bad, send money, and don't come up here," but doesn't know if ever got the message.
And, GUTHRIE sent a letter to in Sterling, Virginia, with instructions to clean out his Joplin, Missouri storage facility and to get rid of the evidence.
GUTHRIE later learned that and were arrested while transporting these items.

G) Kevin, Scott, Tim (Last Names Unknown) (INU):

GUTHRIE provided the following descriptive and background information regarding:

SCOTT (LNU): Male white, age _____ 5'10", 180lbs, (well built, probably works out and goes to a gym regularly), brown hair (worn "skinhead" short), hazel eyes, no tatoos, father is Italian and mother is of German descent.

SCOTT (LNU) wears prescription glasses on occasion.

SCOTT (LNU) is originally from the Philadelphia area where his parents still live and his father is a retired defense contractor of some type.

GUTHRIE saw SCOTT (LNU)'s recent legitimate Pennsylvania driver's license and believed that the last name was (phonetically) Thaglione, or Taglione, however, this may have been the street address on the license. GUTHRIE saw it only very briefly.

The driver's license may have been recently renewed, GUTHRIE believes, sometime between April and June, 1995, and that he has numerous parking tickets on his 1983-1984 white Chevrolet suburban with Iowa tags. SCOTT (LNU) received these tickets where he shared office space with a friend.

SCOTT (LNU) purchased the white Chevrolet suburban (possibly 1983), possibly around the Ft. Smith, Arkansas area around the April 19, 1995 time frame. GUTHRIE believes that the suburban initially had either an Oklahoma or Arkansas title and that SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) went to Iowa (perhaps using the counties of either Mills, Fremont, Warren, Clark or Decatur), to get permanent license plates that were registered, in all likelihood, in a fictitious company name.

SCOTT (LNU) is a longtime skinhead and is also associated with an AN chapter in the Minneapolis area.

	SCOTT (LNU) resided at KEVIN (LNU)'s		1 house in	the Philadelphia area from January to and most	likely would have been called	during t	hat period.

SCOTT (LNU) owned a 1975-76 maroon Chevrolet van (with two sliding glass windows) that was registered to a fictitious church in Burlington, Des Moines County, Iowa, in January, 1994.

91A-CI-63809 (MC-124) Continuation of FD-302 of RICHARD LEE GUTHRIE, JR. on 03/4-15/1996ge 24 This van is now owned by an individual named at Elohim City and probably now has Oklahoma license plates. SCOTT (LNU) may possess a "valid" Iowa driver's license under the name of which was applied for around November, 1994. GUTHRIE met SCOTT (LNU) in the Philadelphia, Penn. area in July, 1995 at a location off the last exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike before reaching New Jersey; north on US 1 for a quarter mile, to a mall. After meeting SCOTT (LNU) at this mall they drove further north on US 1 for about one mile to, according to GUTHRIE's recollection, the "last civilian owned" motor vehicle bureau in that area. They had intended to break into that location and steal the license camera, but decided not to. (LNU) appeared to be very familiar with that part of Philadelphia. SCOTT (LNU) plays the guitar and is a member of a skinhead rock band and produced a music "CD" containing hard-rock type songs. The distributor for the CD, which may be called "Day of the Sword" is believed to be the same Detroit, Michigan distributor who also distributes CD's for another skinhead musician, who is also from the Detroit area. SCOTT (LNU)'s name would be listed on the CD along with his art work of a disemboweled pig and a Star of David. (GUTHRIE listened to an audio cassette tape recording taken from his blue Ford van subsequent to his arrest. The tape (tape #1, side A) was made by SCOTT (LNU) while casing banks in the Minneapolis area when he was visiting with skinhead friends. Side B is SCOTT (LNU) with an unknown male discussing skinhead type music. GUTHRIE signed and dated this cassette tape.) KEVIN (LNU): male white, age 6'3", 2001bs, slender build, brown hair (skinhead short), blue eyes, tatoos on both arms including the skinhead double lightening bolts, Irish nationality. KEVIN (LNU) is originally from Philadephia, Penn., now resides with his grandmother, and lived with during 1990-91 and may have attended high school while residing with

According to what KEVIN (LNU) told GUTHRIE (implying no wrongdoing), KEVIN (LNU)'s uncles are an FBI agent in the Philadelphia office (who investigates bank robberies) and a Lieutenant or Captain in the northeast section of the Philadelphia Police Department. KEVIN (LNU) supposedly last saw the uncle, FBI agent, at a June, 1995 graduation of his cousin, (that uncle's child). GUTHRIE has no way of knowing if this information is true.

TIM (LNU): male white, age 5'8"-5'9", 150lbs, reddish/blond hair (worn short, but not skinhead short) blue eyes, freckles, Irish nationality.

GUTHRIE believes that TIM (LNU) is also from the Philadelphia area and has been closely associated with SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) for many years as skinheads.

TIM (LNU) resided at Elohim City with his wife in 1992, and 1994, and up to December, 1995; and, his wife's father was the former of Elohim City.

GUTHRIE was told by SCOTT (LNU) that TIM (LNU) may have moved back to the Westchester, Penn. area, a suburb of Philadelphia.

GUTHRIE had seen an economics book in TIM (LNU)'s possession and believes that he may have been attending a community college in the Van Buren area near Ft. Smith, Arkansas during the Summer of 1995.

H) Langan's 1979 White Chevrolet Van:

GUTHRIE was aware that at the time of LANGAN's arrest at Columbus, Ohio on January 18, 1996, he was in possession of a 1979 white Chevrolet Van.

GUTHRIE provided the following information regarding this vehicle:

GUTHRIE and LANGAN first saw this van at a shopping mall in Joplin, Missouri and purchased it from the white male owner for $1,000. The owner owned an auto detail shop in Joplin. The van used to be operated by the Heineken beer company and had logos on both sides and the back.

GUTHRIE registered the van in Dubuque, Iowa under the name of CHARLES WILLIAMS for $65. Iowa was used to register many vehicles because that State did not require any identification or an inspection.

The van was to be GUTHRIE's, but LANGAN instead took it for himself and it sat in the yard at their safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas for some time. LANGAN removed the Heineken logos and repainted it white, built a seat, bench and drawers, and a platform intended for storage underneath and for sleeping on top.

LANGAN usually kept a black plastic container, purchased from Walmart, in the van for the larger weapons.

LANGAN would usually travel with explosives in a box lined with white foam and Guthrie has seen an IED made by LANGAN which he called his "Commander Pedro Mark (some number, like Mark 64)" pipe bomb.

The	"Mark	64"	pipe	bombs	were	usually	constructed	of

The purpose of the "Mark 64" would be for an offensive action enabling the fuse to be easily lit with the attached lighter and thrown at police, etc.

GUTHRIE advised that all of the ammunition, explosives and weapons in the van would belong to LANGAN unless for some reason he would happened to also have some of his, GUTHRIE's, possessions as well.

LANGAN would also usually carry an AR-15 rifle which GUTHRIE had seen stored in a black Sears tool box.

GUTHRIE clarified that LANGAN's van, as well as his own, was equipped in this fashion so that they would always be able to defend themselves if confronted by law enforcement authorities and if their arrest was imminent.

GUTHRIE last saw this van in LANGAN's possession around December 30, 1995, just before New Years at their safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas when LANGAN was moving some of his possessions to his new residence or into a storage locker in Kansas City.

GUTHRIE was then shown a series of color photographs of the contents of the 1979 white Chevrolet van taken subsequent to LANGAN's arrest on January 18, 1996, and identified them as follows (GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of each photograph):

-1979 white Chevrolet van: Guthrie recognized this vehicle as the one belonging to LANGAN with the "FOP" sticker on the back. GUTHRIE stated that all of their vehicles had similar stickers.

-.22 caliber Beretta pistol: Purchased by GUTHRIE in Blytheville, Arkansas at a gun shop located near a closed Air Force Base, and sold to LANGAN. LANGAN usually carried this weapon at all times.

-9mm Taurus pistol: LANGAN kept this weapon in a "Bible" case that was fitted with foam to fit the outline of the weapon. LANGAN purchased this Taurus at a gun show and had kept it in a black leather bag he had purchased before Christmas, 1995.

-Bible case: Belonging to LANGAN and fitted with foam to carry his 9mm Taurus pistol.

-.223 caliber S.G.W. 15 assault rifle: LANGAN purchased this weapon at a gun show and also an accessory barrel at a gun shop on 5th Street in Pittsburg, Kansas. GUTHRIE purchased the Sears tool box in Joplin, Missouri and gave it to LANGAN. And: .380 caliber Bersa, stainless pistol. GUTHRIE purchased this weapon at a flea market on the west side of Columbus, Ohio (located about two miles off I-70), and traded it to LANGAN for a couple of other guns.

-Rubbermaid brand containers containing ammunition (two photographs): GUTHRIE identified these as his own and believed that LANGAN had brought them from the Pittsburg, Kansas safehouse to the Columbus, Ohio safe-house for him.

-Soviet made 7.62x39mm ammunition in a sealed container that LANGAN had purchased at a Joplin, Missouri gun show.

-Black plastic lunch box and plywood compartment in LANGAN's van: GUTHRIE recognized the interior construction of a plywood compartment that LANGAN had built into the Chevrolet van, and a black plastic lunch box that LANGAN had purchased at a surplus store. GUTHRIE stated that this was the same type lunch box used as IEDs in both the Columbus National Bank robbery, Columbus, Ohio, on October 25, 1994, and the Great Financial Bank robbery, Louisville, Kentucky, on May 24, 1995.

-White canvas tool bag: GUTHRIE recognized the white canvas tool bag that he believed LANGAN purchased at a Sears store in Joplin, Missouri and was used as a "go-bag." The go-bag was used during the robberies to carry their guns, masks, radios, etc., between the getaway and switch vehicles.

-Nitromethane fuel: A gallon of nitromethane racing fuel that LANGAN purchased at the Joplin Raceway around May. 1994 and was to be used by LANGAN GUTHRIE stated that he did not know if LANGAN

GUTHRIE was asked about his knowledge of a pager used in the construction of the IED used in the robbery of Columbus National Bank, 6121 Livingston Avenue, Columbus, Ohio on October 25, 1994. GUTHRIE recalled that LANGAN had constructed this IED and that they found the pager that was used in this IED laying on a street in Cincinnati, Ohio. The number on the pager was a local Cincinnati number because they called the number.

GUTHRIE was informed that this pager had been traced to a (410) area code and that the pager was still active at the time of the Columbus robbery. GUTHRIE stated that they had several pagers in their possession and it is possible that he is confusing the pager they found in Cincinnati with another one. It is also possible that LANGAN got this pager without GUTHRIE'S knowledge.

GUTHRIE had no specific information about where IED components were purchased. The only thing he could remember was that some components were purchased from Radio Shack stores in various cities, an electronic store in Kenosha and Waukegan, Wisconsin and Akron, Ohio.

GUTHRIE was then asked if any of the IEDs that were constructed by he, LANGAN or SCOTT (LNU) contained GUTHRIE stated that all the devices that he constructed for use in bank robberies were hoax devices with no explosive filler. LANGAN constructed IEDs for robberies using GUTHRIE recalled that the majority of their military ordnance and other explosive related items were purchased from gun shows around the country. They frequented the Indianapolis, Indiana, Joplin, Missouri, Overland Park, Kansas and Kansas City, Missouri Gun Shows. GUTHRIE recalled that the green and yellow military smoke grenades were purchased from the Kansas City, Missouri Gun Show and the German fumigators were purchased from the Indianapolis, Indiana Gun Show.

GUTHRIE and LANGAN had no specific plans or blue prints that they followed for the construction of their IEDs. The IEDs that they built were either from ideas they got from books or just off the top of their heads. Although GUTHRIE had some formal explosive training in the military, LANGAN was the one who spent the most time constructing devices. The IEDs that were designed in such a way that contained |

The only stores that he could remember were Steve's Gun and Satellite, Joplin, Missouri and a gun store seven miles north of Pittsburg, Kansas on route 69.

GUTHRIE was then asked about the pipe bombs that were present in 585 Reinhard Avenue, Columbus, Ohio. The pipe bombs were made by both LANGAN and GUTHRIE over the past several years and were brought with them from their safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas. These pipe bombs were previously mentioned by GUTHRIE as the ones that would be used against law enforcement. GUTHRIE remembered making three or four pipe bombs at the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house. LANGAN constructed numerous pipe bombs, therefore, GUTHRIE could not be sure how many he made.

GUTHRIE was then shown a series of photographs that were taken by the Columbus Fire Department Bomb Squad (CFDBS) during their render-safe procedures at 585 Reinhard Avenue. All of the following photographs were identified by GUTHRIE by signature and date:

It was dark and snowing when GUTHRIE entered the bank near closing time and there were no customers and only two young female tellers inside. He wore a dark raincoat, dark wig, baseball cap with a logo on it, dark pants, and white sneakers, entered through the front door and presented a teller with a typewritten demand note on a piece of white paper. GUTHRIE was armed with a 9mm Astra pistol which he did not display, did not say anything, and after the robbery believes he took the note with him.

GUTHRIE escaped with about $2,000 using LANGAN's green colored pick up truck that he had parked nearby, and which was registered in the name of and drove to a motel on Harrison Avenue across from the Green Township Police Department.

GUTHRIE was shown a demand note typewritten on a white piece of paper and identified it as being the one he used during this robbery. He further recalled that he typed the note on a typewriter at the library in Cheviot, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati.

GUTHRIE was also shown a bank surveillance photograph of a white male running across the main banking floor during this robbery and identified this individual as himself.

GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of the photograph and demand note.

2) Bank One, 8632 Beechmont Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, December 11, 1992:

GUTHRIE, still in the Cincinnati area, decided to rob another east side bank and selected Bank One on Beechmont Avenue.

GUTHRIE stated that this Bank One was located on the north side of Beechmont Avenue about one mile east of the Beechmont Mall. He recalled that the bank stood alone and was near some restaurants and possibly a White Castle. He entered the bank after dark, just before closing, handed a teller the typewritten demand note, and recalled that there were only two or three employees and no customers in the bank at the time. GUTHRIE believes that he took the note with him.

GUTHRIE recalled that he wore the same clothes as during the previous Gateway Savings Bank robbery and escaped with around $2,500, again using LANGAN's green pick up truck which he had parked nearby and returned to the same motel on Harrison Avenue where he had been staying.

In January, 1994, two or three days prior to the Firstar Bank robbery, GUTHRIE advised that he traveled with LANGAN from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to the State of Iowa along I-They drove GUTHRIE's 1983 maroon Chevrolet Wagon. While traveling south on I-35, GUTHRIE, who was familiar with the Ames/Nevada, Iowa area, decided to stop in Ames, Iowa to visit a military surplus store located near the mall on the north side of Ames. GUTHRIE knew that Nevada, Iowa was the county seat for the county where Ames was situated. After purchasing a few military items at the military surplus store, which he believed was located on Lincoln Way in Ames, Iowa, they drove by two banks located adjacent to the mall. GUTHRIE recalls that one of the banks was named Firstar Bank and it was decided by LANGAN that they were going to, watch this bank and later rob it. LANGAN told GUTHRIE that for convenience he wanted to rob a bank that was located close to a mall and was within walking distance. GUTHRIE noted that this was LANGAN's first attempt at robbing a bank.

After visiting the surplus store and casing the Firstar Bank in Ames, Iowa, they headed north on I-35 to an area named Boondocks situated near a 76 Gas Station. GUTHRIE recalls staying at the motel for two or three days under an alias which he could not recall. He explained that they stayed in two separate rooms in the mid section of the hotel and recalls that the hotel had a main lobby area which one needed to walk through in order to get to their motel rooms. He thinks that it was a one story structure.

GUTHRIE explained that they were initially traveling to Des Moines, Iowa, in order to case some banks before stopping in Ames, Iowa. GUTHRIE noted that prior to January, 1994, he had looked at banks in the city of Des Moines, Iowa. He was somewhat familiar with Des Moines through the various K MART scams he had conducted in the past as well as obtaining an Iowa driver's license in the West Des Moines, Iowa, area. GUTHRIE and LANGAN continued to watch the Firstar Bank during the next two to three days. He recalls that their car broke down at Boondocks and they had to purchase a distributor cap for the maroon station wagon from a service station near their motel. On the day of the bank robbery they checked out of the Boondocks motel at approximately 10:00 A.M. He and LANGAN then drove to Des Moines, Iowa, and visited the Merle Hay Mall located on Merle Hay Road in Des Moines, Iowa. He advised that while in Des Moines they looked at a few banks but did not do any serious casing.

Sometime just before dark on January 25, 1994, LANGAN and GUTHRIE went to their staging area located on the west side of the SEARS store located at the mall on Grand Avenue in Ames, Iowa. Both GUTHRIE and LANGAN were wearing long dark colored trench coats and gloves as they walked through the mall to the east side entrance of the mall. He recalls walking by an MVA Store prior to reaching the front door of the mall. As GUTHRIE waited at the door of the mall, LANGAN continued on foot towards the Firstar Bank. Prior to the robbery, LANGAN had expressed a desire to rob the bank by himself. GUTHRIE explained that LANGAN, in addition to wearing the long trench coat, was carrying a Chinese made 9mm pistol, gloves, dark tennis shoes, and had a dark colored ski mask he was holding to wear inside the bank. GUTHRIE, in addition to the vest and 9mm handgun, was also wearing a navy blue baseball cap. GUTHRIE noted that LANGAN was also carrying a dark colored canvas bag which contained an IED .

LANGAN was in the bank between 30 and 45 seconds before GUTHRIE observed him exit the front door and walk straight towards GUTHRIE, who remained inside the mall entrance. As LANGAN met up with GUTHRIE, they walked through the mall area close to the SEARS auto repair center before entering GUTHRIE's vehicle, the maroon 1983 Chevrolet station wagon. As GUTHRIE and LANGAN left the area, they drove south on a street parallel to the main drag, later identified as Grand Avenue, before traveling east to Grand and then taking a left on Grand Avenue. continued north on Grand Avenue approximately 20 to 25 miles until reaching a street which led them to I-35. During the getaway, LANGAN told GUTHRIE that he had vaulted the counter and a woman had placed the money into his black canvas baq. Once they reached I-35, they traveled north through Minnesota to I-90. and east on I-90 to the outskirts of Rochester, Minnesota where they obtained two motel rooms located on the left side of the main road leading into Rochester. The motel was approximately five to six miles from the downtown area of Rochester. GUTHRIE described the motel as white with red trim and noted that it cost b7E approximately $35 a night. He could not recall whose name he used when they checked into the motel.

GUTHRIE estimated that the total take from the robbery was approximately $11,000. They each kept $3,000 while the rest of the money was used for purchasing weapons, traveling, and the purchase of the blue Ford Extended van in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Regarding the clothing they wore, GUTHRIE advised that the trench coats may have been saved and recovered subsequent to their arrest. He noted that the black ski mask used in the Firstar Bank robbery was later dropped by LANGAN outside of a bank they robbed in Green Bay, Wisconsin in March, 1994.

GUTHRIE was shown a bank surveillance photograph of the robbery of the Firstar Bank and identified this individual as LANGAN. He also identified the ski mask worn by LANGAN as the same one that was lost after the Green Bay, Wisconsin, bank robbery.

GUTHRIE was also shown a photograph of the device recovered from the Firstar Bank robbery and identified it as the device he made, and gave to LANGAN for this robbery.

4) Brenton First National Bank of Davenport, 902 West Kimberly Road, Davenport, Iowa, February 15, 1994:

b6 b7C

Approximately 1 1/2 weeks prior to committing the bank robbery in Davenport, Iowa, on February 15, 1994, GUTHRIE advised that he and LANGAN, driving the blue Ford extended van, left Cincinnati, Ohio, and traveled to the Davenport, Iowa area, along GUTHRIE recalls that the blue Ford Extended van had Iowa tags registered to SMITH'S FARMS. He noted they had been staying at the Best Western Motel, in Cincinnati, Ohio, prior to leaving for Davenport, Iowa. They drove straight to Moline, Illinois, across the river from Davenport and checked into a Motel 6 located near the airport along an interstate. He recalls that the motel was just off the freeway. He could not recall the name he used to register at the hotel but recalls he using a phoney driver's license, possibly Maryland or Arkansas to register.

The next morning after crossing the Mississippi River, they drove around the city of Davenport casing banks. He recalls driving down the main street in Davenport and locating one bank near a large mall. He recalls the mall was open until 8:00 P.M. Close to the mall was the Brenton Bank located adjacent to a strip mall. GUTHRIE described this bank as a free standing bank adjacent to a newer bank that was under construction. There was a department store as well as a hardware store located in the plaza close to the bank. They continued casing the bank over the next few days with GUTHRIE recalling that he also visited the Rock Island Armory. On the day of the bank robbery, they checked out of the MOTEL 6 and went to the mall adjacent to the target bank around lunch time. GUTHRIE and LANGAN also visited the K Mart store located in the same strip mall as the target bank. After leaving K Mart, they went to the blue Ford extended van and "suited up." LANGAN put on a bullet proof vest, the same dark colored jacket he wore in the Ames robbery, dark colored baseball cap, black sneakers and carried the same 9mm semi-automatic pistol used in the Ames bank robbery. GUTHRIE noted that LANGAN was not wearing any gloves.

Prior to the bank robbery, it was decided that GUTHRIE was going to be the lone bank robber inside the bank. GUTHRIE put on a bullet proof vest, the same dark colored trench coat, worn in the Ames robbery, black gloves, 9mm semi-automatic weapon, jungle boots, and the same dark colored ski mask used by LANGAN in the Firstar Bank robbery in Ames, Iowa. The jungle boots were described as dark leather with green canvas.

After suiting up, LANGAN who was driving, drove himself and GUTHRIE to the backside of the strip mall after which LANGAN and GUTHRIE walked to an area where LANGAN could watch GUTHRIE go into the bank. As GUTHRIE entered the bank he put on the ski mask and immediately jumped up onto the counter demanding money. He recalls ordering a teller to put money in the bag and used the Spanish terms "Andale, Andale." GUTHRIE explained he knelt on the teller counter and never jumped into the teller area.

In addition to carrying the 9mm weapon into the bank, GUTHRIE also carried the same dark colored canvas bag used in the Ames bank robbery. This bag contained the explosive device which was pulled out during the execution of the bank robbery and set on the teller counter. GUTHRIE recalls speaking Spanish gibberish as he placed the bomb device on the counter. After being in the bank for approximately 20 seconds, GUTHRIE immediately left the bank and walked up on the grass knoll where he met LANGAN and proceeded to the back side of the L-shaped strip mall. He recalls LANGAN had a police scanner at the time.

GUTHRIE explained that LANGAN constructed the IED used in the bank robbery in Davenport, Iowa. He put the device together in Cincinnati, Ohio. GUTHRIE described the device as a

With regard to parts used in manufacturing the pipe bombs, GUTHRIE advised that as they traveled throughout the country, they stopped off at various hardware stores and picked up the necessary parts to construct the IEDs.

After exiting the bank, sometime prior to closing at around 6:00pm, LANGAN, who was driving, left the strip mall area proceeding in a westerly direction to the Beltway which GUTHRIE believes was route 280 or 680. They headed towards Illinois via I-74, stopping in Galesburg, Illinois, for coffee and food. They continued traveling east on I-74 to I-39 and traveled south to Lincoln, Illinois, where they spent the night at a motel in Lincoln located at the corner of I-39 and I-55 (business). When they arrived at the motel in Lincoln, Illinois, GUTHRIE and LANGAN split the money which totaled a little over $4,000. GUTHRIE advised that this was the first bank robbery he committed using both a firearm and explosive device. After spending one night in Lincoln, Illinois, they proceeded to Arkansas and spent two to three days there.

Between the Davenport robbery and their next bank robbery, which occurred in Green Bay, Wisconsin, GUTHRIE noted that he and LANGAN went to Des Moines, Iowa, to case banks in that area. He recalls they cased many banks in Des Moines, Iowa, located near a mall. He believed they spent four to five days in Des Moines, Iowa, staying at a motel located on the outskirts of Des Moines near the Marshalltown, Iowa, exit of I-80. He could not recall the name of the motel but it was located down the street from a large Amoco gas station. He described the motel as a two-story structure on the left side of the road. After spending time in Des Moines, they headed up to the city of Milwaukee where they spent one week casing banks.

GUTHRIE stated that he and LANGAN arrived in the Green Bay, Wisconsin area approximately three days before the robbery. Prior to their arrival in Green Bay, LANGAN and GUTHRIE spent approximately one week in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Upon arriving in Green Bay they stayed on the north side of town just over the county line. LANGAN and GUTHRIE were driving GUTHRIE'S blue Ford van on this trip. The motel they stayed in was on the main northbound road going out of town and was located on the east side of the road. GUTHRIE did not recall the name the room was rented in or the name of the motel but described the motel as single level, wood structure, approximately 20 units, very old and that the office was on the south end of the motel. They stayed there one night and began scouting the area for banks the following day. They drove south through town when they located the Associated Bank. After locating the bank, they decided to stay that night south of town.

LANGAN and GUTHRIE drove 30 miles south of town on I-43 and located a motel. The motel was on the north side of the road, brick construction, "a nice place" and had several gas stations nearby.

The next morning they went back into the city and continued to scout banks. That day they determined that the Associated Bank would be their target. The bank is located near a mall and next to another bank. GUTHRIE recalled that the Associated Bank is a small stand alone bank with a front entrance. GUTHRIE and LANGAN made no entry to the bank prior to the robbery.

At approximately 4:00pm GUTHRIE and LANGAN were "locked and loaded" for the robbery. They decided to use GUTHRIE'S blue Ford van and did not purchase a getaway vehicle.

GUTHRIE stated that LANGAN constructed an IED that was a hoax device for use in the robbery. The hoax device was constructed using three highway flares, clock, tape, wire and a battery.

At 6:30pm, they drove behind the mall and parked the van near the rear entrance to the mall. They exited the van and walked around the mall on the eastern side and headed toward the bank. At 6:45pm they entered the bank. Just prior to entering, the ski masks they were wearing were pulled over their faces. LANGAN entered first and GUTHRIE followed. LANGAN vaulted the teller counter and stated, "No alarms, No hostages." GUTHRIE stayed in the lobby and placed the hoax device on the teller counter. Upon placing the device on the counter GUTHRIE announced, "Wawra Kibier," arabic for "get the money" and "La Bomba." LANGAN was carrying a canvas bag for gathering money. As LANGAN was gathering money, GUTHRIE recalled one of the tellers stating: "Do you want more?"

GUTHRIE and LANGAN exit the bank and walked toward the mall. They entered the mall through the front entrance and exited through the rear entrance near the van. They entered the van and headed toward I-43 south toward Milwaukee.

During the robbery, LANGAN was wearing blue work pants, dark work shirt, black trench coat, black sneakers, black ski mask, black leather gloves and a bullet proof vest, and carrying his 9mm Taurus pistol.

GUTHRIE recalled that he wore blue jeans, dark sweatshirt, black trench coat, white Nike sneakers, ski mask, black leather gloves, a bullet proof vest and carrying his 9mm Astra pistol and the I Com scanner.

GUTHRIE stated that the ski mask that LANGAN was wearing was dropped at the bank. This ski mask was the same mask worn by LANGAN during their earlier Firstar Bank, Ames, Iowa robbery.

They obtained approximately $12,000 from this robbery. The money was divided when GUTHRIE and LANGAN arrived in Rockford, Illinois which was where they traveled directly after the robbery. Upon arriving in Rockford they went to a Red Roof Inn. There they divided the proceeds by taking $4,000 each and putting the rest toward the "company."

GUTHRIE and LANGAN stayed one night in Rockford and then headed for Cincinnati, Ohio.

GUTHRIE stated that LANGAN had preselected the North American Savings Bank as their target in Kansas City, Missouri. LANGAN had spent time in Kansas City bar hopping prior to the robbery and was familiar with the area. The bank was located in the center of a strip mall on State Line Road. GUTHRIE said the bank had a front and rear entrance, with the rear door being an emergency exit.

On the Saturday and Sunday prior to the robbery GUTHRIE stated that he and LANGAN drove from the safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas, to Kansas City, Missouri, to obtain a switch car and plan an escape route. LANGAN tried unsuccessfully to steal a car, and they decided to use GUTHRIE's maroon Chevrolet station wagon as the getaway vehicle. A switch car was not used.

GUTHRIE and LANGAN left Pittsburg, Kansas on May 19, 1994 enroute to Kansas, City to rob the North American Savings Bank. They arrived at a strip mall parking lot approximately 1000 feet east of the target bank around 10:30 to 11:00 am. It was at this mall that GUTHRIE parked the getaway car, his maroon station wagon. GUTHRIE said he and LANGAN walked from the maroon station wagon to the bank and entered through the front door.

LANGAN went into the bank first followed approximately ten seconds later by GUTHRIE carrying the IED. GUTHRIE stated that he went to the office area of the bank, took the IED out of a bag, placed it on a desk in clear view of the bank employees, and said something to LANGAN in Arabic.

When GUTHRIE next saw LANGAN he was behind the teller counter rifling the teller drawers. LANGAN put the money he had taken, along with two dye packs, into a canvass bag, and made his way back across the teller counter. GUTHRIE was the first to exit the bank via the rear emergency exit followed by LANGAN.

During the robbery GUTHRIE wore a pair of dark blue work pants, camouflage boots, grey T-shirt, an orange/red safety vest, white hard hat, gloves, and a breathing filter. He was armed with a 9mm Astra pistol, carried a Realistic scanner, and wore a bullet proof vest.

LANGAN wore dark blue work pants, dark sneakers, light blue shirt, white hard hat, gloves and a breathing filter. GUTHRIE said that LANGAN wore a bullet proof vest and was armed with a Taurus 9mm pistol.

As they made their way on foot to the getaway car GUTHRIE and LANGAN discarded their hard hats and safety vests in the wooded area directly behind the strip mall complex, which was close to the bank .

Once at the getaway car GUTHRIE said they were spotted and given a suspicious glance by a Dominos Pizza delivery person. GUTHRIE said that they were anxious to leave the immediate area and took no action against the Dominos employee. As they drove out of the parking lot GUTHRIE heard on his scanner that a silent alarm had been tripped at the bank and that the bank was robbed by two people wearing hard hats and nurses masks.

GUTHRIE stated that the dye packs in the canvas bag exploded in the car prior to making a left turn out of the parking lot. LANGAN went through the canvas bag, found the dye packs and threw them out of the car window as they turned left onto Bannister. They took Bannister to Prospect, made a left onto Prospect and proceeded to I-435. With GUTHRIE driving they proceeded on I-435 towards Kansas, and eventually picked up US-169 to the safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas.

GUTHRIE recalled that they netted around $6,500. The money had to be cleaned since it was damaged due to the exploded dye packs. GUTHRIE and LANGAN took $1,500 each and gave the rest of the money to the company.

7) Society National Bank, 11355 Princeton Pike, Springdale, Ohio; June 8, 1994:

GUTHRIE stated that he and LANGAN arrived in the Cincinnati area from Pittsburg, Kansas, in early June, 1994 driving the blue extended Ford van. They were both familiar with the area and had considered robbing the Society Bank in the vicinity of the Tri-County Mall in the past, and on one occasion had been "locked and loaded" for a robbery of a Provident Bank, on Colerain Avenue, just off I-275.

During this trip they stayed at a Travelodge in Kentucky about five miles south of Cincinnati on I-75, renting two rooms for two to three days while they searched the area for banks to rob.

GUTHRIE purchased an older model Chevrolet Citation from a used car lot in Newport, Kentucky. GUTHRIE inspected the vehicle and went to LANGAN who was waiting in the blue Ford van and obtained from him. GUTHRIE went back to the lot and pur later to from an older white male employee.

next day they retrieved the Chevrolet Citation and returned to the bank, "locked and loaded."

For this robbery, both GUTHRIE and LANGAN had fashioned an IED made from grey steel hand grenade in the glove box and pulled the pin. It was intended that the spoon on the grenade would pop off when the glove box was opened and further frustrate and delay the police. GUTHRIE could not recall if the hand grenade had been filled with black powder and bottom opening plugged.

That morning both GUTHRIE and LANGAN were "locked and loaded," wearing full faced halloween masks, believed to be of Ross Perot and possibly Dan Quayle, and parked very near the front door of the bank.

There was some initial confusion as LANGAN got out of the vehicle and headed towards the bank and was spotted by a woman who saw him and began running away. LANGAN continued into the bank anyway; GUTHRIE followed but did not take the IED with him. GUTHRIE recalled that he had dropped his I COM scanner but put it back in the vehicle.

GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the IED constructed for this robbery, but not used. GUTHRIE identified a photograph of this same IED that he subsequently used during the robbery of the Mercantile Bank, Springfield, Missouri, on July 7, 1994. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph.

By the time GUTHRIE entered the bank, he believed through the front door as LANGAN did, LANGAN was already over the counter and rifling the teller drawers and placing the money into a canvas bag. GUTHRIE covered the banking floor and when LANGAN exited a side door, he exited the front door and entered the getaway vehicle and was joined by LANGAN.

They took their masks off and with GUTHRIE driving, exited the parking lot and turned right on the road that runs perpendicular to Princeton Pike heading for the switch site and the blue Ford van. As they left the parking lot a dye pack in the canvas bag exploded and LANGAN began throwing money out of the window in an attempt to get rid of the dye pack. GUTHRIE opened his door and was driving erratically because the vehicle to the blue Ford van. GUTHRIE went further north coming back out onto Princeton Pike about in front of the Tri-County Mall, to I-275 heading westbound. They joined I-71 and continued south, through Louisville, Kentucky and drove straight back to Pittsburg, Kansas, arriving around 1:00 or 2:00am the next morning.

While enroute GUTHRIE was upset because he realized that he had left his expensive I COM scanner in the Chevrolet Citation at the switch site, but at least had taken the IED with him in the "go bag" he had taken from the Citation.

GUTHRIE was asked if he recalled having been shown a photograph of the I COM scanner recovered subsequent to this robbery and stated that he did and that it was, in fact, the one he had left behind.

GUTHRIE recalled that they had netted only around $2,100, which they split evenly, and burned the dye pack in a barrel at the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house. He also recalled that it had taken a long time to clean the dye stains from the money.

One of the Halloween masks was dye stained and both of them may have ended up in either his storage locker in Joplin, Missouri, or in LANGAN's in Shawnee, Kansas.

GUTHRIE stated that during the robbery he carried a loaded blue Astra 9mm automatic and LANGAN carried a 9mm Taurus; both wore their bullet proof vests and baseball style gloves.

GUTHRIE was shown a bank surveillance photograph from the Society robbery that depicted a masked white male holding a weapon on the banking floor. GUTHRIE stated that it was a photograph of himself wearing a full face Halloween mask, black T-shirt, jeans, jungle boots, white baseball gloves and holding a handgun. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph.

GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of an IED that was recovered subsequent to the robbery of the Mercantile Bank, 3230 E. Battlefield, Springfield, Missouri, and identified this device as the one he and LANGAN made for the Society robbery but had not used. GUTHRIE stated that they had used this IED device on their next robbery in Springfield. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph.

GUTHRIE stated that he and LANGAN could not agree on where they wanted to target their next bank. GUTHRIE wanted to target a bank in Cincinnati, but LANGAN wanted to go to Missouri. GUTHRIE said that LANGAN finally convinced him to target a bank in the Springfield, Missouri area.

For this robbery GUTHRIE said that he and LANGAN staged out of the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house. From Monday through Thursday for two weeks prior to the robbery, GUTHRIE and LANGAN would leave Pittsburg, Kansas around 6:00am each day and arrive in Springfield, Missouri at approximately 9:30am.

They would case banks in the Springfield area until 1:00 to 2:00pm each day. After the first week they narrowed their choices to two banks; the Roosevelt Bank on Sunshine Road and the Mercantile Bank which was located in a shopping center off of the Kansas Expressway. They had initially decided on the Roosevelt bank but later changed their mind and targeted the Mercantile bank.

The target bank was a free standing building with a front and rear entrance located in the middle of a shopping center parking lot.

GUTHRIE and LANGAN purchased a car they had spotted on the west side of Springfield in a store parking lot on Campbell Road while casing banks. The car was a brown Ford Torino owned by a white male who GUTHRIE described as being six feet tall and approximately forty five years old, with dark hair. They called the number on the For Sale sign, and the owner met them at the parking lot where the car was located.

GUTHRIE paid four hundred and twenty dollars for the car and the owner let him keep the license plates that were on the car at the time of purchase. GUTHRIE stashed the car in a Walmart department store parking lot located at Pressway Road and I-44.

The week prior to the robbery GUTHRIE and LANGAN made repeated trips to Springfield from Pittsburg to study the Mercantile Bank and surrounding area.

The morning of the robbery GUTHRIE and LANGAN left Pittsburg around 6:00am driving the blue Ford van. They retrieved the getaway car from the Walmart parking lot and proceeded to the switch site where they parked the blue Ford van. The switch site was a new home construction area located across U.S. 65 approximately one quarter mile east of the target bank.

They drove from the switch site in the brown Ford Torino and parked approximately ten to fifteen feet from the rear door of the bank. GUTHRIE entered the bank first through the rear door followed by LANGAN carrying the IED.

For this robbery the IED was fashioned by GUTHRIE and LANGAN at the safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas, The IED was constructed from GUTHRIE wore jungle boots, dark blue work pants, grey short sleeve T-shirt, gloves and what he described as a church lady halloween mask. He also wore a bullet proof vest, was armed with a Astra 9mm pistol and carried a Realistic scanner.

LANGAN wore jungle boots, dark blue work pants, blue long sleeve work shirt, gloves, and a halloween mask depicting a U.S. president. He also wore a bullet proof vest and was armed with a Taurus 9mm pistol.

Once in the bank, GUTHRIE went directly to the teller counter and noted that the access door to the employee side of the teller counter was open. He walked through the access door to the employee side of the teller counter and began rifling the cash drawers at each teller station. He checked about a dozen drawers before finding money. He put the money along with a dye pack into a canvas baq.

While GUTHRIE rifled the teller drawers, LANGAN put the IED on an island in the middle section of the bank lobby by the back door and controlled the floor. GUTHRIE noted that there were no customers in the bank at the time of the robberv.

After he rifled the teller cash drawers GUTHRIE walked around the teller counter to the bank lobby. He and LANGAN then exited the bank via the door from which they entered. They retrieved the getaway car from the rear of the bank and with GUTHRIE driving left the shopping center parking lot.

The dye pack exploded as they drove out of the parking lot and GUTHRIE noted that LANGAN held the canvas bag containing the dye pack out of the car window for about twenty seconds. They made a left turn out of the shopping center parking lot onto a street that paralleled Battlefield and proceeded to the switch site. GUTHRIE noted that he heard the bank robbery alert being broadcast on his scanner while enroute to the switch site.

At the switch site they ditched the brown Ford Torino, retrieved the blue Ford van and with LANGAN driving departed for Pittsburg, Kansas. GUTHRIE thought he had left an inert grenade in the glove box of the getaway car, but did not recall how it was ridged.

GUTHRIE recalled that they netted around $2,500. The money was damaged by the exploded dye pack and had to be cleaned. They each took $1,000 and gave the rest of the money to the "company." The dye pack was burned in a barrel at the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house. GUTHRIE also remembered that they kept the masks he and LANGAN had worn during the robbery. The masks were stored in one of the storage facilities that he and LANGAN had rented.

9) Nebraska State Bank, 1726 North 120th Street, Omaha, Nebraska, August 3, 1994:

(Prepared	by	SA

GUTHRIE advised that prior to the August 3, 1994, bank robbery in Omaha, Nebraska, he and LANGAN traveled to the Omaha, Nebraska, area two additional times. Approximately 2 1/2 weeks prior to the robbery GUTHRIE and LANGAN traveled to Omaha, Nebraska, on a Friday from Pittsburg, Kansas, driving the maroon b6 b7C colored Chevrolet station wagon. He recalls traveling from Pittsburg, Kansas, on I-29 to Nebraska. When arriving in Omaha, Nebraska, they usually stayed outside the city limits southwest of Omaha, somewhere off of I-80 between Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska. He believes on the first trip to Omaha, they stayed at a motel off of either exit 409 or 420 on I-80. He recalls that the motel was located on the left side after turning left off the Interstate exit ramp. The motel was located near a food mart and a gas station. He described the motel as L shaped with two floors. GUTHRIE registered for two rooms under a fictitious name. He could not recall the name he used. He did recall, however, that the girl who checked him in at the motel had a small pet monkey.

After checking into the motel, they traveled to Omaha, Nebraska, and got off Interstate I-80 and traveled along L Street south of the freeway. They began casing a Norwest Bank located They also looked at two other banks in the near a cemetery. general area. It was during this first trip to Omaha, Nebraska, that GUTHRIE purchased the getaway vehicle which he describes as an International Carryall, beige in color with wood grain siding. GUTHRIE believes it was either on Tuesday or Wednesday of that week that he purchased the vehicle for approximately $299. He could not recall the exact location of the dealership that sold him the vehicle, but it was near the Norwest Bank that they were GUTHRIE recalls that LANGAN dropped GUTHRIE off a few blocks from the car lot. They had previously observed the International and selected it as the getaway vehicle. GUTHRIE, when he arrived at the car lot, walked right up to that particular vehicle. He was met by the seller whom he described as a white male, 5'6" tall, with short, dirty blond hair. GUTHRIE believes he was wearing glasses and was in his midforties in age. In addition, a younger woman with dark hair was in the office of the car lot. GUTHRIE, who had the money at the time, gave the seller approximately $320 mostly in $50 bills. After paying for the International, GUTHRIE followed by LANGAN in the maroon station wagon, drove past the Norwest Bank located on L Street and parked the vehicle in a 24-hour grocery store located down the street from the bank. He believes that the grocery store was near 72nd and L streets.

During this first week, they continued to case banks but were never "locked and loaded." He recalls traveling all over Omaha looking at various banks. During this first week, they changed motels a number of times. He recalls staying at a motel located at the Avoca Exit in Iowa, which he believes was Exit 40, and at a motel located on Exit 46, what he believed was Walnut, Iowa. None of the motels were franchised, but were privately owned. He described the Avoca motel as located just off the Interstate situated down the hill from the freeway. The motel was a single story structure with outside room entrances. He recalls that there was an Amoco gas station located next to the motel. GUTHRIE obtained two motel rooms toward the midsection of the motel. The managers lived in the two-story section of the motel. The Walnut, Iowa motel was again a privately owned motel located right off the Interstate on the left side near a small restaurant.

They continued to case more banks in Omaha, Nebraska, and narrowed their selections to two banks; the Norwest Bank and the Lincoln Savings Bank (LSB) located near a major television station. GUTHRIE believes the LSB was located around 84th Street with a boat dealership, possibly a Bayliner Dealership, across the street. After one week staying in and around the Omaha, Nebraska, area, they returned back to Pittsburg, Kansas. Prior to leaving for Pittsburg, Kansas, GUTHRIE parked the International Carryall at an apartment complex located between 42nd and 50th Street off of L Street. The apartment complex was located down the street from the original Norwest Bank that they had selected. After returning to Pittsburg, Kansas, LANGAN immediately left to meet his girlfriend in Kansas City, Missouri, driving the blue Ford Extended Van. GUTHRIE remained in Pittsburg, Kansas.

The following Monday LANGAN and GUTHRIE returned to Omaha, Nebraska, driving the marcon Chevrolet station wagon. They stayed at the same motel where the girl had the pet monkey. He believed this was either Exit 409 or Exit 420. On Tuesday and Wednesday of that week, they were "locked and loaded" and ready to rob the Norwest Bank. GUTHRIE recalled being "locked and loaded" on several occasions for the Norwest Bank, and the Lincoln Savings Bank.

The plan was for both GUTHRIE and LANGAN to go into the bank with LANGAN vaulting the teller counter and GUTHRIE remaining in the lobby with the IED. GUTHRIE called off the bank robbery attempts at both locations due to there being too much traffic in and out of the bank. On Thursday, following the aborted attempts at the Lincoln Savings Bank, they decided to search for another bank. On Friday, they continued searching for a bank driving all over the Omaha, Nebraska, area. They selected the NEBRASKA STATE SAVINGS BANK as the next possible target. This bank was chosen because of its accessibility and the proximity to major thoroughfares.

With regards to the aborted attempts at the NORWEST BANK and LINCOLN SAVINGS BANK, GUTHRIE noted that they picked up the International Carryall from the apartment complex before attempting to rob these banks. On the Friday after the aborted attempts, GUTHRIE returned the International Carryall to the same apartment complex located near NORWEST BANK. GUTHRIE and LANGAN then left the Omaha, Nebraska, area on Friday night and decided to come back to Omaha, Nebraska, on the following Monday. When they returned to Pittsburg, Kansas, again LANGAN immediately traveled up to Kansas City, Missouri, to meet his girlfriend while GUTHRIE remained at the safe house in Pittsburg, Kansas. On the following Monday, GUTHRIE and LANGAN, driving in the blue Ford extended van, returned to Omaha, Nebraska, and stayed at the motel located at the Avoca, Iowa, exit. At this time they may have started to switch back and forth between the Avoca exit motel and the Walnut, Iowa, exit motel.

On Tuesday before the bank robbery, GUTHRIE and LANGAN left the motel and went to pick up the International Carryall which had been parked at the apartment complex near the NORWEST GUTHRIE recalls that they were both "locked and loaded." With GUTHRIE driving the getaway vehicle, LANGAN followed in the blue Ford extended van. They drove to an apartment building located approximately 500' from the NEBRASKA STATE BANK. He recalls that LANGAN backed the Ford extended van into a parking space. GUTHRIE and LANGAN then drove together to the bank in the International. As they exited their vehicle to go into the bank, a white male came out of the leased office space adjacent the bank. GUTHRIE believed this was an insurance company. Instead of going into the bank GUTHRIE acted as though he was going to the back of the International to examine it. He was soon joined by Standing within hearing distance of GUTHRIE, was an elderly white male in a suit, white shirt and tie smoking a cigarette. This was sometime between 10:30am and 11:00am. GUTHRIE decided to abort this attempt and they returned to the apartment complex. Guthrie noted the apartment complex was located up the hill from the bank. They left the International Carryall at the apartment complex and drove to Walnut, Iowa, and checked into the motel sometime around 3:00pm that afternoon. GUTHRIE registered for two rooms, but could not recall the name he had used.

The next day, GUTHRIE and LANGAN drove to the apartment complex where the International Carryall was parked. "Locked and loaded," they drove to the bank and made two separate passes. On the third pass, they stopped and backed up near to what he thought was a STATE FARM INSURANCE AGENCY, located adjacent to the bank. They exited the getaway vehicle and went into the bank. As they entered the bank, LANGAN immediately vaulted the teller counter and shouted something to the effect of "No cops No hostages." LANGAN carried a broom into the bank that was left in the vehicle by the previous owner. GUTHRIE could not explain why LANGAN brought the broom into the bank. GUTHRIE followed Langan in and remained near the entrance to the bank and started yelling statements in a Serbian language. He took out the IED and GUTHRIE believed that in addition to leaving the IED behind, he may have dropped the dark bag which had previously contained the bomb device. They were in the bank approximately 45 to 60 seconds. Again, GUTHRIE recalls speaking in his Serbian language a second time before exiting the bank.

GUTHRIE explained that LANGAN was dressed in a long sleeve work shirt, light blue in color. He was wearing a vest under the shirt and dark blue work pants. He was also wearing jungle boots, a white construction hard hat, large wire framed sunglasses, and was carrying a Taurus 9mm, and a light colored canvas bag. GUTHRIE believed that LANGAN was purchasing a number of canvas bags from somewhere in the Kansas City, Missouri, area. He believed that some of the bags had bank names on them. GUTHRIE indicated that he was dressed in a T-shirt, which was over a bullet proof vest. He was wearing dark blue work pants, jungle boots, and a white construction hard hat. He was also wearing sunglasses. In addition to carrying an Astra 9mm pistol, he also was carrying a blue or black handbag with handles, which contained the bomb device. GUTHRIE believed that he had a police scanner attached to his belt.

GUTHRIE recalls that as they left the bank, the same individual from the insurance company was standing outside the office smoking a cigarette. GUTHRIE described him as a white male, fifties in age, 5'11" tall, with a heavy build. They then got into the International and GUTHRIE drove straight up the street to where the blue Ford extended van was parked. drove down the hill and took the next right. He recalls that he left an inert or dummy hand grenade in the glove box of the International. He noted that he had pulled the pin and attached it to the door of the glove box so when someone opened it, it would appear as though the pin had been pulled. He believed that the dummy grenade was gray in color. As they left the area, he recalls winding around different streets in the area until he arrived at Blondo Street. They then traveled to Maple Street, proceeded east bound and joined I-680. They continued eastbound on I-680 to I-29 and drove south to Pittsburg, Kansas.

GUTHRIE recalled that when he purchased the International Carryall he used a city other that Omaha, and was asked if the city of Pappillion sounded familiar. GUTHRIE then recalled that he selected this city and address prior to making the purchase.

At this point in the interview, GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the bank surveillance video taken during the bank robbery on August, 3, 1994. GUTHRIE positively identified himself as the person who remained in the lobby, and indicated that the person who vaulted the counter, was LANGAN. GUTHRIE signed and dated this photograph.

10) Boatman's Bank of Kansas, 6879 West 91st. Overland Park, Kansas, September 21, 1994:

GUTHRIE stated that both he and LANGAN were at the Pittsburg safe-house and LANGAN, who was also spending time in Kansas City, had already cased the Overland Park bank.

The day before the robbery they drove (about two hours) in GUTHRIE's maroon Chevrolet station wagon with wood side trim to case the bank again.

(This maroon Chevrolet station wagon was registered in Kansas in the name of GEORGE TUCKER and G.T.E. Fibre Optics and was later given to KEVIN (LNU) in April or May, 1995.)

The bank was located in a strip mall, and on the day of the robbery they parked on the north end of the parking lot by a grocery store and entered the bank around 10:30am through the front door. LANGAN vaulted the counter and stated, "No alarms, no hostages," and rifled three teller positions placing the money into a canvas bag. At the time of the robbery there were three employees, no customers in the bank, and GUTHRIE placed the IED. a black brief case, on a desk near the front entrance.

GUTHRIE called out to LANGAN, "Andale" and recalls that someone drove up to the bank and pulled away while he was standing on the banking floor.

They both exited the bank, taking off their hard hats and makeshift camouflage masks, turned right and ran along the store fronts to the maroon station wagon. They left the area via State Line Road and at one point pulled into a parking lot where GUTHRIE removed a switch license plate that he had attached to the original plate with double faced tape. GUTHRIE had stolen this license plate about a month earlier from a vehicle that was being repaired at an Overland Park gas station.

They returned directly to Pittsburg, Kansas on I-435 and I-71 and of the approximately $13,000 proceeds, took $4,000 each and left the rest for the "company."

LANGAN stayed for two days, went to Kansas City and then returned.

During the robbery GUTHRIE wore a white hard hat, and an improvised camouflage mask with eye holes cut out, blue work pants, dark shirt, boots, green aviator type gloves and carried his 9mm Astra pistol. LANGAN also wore a white hard hat and camouflage mask, work shirt, and carried a 9mm Taurus pistol.

The IED had been fashioned by LANGAN before the robbery while in Pittsburg from a black brief case. GUTHRIE recalled that it contained GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the IED used during this robbery and identified it as the one LANGAN had made. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph.

GUTHRIE stated that he did not recall if either he or LANGAN set the timer on the IED before entering the bank.

GUTHRIE was shown photographs of the black brief case and IED, identified them as the IED that LANGAN made for this robbery, and then signed and dated the photographs.

11) Columbus National Bank, 6121 East Livingston Avenue, Columbus, Ohio, October 25, 1994:

(Prepared	by	SA

GUTHRIE stated that he, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) arrived in the Columbus, Ohio area in the early part of October 1994. The three of them had traveled from ___residence in Macungie, PA where they had planned a bank robbery in Columbus. The three were driving in GUTHRIE'S blue Ford van. Upon arriving in the area GUTHRIE believed they stayed in a motel on the east side of Columbus. The motel was off I-70 on Route 37. The motel was south of I-70 on Route 37, was single level, red brick with white doors and had approximately 40 rooms. The office of the motel was located in the middle of the rooms and the motel had a live-in manager. GUTHRIE checked in and rented two rooms with cash. During this three or four day time frame they cased banks in the northwest part of Columbus, near Bethel and Henderson Roads.

GUTHRIE purchased a getaway vehicle on this trip from a car lot off I-70. The car lot was located south of I-70 and west of their motel by one or two exits. GUTHRIE believed the name of the lot was "The Red Barn." A gray Ford 1975-1977, believed to be a Galaxy, was purchased for $500 cash. The vehicle was purchased from a husband and wife in their 50's. GUTHRIE was given a 30 day tag for the vehicle. The vehicle was placed behind Bethel Center in an apartment complex after casing the banks.

During this first trip Guthrie believed that he, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) were "locked and loaded" on several banks near Bethel and Henderson Roads including a Society Bank. Prior to the weekend, the three left Columbus and returned to their Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house.

Prior to the robbery in Columbus, Ohio, LANGAN built an IED for use in the Columbus robbery. The device consisted of a

The device was constructed at the Pittsburg, Kansas safe-house.

GUTHRIE believed that the used in the device was found on the ground in Cincinnati. Ohio. After being shown a photograph, GUTHRIE remembered being part of the device. GUTHRIE identified this device from the photograph and signed and dated it.

On the following Monday, GUTHRIE, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) returned to Columbus, OH. GUTHRIE believed that they stayed on the west side of Columbus on this trip. The motel was located south of I-70 near London, Ohio. He believed that it was located near the intersection of Route 42 and Route 142. The motel was very old, single level, white brick and possibly near a tire dealership. GUTHRIE rented two rooms and stayed approximately three or four days. During this trip the three were driving GUTHRIE'S blue Ford van.

Like the previous trip, GUTHRIE, LANGAN, and SCOTT (LNU) cased banks near Bethel and Henderson Roads. They used the already purchased getaway vehicle located behind Bethel Center. GUTHRIE believed they were "locked and loaded" on several banks. The three returned to Pittsburg, KS for the second time.

During the weekend prior to the robbery, the three returned to Columbus, Ohio. On this trip the three returned driving both the blue Ford van and GUTHRIE'S maroon 1984-1985 Chevrolet station wagon with wood paneling. They brought two vehicles because they planned to go to different places after the robbery.

Upon arriving in Columbus, Ohio they again stayed at the motel on the east side of Columbus. GUTHRIE believes they were in town for two days. The three of them remembered a bank on the east side of Columbus that they saw on their first trip. This bank appealed to LANGAN so they decided to make a run at this bank.

GUTHRIE recalled that during one of the three trips to Columbus, he purchased a rifle from a gun store located 200' to 300' from the east side motel. He purchased a .22 caliber, semiautomatic rifle in the name of HARRINGTON for approximately $225. GUTHRIE used an Ohio drivers license for the purchase.

GUTHRIE was then shown the original ATF Form 4473 for the purchase of a .22 caliber long rifle, Feather AT 22 rifle, serial number #B6157, on October 24, 1994, from the Buzz Inn Sporting Goods, 10640 Lancaster Road SW, Hebron, Ohio. weapon was purchased in the name of JOSHUA S. HARRINGTON, DOB 5/14/64, 2467 Hazecrest Lane, Cincinnati, Ohio 45239, Ohio Driver's license #R13410832. GUTHRIE advised that this firearm was purchased by him on October 24, 1994 in an alias that he has used in the past. GUTHRIE then signed and dated a copy of this form identifying his purchase.

On the morning of October 25, 1994, the three retrieved the getaway vehicle from the west side of Columbus and headed for the bank in the vicinity of Brice Road. GUTHRIE recalled that the bank was square, brick, had a front and back entrance and was located between a McDonalds Restaurant and another bank. bank was north of I-70 off the Brice Road exit and was near the corner of Brice Road and Livingston Avenue. The bank also had a rear driveway that exited into a large parking lot. GUTHRIE was shown a photograph and he identified the photograph as Columbus National Bank, Columbus, Ohio.

The plan prior to the robbery was for GUTHRIE to drive the getaway vehicle, LANGAN to vault the teller counter and gather the money and for SCOTT (LNU) to control the lobby and place the explosive device.

At approximately 11:00am, GUTHRIE, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU), "locked and loaded," approached the bank in the previously purchased getaway vehicle with GUTHRIE driving. GUTHRIE pulled into the bank parking lot and pulled into a parking spot facing west, toward McDonalds Restaurant. LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) exited the vehicle and entered the bank through the front door. was wearing a construction type hard hat, camouflage face mask, gloves, jungle boots and sunglasses. SCOTT (LNU) was wearing the same disguise. During the robbery LANGAN vaulted the teller counter and rifled teller positions. SCOTT (LNU) stayed in the lobby and shouted commands, some of which were in Spanish. SCOTT

(LNU) also placed the explosive device in the lobby of the bank. LANGAN dropped his hard hat and face mask in the bank and told GUTHRIE that he was afraid that someone may have seen his face.

After leaving the bank, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) entered the getaway vehicle and GUTHRIE exited the bank parking lot through the rear exit. They drove through the parking lot of a vacant shopping center and turned right to go to the switch site. They entered an apartment complex directly behind the shopping center and abandoned the vehicle near a small white foot bridge. The three walked across the bridge and entered GUTHRIE'S blue Ford van and drove toward Brice Road and eventually to I-70. They drove directly to the motel on the east side of Columbus where GUTHRIE'S maroon station wagon was located. GUTHRIE then got into his maroon Chevrolet station wagon and the three caravaned to Macungie, PA. The getaway vehicle was still in the same spot where they left it when SCOTT (LNU) drove by the area approximately one month later.

GUTHRIE recalled that he wore no disguise during the robbery, carried a scanner and wore a protective vest, and was armed with his Astra 9mm pistol. LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) were armed and wearing their vests but GUTHRIE could not recall what weapons they had with them.

They obtained $3,100 to $3,200 from the robbery which was split $1,000 each, and the rest was used for gas and food.

GUTHRIE believed that the hard hats were purchased from Lowe's Hardware in Joplin, Missouri, St. Louis, Missouri, or Pittsburg, Kansas. The camouflage face masks were purchased from a surplus store five miles north of Pittsburg, KS on Route 169. GUTHRIE had no other information on the purchase of any other components or items.

On Sunday, before the bank robbery that occurred on November 11, 1994, GUTHRIE and LANGAN left Pittsburg, Kansas, driving the blue Ford extended van. They traveled north on Interstate 35 (I-35) to the Des Moines, Iowa, area. When they arrived in the area, they traveled west on I-80 and checked into the SCOTTISH INN motel located at the Adair Exit. recalls that the Inn was located near an AMOCO gas station. GUTHRIE, using an alias name, registered for two rooms located towards the end of the motel. The motel had two floors and was L-shaped. Initially, they stayed on the second floor but GUTHRIE noted that after the first night at the motel, they stayed on the first floor.

The next day they drove to Des Moines, Iowa, and began casing banks. They immediately found the EAST DES MOINES NATIONAL BANK located on the east side of Des Moines. GUTHRIE explained that the bank was a good target because it was small, had an open parking lot, late hours, and was adjacent to a freeway. GUTHRIE noted that the bank was located near a furniture store and shared its parking lot. They parked at the furniture store and watched the bank for approximately 30 minutes.

On Monday or Tuesday, GUTHRIE purchased the getaway vehicle from a used car dealer in Des Moines, Iowa. LANGAN parked on the east side of the car lot approximately one block away. GUTHRIE exited the van and walked to the car lot. dealer showed GUTHRIE a vehicle which GUTHRIE described as a Pontiac station wagon, yellow in color, with wood siding. GUTHRIE looked at the vehicle, told the seller he would take it, but would have to return in approximately one hour. GUTHRIE then walked back to the van occupied by LANGAN and picked up the necessary cash to pay for the vehicle. GUTHRIE recalls when he left the used car lot, he turned right in order to get back to where LANGAN was parked. GUTHRIE returned back to the car lot and paid the dealer. He believes he gave the dealer approximately $320 mostly in $50 and $20 denominations in a white envelope. GUTHRIE was wearing a baseball cap, sunglasses, jeans, a white T-shirt, jungle boots, and may have had a light mustache at the time. GUTHRIE utilized a west side Des Moines address for filling out the necessary paperwork. Previously, GUTHRIE noted he had looked up the address at a phone booth when they had stopped for coffee. While in the office, the dealer gave GUTHRIE the temporary tag which was put on the back window of the station wagon. He described the seller as a white male, 6' tall, dark hair, 45 years of age, with a medium build.

After purchasing the car, GUTHRIE recalls turning left out of the car lot and driving to a 24-hour grocery store/supermarket located three to four miles north of the target bank. GUTHRIE, followed by LANGAN, drove to the supermarket and left the station wagon in the parking lot.

On Wednesday and Thursday, GUTHRIE advised that they were "locked and loaded" and staged in the same supermarket parking lot. On Wednesday, GUTHRIE driving the station wagon and LANGAN driving the blue Ford van, drove to an area three to four blocks east of the bank and parked the van in the parking lot of a DAV store. As they approached the bank, they noticed that there was a police car involved in a traffic stop at the gas station located near the bank. GUTHRIE, at this point, decided to abort the bank robbery on this particular day.

On the next day, following the same procedure, they overheard on the police scanner a domestic dispute in the vicinity of the DAV store which they had selected as their switch site. After hearing the radio traffic concerning the domestic dispute, GUTHRIE and LANGAN, who were in the getaway vehicle and "locked and loaded," returned to their blue Ford van at the DAV parking lot and left the area. Again, the bank robbery attempt on Thursday was aborted and put off until the next day.

On Friday, which GUTHRIE believed was Veterans' Day, November 11, 1994, they suited up at approximately 9:30am at the same 24-hour grocery store/supermarket. LANGAN, driving the blue Ford van, followed GUTHRIE in the getaway vehicle to the switch site at the DAV parking lot. As they left the DAV parking lot "locked and loaded" in the getaway vehicle they noticed another traffic stop near the gas station. They then waited an additional 20 minutes before attempting to rob the bank. about this time, they heard police or radio traffic over the police scanner regarding a gas leak in the area. Both he and LANGAN thought that this would be a good time to rob the bank due to the fact the police would be pre-occupied with the gas leak. GUTHRIE and LANGAN then drove to the bank parking lot and parked the vehicle adjacent to the bank. LANGAN was the first one in the bank and with his gun drawn, vaulted the teller counter. GUTHRIE recalls a white male standing in the lobby area and hearing LANGAN tell him to get down. GUTHRIE recalls seeing a lady in the office just sitting at her desk, staring at what was going on in the main area of the bank. GUTHRIE, who remained in the lobby area of the bank, then placed the IED down near the door of the bank. He recalls speaking in a Serbian language. GUTHRIE took the IED out of a beige colored canvas bag. After LANGAN had emptied the teller drawers, they immediately exited the bank shouting, "Long live Serbia," in English.

Once they exited the bank, they both got into the Pontiac station wagon with GUTHRIE driving. As they left the parking lot GUTHRIE recalls seeing a white male getting out of his car and going into the bank. They drove southbound over the railroad tracks before turning left on a side street which then took them to the street where the DAV parking lot was located. Once they arrived at the DAV parking lot, they exited the station wagon, got into the Ford Extended Van and drove back towards the bank. Before arriving at the bank, they turned right and drove up a street, until they reached Euclid Avenue, then to I-35, east on I-235, to I-80 westbound, and finally to I-80 south, back to Pittsburg, Kansas.

GUTHRIE recalls that they robbed the EAST DES MOINES NATIONAL BANK sometime just before 11:00 A.M. with the total take of approximately $28,000. LANGAN was dressed in blue work pants, jungle boots, light colored work shirt, white construction hard hat, blast jacket (dark blue in color), bullet proof vest, and sunglasses. He was also wearing a gray colored wig under his hard hat which was shoulder length. In addition, he was wearing black leather gloves, carrying a police scanner, light colored canvas bag and his usual Taurus 9mm semi-automatic pistol. GUTHRIE was wearing blue work pants, jungle boots, bullet proof vest, and was wearing a blue jacket with unknown writing on the back of the jacket. He was also wearing a black colored shoulder length wig, T-shirt, construction hard hat, and dark colored wired rim glasses. GUTHRIE had in his possession, an Astra 9mm semi-automatic pistol and a canvas bag containing the IED.

Once they returned to Pittsburg, Kansas, they split up the proceeds. GUTHRIE and LANGAN each took $7,000 with the rest of the money going to the "company."

GUTHRIE noted that at this point in their bank robbery spree, LANGAN was basically calling all the shots in the robbery department. GUTHRIE described LANGAN as the technical advisor. GUTHRIE was the administrative advisor who took care of all the "paper." By "paper" GUTHRIE was referring to the purchase of getaway vehicles, registering at hotels/motels and any other required paperwork.

GUTHRIE was told that the name he used to purchase the getaway vehicle was JOHN VAN BUREN, and then recalled that he did use the last name of a president to purchase the vehicle. When he was told that the address listed was on West 110th Street, he recalled the address due to the fact it was on the west side of Des Moines.

13) Third Federal Savings and Loan, 6849 Pearl Road, Middleburg Heights, Ohio, December 9, 1994:

GUTHRIE advised that he, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), arrived in the Cleveland area driving in the blue Ford van and stayed at a small motel in Akron, Ohio, off I-77, Buchetel Avenue exit (on right side of exit) and took two rooms for cash for one night. They arrived on the Monday before the robbery.

The next day they cased several banks, including a Society Bank near the Third Federal Savings and Loan, and others in Shaker Heights and Village Heights.

That night they stayed in a motel off US 20 across from a mall in Ashtabula, Ohio, east of Cleveland, and stayed in two rooms until Thursday night.

GUTHRIE and SCOTT purchased a blue Chevrolet station wagon, circa 1983 for $800 from a used car lot at the Cleveland city limits off US 42. This vehicle was sold to them by a white female, age mid 20s, whose husband may have owned the car lot. GUTHRIE had taken the station wagon on a test drive the day before with the husband/owner who had asked for a driver's license. GUTHRIE said that he did not have it with him and returned the next day with SCOTT (LNU) to purchase the vehicle, obtain temporary tags, and then store it at an apartment complex at Bagley Road and US 42.

GUTHRIE stated that LANGAN had previously purchased a Santa suit and elf hats for $25-$30 at a costume store near a Kansas City Kroger supermarket off I-635, Exit 5, State Avenue.

LANGAN made an IED in the hotel room in Ashtabula consisting of and some other items, and placed it in a Christmas stocking.

The day before the robbery they did a dry-run on the bank and also stopped at a Irish Grocery Store near where the Chevrolet station wagon was purchased on US 42, and LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) bought some tapes by the "Irish Wolf Tones" band.

On the morning of the robbery they picked up the station wagon and parked the blue Ford van at the switch site in the parking lot by the Sears store, that was part of a mall, and about a 1/4 mile from the bank.

GUTHRIE, driving the wagon, dropped off LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) near the front of the bank which was located within a small strip mall, and then drove around to the back door with SCOTT (LNU). GUTHRIE and LANGAN were in radio contact and GUTHRIE also had a scanner. When LANGAN entered the front, SCOTT (LNU) who was at the back door, entered the rear entrance when GUTHRIE honked his horn as a signal to go in.

LANGAN, wearing the full Santa suit with possibly a grey wig, and carrying a canvas bag, and KEVIN (LNU), wearing a ski mask and elf hat, vaulted the teller counter and began rifling the teller positions. SCOTT (LNU), also wearing a ski mask and elf hat, controlled the main floor and placed the IED.

GUTHRIE stated that as soon as SCOTT (LNU) entered the bank, he heard the alarm over the scanner. Within about 45 seconds all three exited the rear door and as GUTHRIE drove to the switch site he could hear the approaching sirens in the background.

At the switch site they entered the wagon, exited possibly onto Silver Spring Road, turned right on Brook Park Road, and via I-480, returned to Pittsburg, Kansas.

They netted around $7,400 and split about $1,500 each, keeping the rest for the "company" and expenses for future robberies.

All four wore protective vests and were armed during the robbery, GUTHRIE with his 9mm Astra, LANGAN with his 9mm Taurus, SCOTT (LNU) with a Ruger P-89, 9mm pistol, and KEVIN (LNU), with LANGAN's 9mm Tucarov pistol.

GUTHRIE stated that while in Pittsburg, Kansas, following the Middleburg Heights, Ohio, robbery, LANGAN suggested that they try St. Louis, Missouri. There were many reasons for going to St. Louis, to include: That they had been through the St. Louis area many times in their travels during which they had driven around casing banks; was from St. Louis; and they were "burning out" Iowa. GUTHRIE is not aware of any was from St. Louis; relatives or associates that LANGAN still has in the St. Louis area, although his current girlfriend was originally from St. Louis.

Continuation of FD-302 of RICHARD LEE GUTHRIE, JR.

LANGAN selected the Commercial Bank of West Port as the target for the next robbery. They had looked at a couple of Boatmen's Banks in the area, however, LANGAN, who was in charge of selection, decided on the Commercial Bank. GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the Commercial Bank of West Port, which he identified as the bank they robbed on December 27, 1994, after which he signed and dated the back of the photograph.

Approximately a week before the robbery, SCOTT (LNU) purchased the getaway vehicle, which GUTHRIE initially described as an older model, bluish green Buick, four door, from a used car lot in Alton, Illinois. SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), LANGAN and GUTHRIE had all traveled to Alton in the blue Ford van. SCOTT (LNU) was dropped off, selected the car and test drove it, arranging to come back later to complete the purchase.

On the second trip to the car lot, SCOTT (LNU) had to see a lady from the licensing bureau, who completed some paperwork that SCOTT (LNU) signed. A temporary tag was then placed in the rear window of the car. SCOTT (LNU) used the last name of THOMPSON to purchase the vehicle, using a driver's license that GUTHRIE had made for him as identification. Although GUTHRIE could not recall the first name used by SCOTT (LNU), he indicated that it was probably on an Arkansas Driver's License.

SCOTT (LNU) was wearing a jacket, dark T-shirt, blue jeans and jungle boots when he went to purchase the car. jungle boots had been recently purchased at a Military Surplus Store located just west of Rolla, Missouri on the north side of I-44.

GUTHRIE was then shown a photograph of the Oldsmobile Delta 88 recovered in connection with the Commercial Bank of West Port robbery and immediately identified it as the vehicle that SCOTT (LNU) had purchased from the car lot in Alton, Illinois. He signed and dated the back of the photograph to confirm his identification. GUTHRIE was also shown a composite photograph prepared in connection with the purchase of the Oldsmobile, however, he indicated that he could not identify the subject depicted.

After taking possession of the car, SCOTT (LNU) parked it at an apartment complex located near the bank.

GUTHRIE then viewed a Rand McNally map of St. Louis, Missouri, and located the Commercial Bank of West Port on the map. He marked the location and placed his initials and date next to the mark, later signing and dating the front of the map.

The robbery of the Commercial Bank was originally planned for Christmas Eve, so, after parking the Oldsmobile in the apartment complex near the bank, SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), LANGAN and GUTHRIE all returned to the motel where they were staying. After reviewing a map of the State of Missouri, GUTHRIE indicated that it was an old motel located at exit 240 in St. Clair, Missouri. GUTHRIE stated that to reach the motel from St. Louis; travel west on I-44 to exit 240, turn left after exiting, and go approximately 1500' to the "wooden motel on the left." They rented two rooms, with two staying in each room. GUTHRIE could not recall the name they used to rent the rooms, but opined that the Blue Ford Van with Iowa license plates would be on the registration.

GUTHRIE indicated that prior to purchasing the car for this robbery, they had taken a couple of trips to St. Louis to scout out the area. On these trips they would leave Pittsburg, Kansas early in the morning, drive to St. Louis, conduct their surveillance, and return to Pittsburg that night.

After staying at the motel in St. Clair for a couple of nights, probably December 21 and 22, 1994, the foursome checked out of the motel and prepared for the robbery. Although GUTHRIE initially indicated that the robbery was planned on the night of Christmas Eve, after reviewing the dates he concluded that it was the Friday before Christmas, as Christmas was on a Sunday.

They sat in the motel lot across the street from the bank "locked and loaded," however, decided that it was "too dead" and decided to attempt the robbery the following business day. They left the area, leaving the Oldsmobile in a nearby apartment complex, and returned to Pittsburg, Kansas, in the Ford van. On December 26, 1994, they returned and checked back into the St. Clair motel, renting two rooms for two people each. They were again driving the blue Ford van.

On the morning of December 27, 1994, they checked out of the motel and drove to St. Louis where they retrieved the Oldsmobile. SCOTT (LNU) was driving the getaway car, with KEVIN (LNU) and LANGAN planning to go into the bank. GUTHRIE took the Ford van to the switch site location, which he described as follows:

From the Commercial Bank, make a right turn on Progress Parkway, drive about 100' and turn left into the driveway of a vacant building, which sits on a hill. The switch site was behind the building. After the robbery they would leave on Marine Avenue, never going back by the bank. The vacant building was a good location for the switch, as it was hidden by a big bush in the front.

While GUTHRIE was waiting at the switch site, he monitored the Maryland Heights Police dispatcher on the Bearcat scanner in his van. SCOTT (LNU), who was monitoring the St. Louis County Police dispatcher on his scanner, parked in the motel lot across from the bank, near an exit with a traffic light. GUTHRIE indicated that he could physically see the Oldsmobile from his location at the switch site, while they were waiting to do the robbery. He also had communication with all of the participants over a two-way radio.

KEVIN (LNU) was dressed in a white construction hat, wig, sunglasses, jacket, jeans and black jungle boots, and was armed with a P-89 Ruger. LANGAN was wearing his blue police jacket, sunglasses, blue work pants, green jungle boots and a blond wig, and was armed with a Taraus 9mm. SCOTT (LNU) had an M-11 in the getaway car.

While they were waiting for the "right time" to do the robbery, an armored car appeared unexpectedly and made a delivery at the bank. Shortly after the armored car left the bank, they went ahead with the robbery. Although GUTHRIE could not see the bank, he understood that LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) entered the bank, while SCOTT (LNU) waited in the getaway vehicle.

GUTHRIE indicated that they carried an IED consisting of | was also under the impression from LANGAN, who made the device, that due to the circuitry used, it could not explode; however, GUTHRIE admitted that he was not positive of this fact.

After leaving the bank, SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU) and LANGAN returned to the switch site in the Oldsmobile, where they quickly transferred everything to the Ford van. With GUTHRIE driving, they turned right onto Marine Avenue, made a left on McKelvey Parkway, made another left on Page Boulevard (Highway D) and joined I-270 northbound. They circled the entire city on I-270, to I-255 in Illinois, to I-270, and back to I-44. After reaching I-44 they headed west returning to Pittsburg, Kansas.

During the initial portions of this trip, GUTHRIE continued to monitor the Maryland Heights Police channel, while SCOTT (LNU) monitored the St. Louis County Police frequencies.

$32,000 in currency and $15,000 in checks during this robbery. Although GUTHRIE burned the checks as soon as they returned to Pittsburg, he recalled that there was one large check in the amount of approximately $3,000 made out to an Hispanic Organization. The other checks were primarily for a restaurant he recalled as Patricks'.

The money was split with KEVIN (LNU), SCOTT (LNU), LANGAN and GUTHRIE each receiving between $4,000 and $5,000. The remainder went to the "company" to cover expenses for future operations. GUTHRIE believes that KEVIN (LNU) and SCOTT (LNU) gave $1,000 from their share of the proceeds.
Although LANGAN and GUTHRIE would also occasionally give money to GUTHRIE did not believe that they gave any of their share of the Commercial Bank of West Port robbery proceeds.

GUTHRIE was then shown a surveillance photograph taken during the course of the robbery of a subject behind the teller counter. He identified this individual as LANGAN, confirming that identification by signing and dating the photograph.

A copy of an artist's sketch depicting a white male with a mustache and wearing a blue ball cap was then shown to GUTHRIE, who identified the individual as SCOTT (LNU). GUTHRIE described SCOTT (LNU) as being approximately 5'8" to 5'9" in height and having a stocky build. When told that the composite was prepared with the assistance of a witness inside the bank, GUTHRIE reiterated that although it appeared to be SCOTT (LNU), SCOTT (LNU) was not known to have entered the bank. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph to acknowledge his identification.

Next, GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the IED and a canister recovered from the lobby of the Commercial Bank of West Port following the robbery. GUTHRIE immediately identified it as the device made by LANGAN, however corrected his previous statement that the device contained He stated that after seeing the photograph he recalled that LANGAN had used an that he had picked up while they were in the St. Louis area. The IED was partially constructed at their safehouse in Pittsburg, Kansas, with the and contents being added at the motel room in St. Clair, Missouri.

The canister in the photograph was identified by GUTHRIE as one of a couple of cases of similar canisters they had purchased from a gun show in Indianapolis, Indiana. originally thought that the canisters were smoke grenades and based on a recommendation from SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU), they planned to start using smoke grenades as an additional diversion. LANGAN had sanded and repainted the canister in Kansas before coming to St. Louis, using "OD" green, which GUTHRIE indicated was a military green color. The writing on the outside of the canisters was obliterated during the sanding.

KEVIN (LNU) purportedly dropped the canister during the robbery, but it did not produce any smoke as two tabs had to be pulled and he only pulled one. They later found out that the canisters contained a pesticide and not smoke.

GUTHRIE was then shown a picture depicting a red canvas bag with straps laying on the floor of the bank's lobby. GUTHRIE identified this as the bag used by KEVIN (LNU) to carry the IED and canister into the bank. The bag was purchased by LANGAN at a Franklin Crafts store in Kansas City, Missouri. GUTHRIE signed and dated the back of this photograph.

One additional photograph was shown to GUTHRIE, this being of a blue bank bag, with the inscription, "Commercial Bank of West Port," etc. on the front. He identified this picture as being representative of several bags that KEVIN (LNU) and LANGAN obtained during the robbery. The bags were taken back to Pittsburg, Kansas following the robbery and burned by GUTHRIE in a burn barrel behind the safe-house. Several of the locks from these bags, which would not burn, were taken by LANGAN and GUTHRIE on a trip to Arizona. During the trip they would throw a couple of the locks from selective bridges as they crossed rivers, burying the remainder at their campsite in Apache Junction, Arizona. The campsite is located in the National Forest on the way to Roosevelt Dam. This photograph was also signed and dated by GUTHRIE.

15) Boatmen's Bank, 3400 Westown Parkway, West Des Moines, Iowa, March 29, 1995:

On the Friday morning before the bank robbery at the BOATMEN'S BANK on March 29, 1995, GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU) left the Pittsburg, Kansas, safe-house in the blue Ford extended van and traveled north on I-35 directly to Des Moines, Iowa, where they began casing banks. GUTHRIE recalled casing banks in Urbandale, Windsor Heights, and finally in Des Moines, Iowa, specifically, the BOATMEN'S BANK located on Army Post Road. The bank was located near the Des Moines Police Academy as well as a large mall. All four had decided that the BOATMEN'S BANK located on Army Post Road would be their target. In addition to believing that the bank was in a good location, LANGAN and SCOTT (LNU) thought that by robbing a bank so close to the police academy they would be making some type of political statement. After casing the BOATMEN'S BANK on Army Post Road, they traveled north on a heavily traveled four-lane street, which he believed was Southeast 14th Street, before arriving at I-235. They traveled west on I-235 to I-80 West, and exited at the DeSoto, Iowa, exit. SCOTT (LNU), using the alias, DANIEL LANE, registered for two rooms at this motel. The motel was located adjacent to a McDonald's and an Amoco station. There was a large sign at the exit showing rental rates of either $23.95 or $24.95. GUTHRIE and SCOTT stayed in one room while LANGAN and KEVIN stayed in the second room. They stayed several nights at this motel in the rooms farthest to the south on the back of the motel, possibly rooms #5 and #6.

The following day, all four traveled in the blue Ford extended van to Des Moines, to an area near a main intersection on Southeast 14th Street. It was decided that SCOTT (LNU) would purchase the getaway vehicle. GUTHRIE parked in the Walmart parking lot located on Southeast 14th Street. SCOTT (LNU) walked to a nearby used car lot located on the same side of the street as Walmart. SCOTT (LNU) purchased a four-door, white Buick LeSabre from this car lot. When SCOTT (LNU) returned, he advised he had used his Alabama drivers license in the name of DANIEL LANE to purchase the vehicle. GUTHRIE had previously made this drivers license for SCOTT (LNU) using SCOTT's photograph. dealer apparently made a copy of the drivers license before returning it to SCOTT (LNU). The dealer told SCOTT that another dealer in town had sold a getaway car to a bank robber and this dealer did not want that happening to him.

At this point in the interview, GUTHRIE was provided with a copy of the Alabama drivers license in the name of DANIEL LANE obtained from LEE'S Autoland, Southeast 14th Street, Des Moines, Iowa. GUTHRIE positively identified this Alabama drivers license, with SCOTT (LNU)'S photograph, as the same one he had made for SCOTT (LNU). According to GUTHRIE, SCOTT (LNU) sometimes wears prescription glasses and grows beards, goatees and mustaches. GUTHRIE signed and dated a copy of the drivers license.

After SCOTT (LNU) explained to GUTHRIE what had happened, they decided they were not going to use this vehicle as the getaway car. With SCOTT (LNU) driving the white Buick LeSabre and the other three in the blue Ford extended van, they drove to an apartment complex off I-235 in West Des Moines, Iowa. Guthrie believed it was the last exit before I-80, possibly 35th Street. After turning left on 35th Street from the exit ramp, they made a right turn near a school and parked the white LeSabre in the midsection of a large apartment complex. SCOTT (LNU) was going to return for the vehicle later but never attempted to pick it up due to the media publicity over the bank robbery. SCOTT (LNU) may have attempted to contact the dealer at a later time. GUTHRIE thinks the title to this vehicle was in an aluminum suitcase in his Columbus, Ohio, safe-house.

The following day, with LANGAN driving the blue Ford extended van, they all drove to Southeast 14th Street in Des Moines, and parked at a Kwik Shop gas station. As the three waited in the vehicle, GUTHRIE walked down to a small used car lot located on the right side of the road and looked at an orange or maroon Buick LeSabre parked on the lot. The seller of the vehicle was a Mexican male, well dressed, and well spoken. GUTHRIE was wearing a ball cap and sunglasses. GUTHRIE told the seller he was buying the vehicle for his cousin or his brother. They agreed on a $500 purchase price, after which, GUTHRIE told the Mexican male he would have to go get the money and return. GUTHRIE walked back to the van parked at the Kwik Shop and obtained approximately $500 in cash, mostly in $100 and $20 denominations. When he returned to the car lot, the seller was helping another person. GUTHRIE then handled all the necessary paperwork and obtained the temporary license plates. He did not show this individual any type of drivers license. After purchasing the getaway vehicle, GUTHRIE drove to an apartment complex located near the corner of Southeast 14th and Army Post Road, behind a K Mart store close to the Southridge Mall. GUTHRIE then walked to the K Mart store parking lot where he joined LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU), who were waiting in the Ford extended van.

On the Sunday prior to the bank robbery they decided to check out the West Des Moines, Iowa, area for a secondary target bank in the event the robbery of the Boatmen's Bank on Army Post Road did not work out. They cased two banks, located in West Des Moines, that were adjacent to each other. One of the banks was another Boatmen's Bank, and was located near a restaurant and a They all decided this would be the secondary target health club. bank. GUTHRIE believed these banks to be located off the same exit where they had dumped the white Buick LeSabre previously purchased by SCOTT (LNU).

On Monday, all four, "locked and loaded," left the motel at the DeSoto exit and drove to the maroon LeSabre getaway vehicle, which was parked at the apartment complex behind K Mart. GUTHRIE then drove this vehicle to the Southridge Mall parking lot, where he joined the other three. All four were then in the Buick LeSabre and proceeded to the nearby Boatmen's Bank parking lot. They attempted to get into the parking lot on two or three occasions, but aborted each attempt. On one occasion, GUTHRIE saw a policeman in his marked patrol unit go into the bank, possibly to cash a check. In another instance, they aborted their attempt when they noticed an older woman using a walker enter the bank. After two days of attempting to rob this bank, GUTHRIE called it off because too many things were going wrong and there was too much traffic in and out of the bank.

GUTHRIE stated that they attempted to rob the Boatmen's Bank on Army Post Road approximately six times before calling it off. At this point LANGAN decided it was time to head to West Des Moines and attempt to rob the secondary Boatman's Bank. They attempted one last time to rob the Boatmen's Bank on Army Post Road on Tuesday, but as they pulled into the Southridge Mall parking lot, GUTHRIE noticed someone staring at them in a suspicious manner and he immediately called it wiff.

On Sunday night before the bank robbery, GUTHRIE and the others had already checked out of the motel in DeSoto. At the end of the day, they traveled to Osceola, Iowa, and checked into a motel immediately adjacent to I-35. He recalled turning right off the exit and going to the motel, located approximately 500' up the road on the right side. The motel was L-shaped and they rented two rooms in a fictitious name. Again, GUTHRIE and SCOTT (LNU) stayed in the corner room of the motel while LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) stayed in the second room. GUTHRIE felt it was at this motel that he observed SCOTT (LNU) to the IED. SCOTT (LNU) also had purchased an Easter basket that contained grass and some Easter eggs. The IED was kept in SCOTT (LNU's) bag most of the time so GUTHRIE did not get a good look at the device.

On the following Tuesday, they again changed motels and stayed at the same motel in DeSoto. GUTHRIE thought they even stayed in the same rooms at this motel. On Tuesday, GUTHRIE took the maroon LeSabre to the same West Des Moines apartment in the area where the white LeSabre had been dumped previously.

On Wednesday, at approximately 7:00 or 7:30am, they all awoke and suited up for the robbery at the Boatman's Bank in West Des Moines. They traveled to West Des Moines and were ready to rob the bank at approximately 9:30am. After retrieving the maroon LeSabre from the apartment complex, they drove to the switch point, which was located in an office complex just behind a health spa located adjacent to the target bank. There was a hill which led to the health spa. After leaving the Ford extended van at this switch site, they all entered the maroon LeSabre, with SCOTT driving, GUTHRIE in the front passenger seat, and LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) in the back seat. Before going to the bank parking lot, they drove to the mall parking lot located across the street where they could easily observe the bank. drove in once in an attempt to rob the bank but observed an individual in a car talking on a cellular telephone. They called the robbery off at this point and returned to the mall parking lot.

Once this individual left the area, they returned and parked in front of the bank. SCOTT (LNU) remained in the getaway car and as GUTHRIE, LANGAN, and KEVIN (LNU) were going in the front door of the bank, GUTHRIE observed SCOTT (LNU) turn the car KEVIN (LNU) entered the bank carrying the Easter basket that contained the IED, which had been constructed by SCOTT (LNU). LANGAN entered the bank first, followed by GUTHRIE and finally KEVIN (LNU). LANGAN and GUTHRIE immediately vaulted the teller counter, rifled the teller drawers and placed the money in canvas bags. KEVIN (LNU) maintained control of the floor area. KEVIN (LNU) had the nickname of NEWT, and he was the individual who terrorized people inside the banks. They were in the bank approximately 60 seconds before exiting the bank. GUTHRIE immediately got into the front passenger seat while LANGAN and KEVIN (LNU) got into the rear seat. They drove out of the parking lot, making a right turn and then a second right turn to the switch site. All four got into the blue Ford extended van and left the office complex area, making a right turn at the main intersection and another right onto I-235. GUTHRIE believed the intersection where they entered I-235 was the first intersection to the east of the 35th Street exit. In approximately 30 seconds, they drove back by the bank on I-235 westbound. They continued to I-35 and drove south on I-35 to Pittsburg, Kansas.

GUTHRIE could not give a good description of the type of clothing all four were wearing but recalled that LANGAN was wearing a construction hard hat and carrying his 9mm Taurus He also believed SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) were both carrying semi-automatic weapons with KEVIN (LNU) possibly carrying a Beretta 9mm pistol and may also have been wearing a camouflage mask. GUTHRIE was wearing dark blue work pants, jungle boots and carrying his Astra 9mm semi-automatic pistol. The hard hats they used were purchased on the east side of Des Moines. Although GUTHRIE did not know who planted the grenade in the back seat of the getaway car, he was aware KEVIN (LNU) had a bag with him containing four or five grenades. GUTHRIE knew KEVIN (LNU) had been filling the grenades with gun powder while in Pittsburg, Kansas. GUTHRIE learned that either LANGAN or KEVIN (LNU) had left something in the back seat by reading the newspaper the following day.

GUTHRIE believes the total take was between $28,000 and $29,000. LANGAN and GUTHRIE each took $5,000 while SCOTT and KEVIN took $7,000 each. The remainder of the money was for "company" funds.

GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of the bank surveillance video taken during this robbery and identified the individual in photograph #1 as KEVIN (LNU) because KEVIN (LNU) always wore long sleeve shirts to cover his skinhead tattoos and because he was taller than everyone else. GUTHRIE signed and dated this photograph. GUTHRIE could not give a better description of the IED that was contained in the Easter basket placed in the bank during the robbery. However, he advised that after being shown a photograph of one of the component parts of the IED, he recognized it as possibly being that he had purchased earlier from Radio Shack.

GUTHRIE viewed a bank surveillance video taken during the robbery of the Boatman's Bank and identified the robbers as follows: LANGAN, wearing a dark camouflage jacket, white hard hat and cammo mask vaulted the teller counter; KEVIN (LNU), wearing a baseball cap, long sleeve large pattern light colored shirt, is on the banking floor brandishing a handgun at customers and employees, and, himself, wearing a white hospital type jacket, behind the teller counter.

GUTHRIE signed and dated this bank surveillance video.

16) Great Financial Bank, 333 Whittington Parkway, Louisville, Kentucky, May 24, 1995:

GUTHRIE advised that he and LANGAN made two trips to the Louisville area, the week prior to and the week of the robbery, returning in between to Pittsburg, Kansas. They stayed at a small motel in Scottsburg, Indiana off I-65 and drove in LANGAN's white Chevrolet van which at that time still had a green stripe from the previous owner.

They cased banks throughout the Louisville area during these trips, were not "locked and loaded" on any of them but narrowed their choices down to the Great Financial Bank, and the National City Bank nearby.

The Great Financial Bank, stood alone and was next to a Denny's restaurant.

During the first week, GUTHRIE purchased the getaway vehicle, a 1970s dark blue Mercury two-door with a white top for $495 at a used car lot off US 31W, around Valley Station, Kentucky. He purchased this vehicle from a female and used the name of an FBI agent whom he had seen on television, for the temporary tags. GUTHRIE stashed the Mercury at an apartment complex in the "Rolling Fields" area.

Also during the fir	st week, GUTHRIE purchased a

They parked LANGAN's white van at the switch site in an office complex about 500' from the bank. "Locked and loaded," they parked the Mercury getaway car at the front door of the bank. LANGAN entered first stating, "No alarms, no hostages," and vaulted the counter, followed by GUTHRIE who placed the IED on top of a desk and started the light flashing.

GUTHRIE spoke in Spanish and noted that there were no customers but possibly three employees.

They exited through the same door. During the escape the dye-pack exploded and GUTHRIE stated that he almost ran down a woman with a baby carriage. LANGAN tightly rolled the canvas bag around the exploded dye pack and they switched to the white van. They left the area via Mockingbird Road, I-71 and I-64, returning directly to Pittsburg, Kansas.

They grossed about $2,500 but netted only around $1,800, took $500 each, and gave the rest to the "company."

The exploded dye-pack was burned, along with others, in a 50 gallon trash can in the back yard of the Pittsburg safe-house.

GUTHRIE stated that he and LANGAN made no other purchases in the Louisville area during these trips and have had no dealings with any females during their bank robbery activities.

17) Guarantee Bank, 450 West Silver Spring Drive, Glendale, Wisconsin, June 22, 1995:

GUTHRIE advised that he and LANGAN made two week-long trips from the Pittsburg safe-house prior to this robbery and each time stayed at the Pyramid Motel, Concord, Wisconsin, or the camp grounds in Antioch, Illinois. The night prior to the actual robbery they stayed at the Knights Inn, off I-94, Racine, Wisconsin.

While in the Glendale area they cased many banks, but were not "locked and loaded" for any of them, and eventually selected the Guarantee Bank.

LANGAN made the IED from while at the Pyramid Motel, and GUTHRIE recalled that it may have also contained GUTHRIE purchased the getaway vehicle, a 1980's Pontiac station wagon, grey in color, for $800, from Capital Used Cars on the west side of Milwaukee. The salesman, a black male, age 25, provided GUTHRIE with a temporary Wisconsin tag in the name of GUTHRIE knew that was an FBI agent. The Pontiac was stashed at an apartment complex across from a large mall in the north part of Milwaukee, near 91st Street.

The night before the robbery they stayed at the Knights Inn, Racine, Wisconsin (about 30 miles away). The next morning they retrieved the Pontiac station wagon and parked the blue Ford van at the switch site located on the other side of a nearby Kohl's department store by the U.S. Post Office.

GUTHRIE recalled that he had entered the bank the previous week and noted that the vault door was open. The plan was that they would both enter the rear entrance and GUTHRIE would carry the IED and go into the vault, while LANGAN rifled the teller positions.

GUTHRIE parked the Pontiac near the rear entrance and they both entered. LANGAN, vaulted the counter and placed money and a dye pack into a canvas bag while GUTHRIE placed the IED on the teller counter and announced that it was a bomb. GUTHRIE entered the vault area and retrieved a light brown 18" x 12" x 4" teller drawer box that had a handle.

As they exited the bank GUTHRIE tossed a green smoke grenade into the bank and as they got into the Pontiac noticed a white male driving by who may have seen LANGAN's weapon.

As GUTHRIE drove from the bank the dye pack exploded in LANGAN's bag and he had to hold it out of the window. GUTHRIE turned right from the bank to the other side of the Kohl's parking lot and switched to the blue Ford van. LANGAN had already left a dummy hand grenade wedged in the back seat of the Pontiac. They also left their hard hats in the Pontiac.

They departed the area via I-43 returning to Pittsburg, Kansas.

During the robbery GUTHRIE wore jungle boots, protective vest, short sleeve bright colored shirt, dark blue pants, hard hat, a dark bandanna with eye holes, gloves, and carried his 9mm blue steel Astra pistol. LANGAN wore jungle boots, protective vest, light blue long sleeve shirt, hard hat with bandanna, and carried his Star 9mm stainless steel pistol.

GUTHRIE stated that they netted around $29,000 and had to clean much of the dye stained money. They kept $8,000 each and put the rest toward the "company."

GUTHRIE indicated that he, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU) came to St. Louis from Janesville, Wisconsin about one week before this robbery. LANGAN was vacationing in Denver and was not involved in this robbery.

As they were traveling through the area, they pulled off the highway to get something to eat. While they were eating they observed the Magna Bank. After deciding to rob the bank, they returned to Illinois and registered at a motel. After conferring with a map of the State of Illinois, GUTHRIE initially opined that the motel was at the Litchfield exit; Nowever, revised that to be either exit 38 or 40, off I-55 for Mt. Olive, Illinois.

The motel was described as being a "Mom and Por" operation consisting of a two story building on a lake with a restaurant attached. They stayed for a couple of days, renting two rooms, a single and a double, both of which were located on the first floor nearest to the office. During this stay, GUTHRIE engaged in a conversation with the motel owner, who told GUTHRIE that he had moved to Illinois from Dakota to run the motel. GUTHRIE believed that the rooms were rented in the last name of SIMPSON.

They then went to Granite City, Illinois, where they purchased an early 1980's orange Ford Fairmont from a used car dealer, possibly Marilyn Autos. SCOTT (LNU) actually purchased the vehicle using the name of Wayne Manis, which they obtained from the book, Silent Brotherhood. GUTHRIE indicated that the Fairmont was a piece of junk and even had "do not open" on the side of one of the back doors. The keys to this vehicle may still be in GUTHRIE's grey tool box, as he started saving keys to use to steal vehicles in the future instead of buying them.

After purchasing the Ford, SCOTT (LNU) drove it to a restaurant near the interstate. There, GUTHRIE took over and drove the Ford to an apartment complex located off the second or third exit on I-270 after entering Missouri from Illinois. The vehicle was parked near a "park and ride" center, where it was left until the following Sunday, August 13, 1995.

After secreting the car and completing their casing of the bank, the three returned to Pittsburg, Kansas.

On Sunday, August 13, 1995, they returned to St. Louis in the blue Ford van and retrieved the Ford Fairmont, moving it to an apartment complex in Bridgeton, nearer the Magna Bank. They stayed at a little one story motel located across the street from a Scottish Inn near the Federal Correctional Institution off I-70 in Greenville, Illinois. GUTHRIE registered for the rooms, a double and a single, for Sunday and Monday nights, using the name on the Kentucky driver's license that was in his wallet when he was subsequently arrested. GUTHRIE could not recall the name.

On Monday afternoon, August 14, 1995, GUTHRIE entered the Magna Bank to gain intelligence for the robbery.

The plan was for GUTHRIE to drive the getaway vehicle and SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) to enter the bank. After the robbery, they were going to drive behind the strip mall, stopping near a department store that had a trailer parked behind it, where the van would be waiting. He also knew that the mall was near the DePaul Hospital.

After changing to the van, they intended to make a right turn onto McKelvey Road, cross over the Interstate into Maryland Heights, where they could make either a right to return to I-70 or a left turn and get on I-270 at Dorsett Road.

SCOTT (LNU) made the IED to be used for this robbery, which GUTHRIE described as being a "bucket bomb." The IED was placed in a white plastic bucket that had been purchased at the Bargain Basement Store in Janesville, Wisconsin. Inside the bucket was the exterior of the plastic bucket the words "kick me" or "kick here" and the initials "WM" were placed in black letters that had been taken from a sheet purchased by GUTHRIE. He is not sure exactly what was meant by the letters, but believed that it was a taunt to law enforcement.

GUTHRIE was not sure what experience SCOTT (LNU) had making IEDs. He knew that on a couple of occasions SCOTT (LNU) had assisted LANGAN during the construction of the devices, but added that making pipe bombs is very simple.

GUTHRIE remembered that August 16, 1995, was a very hot day, and that both KEVIN (LNU) and SCOTT (LNU) wore T-shirts and jeans during the robbery. KEVIN (LNU) had a light colored shirt and a ball cap, while SCOTT (LNU) had a darker shirt and a hat that said "FBI" on it. Both wore bandannas over their faces. A number of bandannas in various colors had been purchased at the Army Surplus Store near Rolla, Missouri. GUTHRIE was not sure of the specific colors worn during the robbery, although he remembered that news reports indicated that the bandannas had "FBI" on them.

He indicated that the letters "FBI" were actually on the hat worn by SCOTT (LNU) and that to his knowledge they did not put any letters on the bandanna. GUTHRIE also laughed that the news reports suggested that a black male was driving the getaway car, stating that there would never be a black male involved in any of their robberies.

KEVIN (LNU) was armed with a Glock .45 caliber automatic, while SCOTT (LNU) carried either LANGAN's 9mm or P-89 pistol during the robbery. Both carried two way radios while GUTHRIE also had a the scanner to monitor the local police radio channels. An M-18 smoke grenade from a case that LANGAN had picked up in Kansas City, was deployed as a diversion as SCOTT (LNU) and KEVIN (LNU) fled the bank.

After the robbery, GUTHRIE drove to the switch site and they fled the area in the blue Ford van via I-70 to the Pittsburg safe-house. They netted around $17,000 and split it three ways.

GUTHRIE was shown two photographs of the Ford Fairmont recovered following this robbery. He first identified the 8 x 10 photograph as the vehicle purchased by SCOTT (LNU) in Granite City to be used during the robbery. He then identified a smaller photograph which depicted the vehicle behind a shopping mall as being similar to the area where they had planned to abandon the orange Fairmont and switch to the van. Both of these pictures were signed and dated by GUTHRIE and witnessed by SA and SA

A copy of an artist sketch made following this robbery was then shown to GUTHRIE, who identified the individual depicted in the sketch as KEVIN (LNU). He signed and dated the rear of the sketch to acknowledge this identification, which was similarly witnessed by the interviewing Agents.

GUTHRIE left a copy of a newspaper article on Timothy McVeigh and the Oklahoma City Bombing in the car as a taunt to law enforcement and possibly left behind hand grenade pins to impede the investigation during the recovery of the getaway car.

19) Bank One, 4225 East Towne Boulevard, Madison, Wisconsin, August 30, 1995:

According to GUTHRIE, this bank had been selected during a previous trip through Madison, Wisconsin.

Three days prior to the robbery, GUTHRIE, LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), KEVIN (LNU), and TIM (LNU), arrived in the area driving the blue Ford van and the white Chevrolet suburban and rented three rooms at the Motel 6, Janesville, Wisconsin.

SCOTT (LNU) purchased the getaway car, a blue, 1980's Chevrolet Citation for $300 after seeing it in a grocery store parking lot during a previous "casing" trip to Madison around the first week in August, 1995. The Citation was stashed at an apartment complex behind a McDonalds, across the street from Bank One. It did not have a proper license plate, but a "LAF", or "license applied for" white cardboard sign on the rear bumper.

SCOTT (LNU) made the IED in Pittsburg, the construction of which GUTHRIE could not recall, but that it did include which were added by LANGAN, and was placed in a blue plastic bucket that was purchased at a Kohl's store in Kenosha, Wisconsin.

They selected the switch site, a vacant office building parking lot, south of the bank, and LANGAN remained there in the blue Ford van with a scanner and two way radio communication with SCOTT (LNU) and TIM (LNU).

SCOTT (LNU), who also had a scanner, dropped the remaining three off directly in front of the bank.

KEVIN (LNU) was wearing jeans, possibly a baseball cap, bandanna face mask with eye holes, a long sleeve shirt to cover his skinhead tatoos, and carried a .45 caliber Glock pistol and a canvas bag as he vaulted the counter and rifled the teller positions.

GUTHRIE, wearing a T-Shirt with a Badger picture on it, dark blue work pants, baseball cap and bandanna face mask with eye holes, and carrying his 9mm Astra pistol and a canvas bag, also vaulted the counter and went to one teller position and the drive through window.

TIM (LNU) wearing jeans, boots, baseball cap and a dark bandanna face mask with eye holes, controlled the banking floor with KEVIN (LNU's) P-89 Ruger pistol and placed the bucket with the IED in it in the middle of the banking floor. He also carried a two-way radio.

During the robbery they each also wore protective vests and gloves.

As they were leaving the bank, TIM (LNU) tossed an activated smoke grenade into the bucket before GUTHRIE had cleared the teller counter, and then all ran to the waiting Citation.

GUTHRIE stated that as they reached the switch site, the left rear tire on the Citation went flat. They all entered the blue Ford van and with LANGAN driving made their way to Washington Avenue, I-90/94, and I-90 to Janesville. During their escape, they heard on the scanner that the getaway vehicle had been found and that a construction worker with a similar T-shirt to GUTHRIE's had been stopped for questioning. GUTHRIE recalled also that LANGAN had left an IED, made from the Citation.

At Janesville, they retrieved the white suburban which was parked at a K Mart and all five left the area, with LANGAN, KEVIN (LNU) and TIM (LNU) in the Ford van, and GUTHRIE and SCOTT (LNU) in the suburban. They dropped TIM (LNU) off at a Walmart in Springfield, Missouri, after they had stopped for gas outside of Springfield and divided the approximately $9,200 five ways.

TIM (LNU) proceeded on to Elohim City, and the rest returned to Pittsburg, Kansas.

GUTHRIE stated that the robbery of the Roosevelt Bank near South County Mall in St. Louis was a long drawn out affair.

KEVIN (LNU), SCOTT (LNU), LANGAN and GUTHRIE all traveled to St. Louis in September, 1995 to locate a bank to rob. They stayed in an Illinois motel, approximately 35 miles north of St. Louis. On this trip, LANGAN brought a copy of the America's Most Wanted video which contained a composite of KEVIN (LNU).

They originally selected the Mark Twain Bank located near the South County Mall as their target.

They returned in October to purchase a getaway car. As they entered town, they stopped at the QT Store on I-44 across from the Chrysler Plant, just outside of St. Louis. GUTHRIE had obtained a recent St. Louis newspaper, located an advertisement for a suitable used car and called the number from the QT. After conversing with the seller, GUTHRIE and KEVIN (LNU) drove to "an old guys house in south St. Louis" where GUTHRIE paid him the money for a Buick LeSabre.

After paying for the car, GUTHRIE put a license plate that SCOTT (LNU) and LANGAN had stolen, on the rear of the car. He then drove the car to an apartment complex behind the Auto Tire Store located across from the South County Mall.

While they were purchasing the car, SCOTT (LNU) and LANGAN were "scoping out the Mark Twain Bank." The robbery of the Mark Twain Bank was supposed to occur in early November.

On November 6, 1995, the four met in the foyer of a restaurant located just inside one of the entrances to South County Mall. They drove to a motel in Mt. Olive, Illinois, off I-55, where they had stayed prior to a previous St. Louis robbery. Two rooms were rented for one night, both believed to be singles. GUTHRIE was driving his blue Ford van, while LANGAN was driving his white Chevrolet van.

The following day, November 7, 1995, they moved to the motel located across from the Scottish Inn in Greenville, Illinois, where they had also previously stayed. They stayed there for the nights of November 7, 8 and 9, 1995, while they solidified their plan. LANGAN was not particularly satisfied and was also considering the Postal Credit Union, Old Halls Ferry and I-270, and the Magna Bank on Watson Road (Route 66) in Shrewsbury, Missouri, as potential targets.

On one of these days, unrecalled which one, KEVIN (LNU), SCOTT (LNU), LANGAN, and GUTHRIE were "locked and loaded" and went to the Mark Twain Bank to commit the robbery. obtained the Buick LeSabre from the apartment complex and were just approaching the bank when a lady pulled up and entered the bank with her small child. They backed off and decided not to proceed with the robbery at that time, continuing to "case" the other banks. They returned the Buick to the apartment complex behind the Tire Center and returned to Pittsburg, Kansas.

During the period following this return to Pittsburg. there was a "falling out" between the members of the group. LANGAN and GUTHRIE decided to return to St. Louis alone and do the robbery. On November 20, 1995, they met at the Crestwood Mall on Watson Road. GUTHRIE arrived first in his blue Ford van, parked in the garage and called LANGAN on the radio. They then arranged to meet in the store located adjacent to the parking garage, the name of which GUTHRIE could not recall.

They drove to the motel in Greenville, Illinois (across from the Scottish Inn) where they had stayed several times before, GUTHRIE in his blue Ford van and LANGAN in his white Chevrolet van. They drove separately as immediately after the robbery, they planned on driving to Columbus, Ohio. LANGAN selected the Roosevelt Bank across from the South County Mall as the target bank.

On November 22, 1995, LANGAN parked his van at a Park and Ride near the Illinois State Police Barracks at I-55 and They then drove to the apartment complex behind the Tire Center Store in GUTHRIE's van, where they retrieved the Buick LANGAN then parked GUTHRIE's van near a transformer in the Holiday Inn parking lot that is accessible from the Roosevelt Bank by driving behind the Marshall's Store.

GUTHRIE, wearing blue work pants, jungle boots, a bullet proof vest, T-shirt, a blue "Blaster's Police Jacket" with a Security Officer's Badge, and a blue cap with the letters "ATF," drove the getaway car, while LANGAN, similarly dressed, occupied the front passenger seat. GUTHRIE was armed with his Astra .9mm, extra magazines and was carrying the scanner. was also armed with a 9mm semi-automatic pistol.

smoke grenade to be used as a diversion was also in GUTHRIE's possession.

As they entered the bank, both GUTHRIE and LANGAN pulled bandannas with eye holes cut into them, down over their faces. GUTHRIE explained that they devised a method to tie the bandannas which utilized a two knot system, so the bandannas could be pulled down as they entered the bank and pulled up as they departed the bank. LANGAN jumped the teller counter and was removing money while GUTHRIE took control of the lobby. As LANGAN returned from the rear of the counter, GUTHRIE placed the IED on the floor and activated an M-18 smoke grenade as they were leaving.

GUTHRIE then drove the getaway vehicle back to the Holiday Inn where they switched to the van. LANGAN drove the van while GUTHRIE hid on the floor. As they exited the Holiday Inn parking lot they turned right and made an immediate right, heading north on the interstate. They drove back to LANGAN's van at the Park & Ride, retrieved it and headed to Columbus, Ohio.

GUTHRIE was shown a photograph of a white over dark blue Buick LeSabre, which he identified as the vehicle he purchased and used as a getaway car in this robbery. He added that they had stolen a couple of license plates to use on the car, replacing the plates with other stolen plates so the original owners would not notice the missing plates. He was then shown a photograph of the Roosevelt Bank, which he identified as the bank he was referring to.

A surveillance photograph of a subject behind the teller counter, which he indicated was LANGAN, was also shown to GUTHRIE. The next photograph shown to him was of the back of a subject, which he identified as himself, basing that identification on the scanner on his belt. The next photograph portrayed a subject pulling his bandanna down from his face, which GUTHRIE indicated was also himself.

The last photograph depicted the IED previously described by GUTHRIE, which he identified as the IED made by LANGAN and left by GUTHRIE during the Roosevelt Bank robbery. GUTHRIE signed and dated each of these pictures to acknowledge his identification. SA and SA witnessed each of these signatures.

GUTHRIE indicated that they used the terms "Andele" and "Sanchez" during some robberies in an attempt to give the impression that a Latino Gang was responsible.

A no smoking sticker was placed on the side of the IED case by LANGAN and on the glove compartment of the Buick by GUTHRIE. GUTHRIE also left a Declaration of Independence and a "Will return at 1:00 o'clock" sign in the car. All of these items were to taunt the responding law enforcement officers.

They netted $2,500 from this robbery, which they split evenly.

Shortly after this robbery, GUTHRIE started sending letters to the news media. He utilized the computer system at Kinko's to make the Santa Claus cartoon. On a trip through St. Louis, LANGAN took a copy of the nomination form while they were at a Hardee's Restaurant. GUTHRIE took the form to the library in Pittsburg, Kansas, where he used a typewriter to enter the He explained that after each robbery information on they would go to a library, sometimes at Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield, Missouri and sometimes in Overland Park, Kansas where they could find the local newspapers for the areas of the robberies. They would usually take the article with them, however, GUTHRIE burned all the articles before leaving the safe-house in Pittsburg, Kansas. ____name, as well as the names of the reporters, were obtained from these articles.

21) Society National Bank, 3515 Springdale Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, December 8, 1995:

GUTHRIE was staying at 585 Reinhard Avenue, his Columbus, Ohio, safe-house and decided to case banks in Cincinnati. GUTHRIE had already been familiar with this Society Bank from prior visits to the Cincinnati area.

GUTHRIE entered the bank near closing time, vaulted the counter and placed an IED/hoax device on the counter stating that there was a bomb inside. He had previously assembled the device in GUTHRIE escaped through a nearby woods to his waiting blue Ford van parked behind a Marshall's department store, and drove straight back to Columbus.

GUTHRIE stated that he netted around $4,200.

GUTHRIE stated that he did not confront anyone as he left the bank and does not recall if anyone would have seen his escape.

22) Mid-America National Bank, 5830 Monroe Street, Sylvania, Ohio, December 19, 1995:

During this time frame GUTHRIE remained at the Columbus, Ohio safe-house and was joined, as was pre-arranged, by LANGAN, SCOTT (LNU), and KEVIN (LNU). GUTHRIE was aware that they were planning a robbery in northern Ohio, possibly around the Toledo area, and while at the safe-house the others made trips north.

After they returned from one trip, GUTHRIE learned that they had purchased a getaway vehicle and had stashed it somewhere in the area of the intended robbery.

On the evening of December 19th, they returned and told GUTHRIE of a successful robbery, netting them around $7,500. GUTHRIE was given $500 that he was previously owed and they split the rest. GUTHRIE also was told that SCOTT selected the bank and in a subsequent conversation with LANGAN, learned that LANGAN had checked the newspapers and determined that this robbery had not been connected their group. GUTHRIE assumed from this that they did not use an IED and may have altered their usual techniques.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT KENNETH J. MURPHY FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO EASTERN DIVISION

In Re Grand Jury Proceedings: Peter Langan

U.S. DISTRICT COURT Case No.

ORDER

This matter is before the court on the motion of the government to modify this court's order of February 23, 1996 to permit Sylvia H. Acton, a criminalist with the Columbus Division of Police Crime Laboratory, to withdraw a blood sample from Mr. Langan. The government indicates that the medical personnel at the facility where Mr. Langan is detained have refused to draw blood for purposes of forensic analysis, and that a registered nurse at a private hospital also refused to perform this task due to liability issues. The government has submitted the affidavit of Ms. Acton in which she describes her qualifications to withdraw blood and the procedure she would use, which she states is an established procedure generally accepted and recognized in the medical and scientific communities for the collection of a forensic blood sample.

Having reviewed the affidavit of Ms. Acton, the court is now convinced that Ms. Acton possesses the necessary qualifications to withdraw a blood sample from Mr. Langan. Therefore, the court hereby modifies its previous order of February 23, 1996 and authorizes Sylvia H. Acton to withdraw a blood sample from Mr. Langan in accordance with accepted medical and scientific procedures.

It is so ordered.

James L. Graham United States District Judge

In Re Grand Jury Proceedings: Peter Langan

> Case No. M2-96-36 JUDGE GRAHAM

OPINION AND ORDER

The government has moved for an order requiring Peter Langan to provide handwriting, hair, saliva and blood samples for use in an ongoing grand jury investigation. Mr. Langan is a target of this investigation, which concerns a bank robbery committed in Columbus, Ohio, in the Southern Judicial District of Ohio, as well as a conspiracy to commit a series of bank robberies, including the Columbus robbery, which occurred throughout the Midwest. Mr. Langan filed a memorandum in opposition to the government's request. An oral hearing on the government's motion was held on February 16, 1996.

It is well established that the collection of nontestimonial evidence such as handwriting exemplars or samples taken from the body, such as blood or hair, implicates no Fifth Amendment interests. See, e.g., United States v. Dionisio, 410 U.S. 1 (1973); Gilbert v. California, 388 U.S. 263 (1967); Schmerber v. California, 384 U.S. 757 (1966). However, the collection of such evidence frequently implicates Fourth Amendment concerns.

The first level of inquiry is whether the seizure of the person necessary to bring him into contact with government agents for collection of the samples is lawful. Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 767. A grand jury subpoena to provide samples does not effect a seizure of the person. Dionisio, 410 U.S. at 10. The "seizure of the person" branch is also satisfied if the person is in custody pursuant to a valid arrest, Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 768-769, even when the person is in custody awaiting trial on unrelated charges, United States v. Sechrist, 640 F.2d 81 (7th Cir. 1981). Here, Mr. Langan is in federal custody awaiting trial on an indictment returned in this district charging him with assault on federal agents. He is also the target of a grand jury investigation in this district concerning the offenses of conspiracy to commit bank robberies and bank robbery, and it is for this grand jury investigation that the evidence is sought. The court concludes that Mr. Langan is already legally in custody or "seized" for the purposes of obtaining the samples requested by the government.

The next question is whether the taking of samples constitutes a search under the Fourth Amendment. The providing of handwriting exemplars is not a search. United States v. Mara, 410 U.S. 19 (1973). Courts are divided on the issue of whether the securing of hair samples constitutes a search. See, In Re Grand Jury Proceedings (Mills), 686 F.2d 135 (3d Cir. 1982). The collection of blood and saliva samples results in a search. Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 767; United States v. Nicolosi, 885 F. Supp. 50 (E.D.N.Y. 1995). Although some of the items sought by the government may not be the product of a "search" under the Fourth Amendment, the court will nonetheless include those items in the remainder of the analysis.

Where the government is seeking to collect samples which will result in a search, that search must satisfy the requirements of the Fourth Amendment. Particularly in situations where the search entails an intrusion underneath the surface of the body, the search must meet the probable cause and reasonableness requirements of the Fourth Amendment. Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 768-770. See also, Skinner v. Railways Labor Executives' Ass'n, 489 U.S. 602 (1989); Winston v. Lee, 470 U.S. 753 (1985). At the hearing on February 16, 1996, the court heard in camera the sworn testimony of Special Agent Davitch of the Federal Bureau of Investigation relating to the issue of probable cause. Based on this testimony, which the court finds to be truthful and reliable, the court concludes that the government is in possession of sufficient evidence to support a finding that there is probable cause to believe that evidence relating to the crimes of conspiracy and bank robbery currently under investigation by the grand jury will be found in the samples sought from Mr. Langan, or, in other words, that "there is a fair probability that ... evidence of a crime will be found" in the samples. Illinois v. Gates, 462 U.S. 213, 238 (1983). government's request to search for and seize bodily samples from Mr. Langan is supported by probable cause.

It must further be shown that the proposed taking of samples is reasonable. In determining whether the search for samples is reasonable, the court must weigh the extent to which the procedure may threaten the safety or health of the individual and the extent of intrusion upon the individual's dignitary interest in personal privacy and bodily integrity against the community's interest in fairly and accurately determining guilt and innocence. Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 771-772; United States v. Bullock, 71 F.3d 171, 176 (5th Cir. 1995).

In regard to the first two factors of this analysis, the court notes that the handwriting sample sought by the government would result in no threat to Mr. Langan's health or any significant intrusion upon his privacy or dignitary interests. Agent Davitch testified that the collection of hair samples would involve obtaining samples of combed hair, as well as twenty-five to thirty hairs plucked from Mr. Langan's head. The saliva sample entails taking a sterile cotton swab and rubbing it inside the cheek for about ten to fifteen seconds. These procedures involve a minimal degree of intrusion on an individual's privacy and there is no evidence before the court that these procedures would present any health risk to Mr. Langan. Finally, the Supreme Court has recognized that blood tests involve "virtually no risk, trauma, or pain," Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 771, and has held that blood tests do not constitute an unduly extensive imposition on the individual's privacy and bodily integrity, Winston, 470 U.S. at 762. Davitch indicted that two small vials about the diameter of a pencil and approximately two to three inches long would be required for testing. There is no evidence before the court indicating that taking a blood sample would present a particular health risk to Mr. Langan.

The government proposes to obtain these samples at the detention facility where Mr. Langan is in custody. The Fourth Amendment does not require that blood samples be obtained only at See, Bullock, 71 F.3d at 176 a hospital by a physician. (registered nurse took sample at place of detention). A deputy United States Marshal testified at the hearing that the detention facility where Mr. Langan is in custody has an infirmary where registered nurses are on duty. Agent Davitch testified that Sylvia 'Acton, a criminologist employed by the Columbus Police Department Laboratory, is familiar with the proper procedures for obtaining these samples, and that her services would be available in gathering these materials. There is no clear evidence before the court as to exactly what Ms. Acton's qualifications are for the drawing of blood. However, the evidence suggests that a registered nurse would be available at the facility where Mr. Langan is detained to perform this task. Mr. Langan has not contested the qualifications of Ms. Acton to obtain hair and saliva samples, and the court finds from the evidence presented that she is qualified to obtain these samples. The handwriting exemplar involves no technical expertise and may be obtained by a government agent.

Mr. Langan has objected to furnishing these samples on religious grounds. While the Supreme Court in Schmerber, 384 U.S. at 771, noted that religious objections might be raised to the acquisition of blood samples, the Court did not decide whether a person's preference for some other means of testing, such as a breathalyzer test, would have to be respected. The Court also did not address whether a suspect's religious beliefs are significant in determining whether a test is unreasonable. See, United States v. Berry, 866 F.2d 877, 890-891 n.5 (6th Cir. 1989). Mr. Langan has not cited, nor has this court been able to find, any case where a court concluded that a person's religious beliefs precluded the taking of blood or other samples or rendered a search unreasonable.

Mr. Langan testified that he has been an adherent of a religious philosophy or sect known as "Christian Identity" for approximately seven years. Mr. Langan's testimony indicates that he has no general objection to giving samples of blood or hair, and that if the court ordered him to provide samples, he would allow the government to collect them. Agent Davitch testified that hospital records of Mr. Langan's treatment for gunshot wounds in January of 1996 contain no reference to any objection by Mr. Langan when the hospital staff obtained a blood sample. Mr. Langan testified that he does object to the government obtaining samples such as hair or blood because he would view this as an assault upon him by his "enemies" (in this case, the government), and because the government might use this evidence against him.

It is not clear from Mr. Langan's testimony exactly how this viewpoint relates to any particular religious belief or tenet of the Christian Identity sect. The court is not convinced that Mr. Langan's objections stem from sincerely held religious beliefs as opposed to a general aversion to providing the government with evidence which might prove to be incriminating. However, even accepting arguendo that Mr. Langan's religious beliefs are genuine, he is in essence attempting to assert a privilege against self-incrimination under the First Amendment which would not be recognized under the Fifth Amendment. This court does not see why Mr. Langan should be afforded greater protection under the former than under the latter, particularly in the absence of any clearly demonstrated and compelling religious interest sufficient to outweigh the community's interest in obtaining this evidence. There is no evidence before the court that there are any other tests available to which Mr. Langan would have no objection which would also satisfy the government's needs. The court concludes that Mr. Langan's religious objections are entitled to little weight in the balancing process.

The final factor concerns the needs of the community and the government for the evidence sought. Agent Davitch testified that the government is seeking a handwriting sample to compare against the suspected handwriting of the robbers on car rental agreements and on taunting letters sent by the robbers to the FBI. Mr. Langan's hair is being sought for comparison with hair found on clothing left by the robbers at some of the robbery scenes. Saliva samples are needed for PCR-type DNA testing to compare samples from Mr. Langan against saliva on cigarette butts found in the ashtrays of getaway cars and on the envelope flaps of the letters sent to the FBI. Blood samples are needed for RFLP-type DNA testing because saliva does not provide sufficient cellular material for RFLP testing, whereas blood does provide the needed DNA material.

Taking into account the evidence presented at the hearing, including the testimony in camera, the court finds that the government has shown a need for the samples sought from Mr. Langan. The court further concludes that the government's need for this evidence far outweighs the insignificant, if any, risk to Mr. Langan in obtaining the samples, and the minimal intrusion upon Mr. Langan's dignitary or privacy interests incident to collecting the samples. The procedures proposed by the government satisfy the probable cause and reasonableness standards of the Fourth Amendment.

The government's motion for an order directing Mr. Langan to provide hair, saliva and blood samples and handwriting exemplars is granted. Mr. Langan is ordered to provide hair, saliva and blood samples and handwriting exemplars to the government. On Jan. 25, 1994, a black-clad gunman walked into a bank in Ames, Iowa, and pulled off what would become the first in a series of robberies by a gang so successful and brazen that they took on a name and a style.

Along the way, the Midwestern Bank Bandits, as they called themselves, taunted the FBI with letters to newspapers, bought getaway cars in the names of retired agents, dressed in a variety of disguises, spoke to each other in gibberish, Spanish or Arabic, and often left; behind pipe bombs and gre-

Midwestern states ended in Ohio for boy hood friends Peter K. Langan and Richard Langan was captured Jan. 18 after more than 50 shots were fired at him as he got into a van at 585 Reinhard Ave. on Columbus' South Side.

Guthrie, who had rented the house, had been arrested three days earlier in Cincinnati after a short car chase.

Guthrie had traveled to Cincinnati to visit relatives when arrested, said Ed Boldt, an FBI spokesman in that city.

Langan and Guthrie, both 37, are suspects in the 18 Midwest bank robberies. Some news accounts compared the group to the legendary James gang that held up 25 banks and stagecoaches in the Midwest from 1871 until 1882.

The majority of the 18 cases had two robbers. But four of the cases involved three suspects, including the Oct. 24, 1994, robbery of the Columbus National Bank at 6121 E. Livingston Ave.

A third man known as Jim Thompson, who had lived with Langan and Guthrie for more than a year in Pittsburg, Kan., is being sought. Thompson was last seen at the Kansas home last summer, said Douglass Ogden, an FBI spokesman in Columbus.

Langan and Guthrie are charged in three of the 18 bank robberies under investigation. Both are accused of robbing a bank in Omaha, Neb., on Aug. 3, 1994, and Langan is charged in the robbery of a bank in Glendale, Wis., on June 22, 1995. Guthrie was recently charged in a bank robbery in Bridgeton, Mo., on Aug. 16, 1995.

FBI agents won't say why they believe Langan and Guthrie are members of the Midwestern Bank Bandits.

A clue might have come during the Dec. 27, 1994, robbery at a bank in Maryland Heights, Mo. FBI agent Jim Nelson of St. Louis said a teller noticed that one of the suspects seemed to have a deformed left hand. Langan had been shot in the left hand by a Florida policeman when he was accest ed in a robbery as a 16-year-old.

Investigators who have tracked the Midwestern Bank Bandits were impressed by how each robbery was planned:

The robberies seemed to follow a basic script, though there were a few variations? ... The

The bandits appeared to become more brazen with each robbery.

Eleven of the 18 banks were robbed between 10 and 11 a.m. Boldt said most banks have fewer customers at that hour will

"They would take control of the bank, and they were pretty effi-cient," said Dick Eggleston, an FBI spokesman in Milwaukee.

No one was nurr in any or mobberies, although robbers threat-ened harm if bank tellers and cus-

The first two robberies, in Ames and Davenport, Iowa, were carried out by a single person. When the third robbery occurred at the Associated Bank in Green Bay, Wis., a pattern seem to emerge.

In that robbery, two persons in ski masks armed with automatic pistols entered the bank and put what they said was a bomb on the counter. Eggleston said that turned out to be a hoax.

The getaway car was found a short distance from the bank, and it also had what appeared to be a bomb inside. Again, Eggleston said, the device turned out to be fake.

In a majority of the 18 robbera pipe bomb would be found in the bank and a grenade in the getaway car. And though in most, cases the bombs and grenades were inoperative, they had the effect of slowing police pursuit.

When the Rostmon's Bank in

When the Boatmen's Bank in West Des Moines, Iowa, was robbed March 29, 1995, one of the robbers left an Easter basket which con-left an Easter basket which contained a pipe bomb, said Larry Holmquist, an FBI spokesman.

Sgt. David Briller of the Middleburg Heights Police Department was the first police officer to enter the Third Federal Savings Bank after a robbery on Dec. 9, 1994. He found a bomb tucked inside a Santa Claus but an the floor. Claus hat on the floor.

"That really riveted my attention," Briller said, and he called the bomb squad. One of three suspects had worn a Santa suit and told customers: "Ho, ho, ho, Get down on the floor."

the floor."

Sgt. Tim Cavanaugh of the Omaha Police Department opened the glove compartment of a 1979 International truck that had been identified as the getaway vehicle in a bank robbery on Aug. 3, 1994.

"I found a hand grenade wired to it." Covernment said.

to it," Cavanaugh said.
Sometimes the bombs got a lot of attention.

On June 22, 1995, Milwaukee TV stations did a live broadcast of the bomb squad defusing a bomb in a briefcase left behind after the robbery of the Glendale bank.

Glendale detective Greg Lofy said the getaway car was towed back to the police station when he found a grenade stuck between the cushion in the front seat.

"I remember telling my ser-geant: We have a problem here," " Lofy said. The police station had to be evacuated to allow the bomb squad to check out the grenade.

RIGHT-WING TIES

The Midwestern Bank Bandits often varied disguises. They started wearing ski masks, switched to hard hats and sunglasses and then used bandannas to hide their faces.

Last year, the gang taunted FBI agents when they began to rent getaway cars in the names of retired agents.

Robbers bought a Ford Fair-mont for $400 in the name of retired agent Wayne Manis two days before they held up the Magna Bank in Bridgeton, Mo., near St. Louis, on Aug. 16, 1995. Manis was the agent in charge of investigating white steparatist Randy Weaver during the deadly Ruby Ridge standoff with federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents in Idaho.

When robbers later abandoned the car, authorities found a newspa-per with an article about Timothy McVeigh on the front seat. McVeigh is accused in the deadly bombing of a federal building in Oklahoma City.

Three months later, two rob-bers wearing ATF caps robbed the Roosevelt Bank in St. Louis County,

After that holdup, Jim Nelson, an FBI spokesman in St. Louis, told reporters the robbers could have ties to right-wing groups and might have a grudge against the government.

Those statements apparently caught the attention of the suspects.

In December, several newspapers received a letter nominating Nelson for a civic award for "honesty and patriotism."

"The Midwestern Bank Bandits are proud to appoint Jim Nelson as any pour grokesman for 1996 We're our new spokesman for 1996. We're sure Jim will do a better job than Larry has done in the past," the letter stated, in reference to Holmquist.

"To report sightings of the evil and demented Santa Claus, call 'loud mouth' Larry Holmquist," the letter stated. The letter also had a cartoon showing a computer screen with a picture of Santa Claus and the words "wanted for armed robbery." A caption underneath the cartoon read,

"Santa was naughty and not nice."

"I was the first person to say publicly that we believed they are sympathetic or part of a right-wing organization," Nelson said of his comments reported by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. "We were convinced they were very dangerous. What we don't know is what their motivation

Agents have not sorted out extremist affiliations of Langan and Guthrie, Boldt said.

During hearings in U.S. District Court in Columbus, Langan called himself 'Commander Pedro' and a member of the Aryan Republican

FBI agents found it interesting that Guthrie and a friend, Norman Smith, who is in a Maryland prison, had traveled a number of times to an annual Aryan Nations conference in Hayden Lake, Idaho. Aryan Nations

UNLIKELY BREAK

One person who did get a clear look at the face of Richard Lee Guthrie was Amanda Dawn Smith, 15, of Cincinnati.

"I had a gut feeling when I left the house that something was going to happen to me," Smith said recently.

Smith was walking near the So-. ciety National Bank at 3515 Spring-dale Road in Cincinnati on Dec. 8, 1995, when a man with a gun in one hand and a white bag in the other almost ran into her after the bank had been robbed. The man yelled an obscenity at her and demanded that she give him her purse.

Smith said she returned the insult and ran away.

"I didn't know what he would do. I was scared. I just started running," Smith said.

The Hamilton County Sheriff's Department credited Smith for helping them break their case. "She has turned out to be our best witness," Capt. Don Coyle said.

It is not considered one of the 18 bank robberies pulled by the Midwestern Bank Bandits, but charges filed have allowed authorities to hold Guthrie during the investigation.

Dispatch Staff Reporters Eileen Dempsey and Jill Riepenhoff contributed to this story.

No one from the Davis County Treasurer's Office actually observed any of the above-mentioned vehicles.

Based on the false applications made by register the above vehicles, the Iowa Motor Vehicle Division, Vehicle Enforcement, had all four license plates entered into computerized data bases as revoked. On 05/11/1995, Bloomfield, Iowa, Chief of Police Bernie Gutz advised that has not been seen in Bloomfield since 04/17/1995, and is not known to be residing in the area. During the registration process on 04/17/1995, Davis County Treasurer's Office personnel noted the following: presented one vehicle's title listing the owner as Church of Christ, with an address of 1122 East 5th Street, Burlington, Iowa 52601, and stated that the vehicle would be relocated to Bloomfield. presented an Iowa title for one of the vehicles from Marshalltown, Iowa, stating it was past due and he needed to license it. advised the vehicle would be moved to Davis County, Iowa. There was a $210 fee to renew it. paid the fee with $100 bills and appeared to have a large sum of cash in a roll in his pocket. advised that had given the abovementioned 1986 Chevrolet van to the church, but wanted to show $200 as a sale price for him to pay sales tax on. stated he had been driving all night and was tired, but was leaving town shortly (same date). In April 1995, an FBI indices check revealed references _affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan (KKK), Christian Posse Comitatus, US of A National Alliance Party, Christian Identity Organization, and Aryan Nations; to his reported possession of numerous weapons; and to unconfirmed reports of his involvement in drug trafficking.

To: CID From: Omaha

Re: 91A-OM-41859, 03/27/1996

The only mention of Iowa in the above FBI indices references was contained in a 03/03/1993, Philadelphia airtel to Boston, file number 266A-BS-67027, serial 2, stating "a vehicle on the property (in Pennsylvania) bears an Iowa license tag and same is registered to the Church of Jesus Christ, 510 South 9th Street, Marshallow (sic) (believed to be Marshalltown, Iowa." The vehicle and Iowa license tag number were not further identified in this communication.

Recent checks have not revealed any additional vehicle registrations in Iowa to Church of Christ or Church of Jesus Christ.

Inasmuch as registered the above-mentioned vehicles two days prior to the Oklahoma City bombing, this information was previously provided to the OKBOMB task force for informational purposes.

A review of evidence seized pursuant to Bombrob subject Richard Lee Guthrie's arrest on 01/15/1996, revealed Item 1B14 Item (1) One black bag containing 19 cassette tapes. One of these cassettes is titled "Blessed Are The Peacemakers" by a copy of which is enclosed for Philadelphia's information. The tape contains a male voice giving a talk and cuts off while the person is talking.

Investigation at Omaha continues.

One bank suspect caught in Cincinnati

BY JUDY PASTERNAK

Los Angeles Times

COLUMBUS, Ohio - For nearly two years, a gang of bank robbers roamed the Midwest, displaying a warped sense of humor, a fondness for pipe bombs and sympathy for the militia movement.

Depending on the season, they left their bombs in a Santa's hat or nestled in an Easter basket. In one holdup, they wore caps that said ATF, as in the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms ---the agency involved in the fiery siege in Waco, Texas, in 1993. They rented a getaway car in the name of an FBI agent involved in the 1992 shootings at Ruby Ridge, Idaho.

In letters and cartoons mailed to newspapers, they signed them-selves the "Mid-Western Bank Bandits."

Now, with two suspects in custody, federal officials think the robbers went by another name as well: the Aryan Republican Army.

Law enforcement officials and trackers of the extremist right say the gang's story will open an important window on the financing of militant white supremacists.

The two suspects — Richard Lee Guthrie Jr. and Peter Kevin Langan — allegedly are dedicated to the overthrow of the government, the slaying of Jews and the deportation of blacks. Authorities think they and their partners have provided more than $500,000 to notorious groups whose goals they share.

Special Agent Jim Nelson, who heads the FBI office in St. Louis. told the Los Angeles Times that the government is investigating whether at least $250,000 in unrecovered stolen bank money was funneled to the Aryan Nations and people who were affiliated with the Covenant, Sword and Arm of the Lord, a paramilitary group active in Arkansas during the 1980s.

MMO

In addition to banks being robbed, stores apparently were swindled. Mr. Guthrie previously was arrested in West Virginia in 1991 in connection with a $250,000 bogus-refund scam at Kmart stores. At the time, he told sheriff's deputies that he sent the bulk of the money to the Aryan Nations. He disappeared after his father posted bond.

Mr. Guthrie had been under investigation by the Secret Service since at least 1991 for allegedly threatening then-President Bush. The Secret Service recruited Mr. Langan as an informant.

To that end, Mr. Langan was treed in 1993 from a jail in Georgia, where he had been charged with robbery of a Pizza Hut. His attorney in Columbus, Kevin Durkin, said that Mr. Langan tried to cooperate with the Secret Service.

But Mr. Langan's sister, Leslie Maloney, said that he disappeared 'two Thanksgivings ago" from his home in Cincinnati.

She says she didn't find out where Mr. Langan was until January, when he and Mr. Guthrie were arrested and showed up on the news.

Mr. Guthrie was taken into custody in Cincinnati on Jan. 15 for a solo bank robbery. He has not entered any pleas, but has been talking with investigators while being held in Covington, law enforcement sources said.

Mr. Langan was arrested in Columbus on Jan. 18 in a white van behind the $350-a-month flat Mr. Guthrie had recently rented under a false name.

He has pleaded not guilty to resisting arrest and is awaiting arraignment on an indictment charging him with two bank rob. beries in Ohio.

Thomas Lusby, who heads the FBI in Omaha, Neb., and is coordid nating the Mid-Western Bank Bandits probe, alleges that from 1994 until late last year Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Langan were responsible for 18 robberies in seven states.

Robbers employ extremist tactics

FBI: Bandits could be white supremacists

By Bob Minzesheimer USA TODAY

Bank robbers who exploded pipe bombs in Spokene, Wash., and left behind a note from "Yahweh" bear telltale signs of a right-wing terrorist group.

But it's too early to say whether the explosion is part of "an elaborate scheme to cover up a bank robbery, or if there is in fact a group trying to make a point here," FBI special agent Burdena Pasenelli said Tuesday.

No one was injured in the robbery Monday. Officials wouldn't say how much money was stolen.

The tactics used in Spokane resemble those used in a series of Midwest bank robberies and bombings, linked by federal ofdicials to the white supremacist Aryan Republican Army,

That has raised suspicions that some in the so-called "patriot movement" are robbing banks to recruit and finance a small army of terrorists to prepare for a confrontation with the government.

In the Northwest, it also re kindled memories of bank robberies and bombings carried out 12 years ago in Spokane and Seattle by The Order, a white supremacist group that hoped to start a race war.

The robbery Monday "has all the earmarks of the work of another cell of the Aryan Republican Army," said Mike Reynolds, who monitors rightwing extremists for the Southern Poverty Law Center.

Reynolds cited two details:

▶ A note left by the robbers, described as "religious rhetoric" by Pasenelli, was headed "Greetings from Yahweh:"

Yahweh is English for the Hebrew name for God and is often used by Christian Identity sect members, who, Reynolds sald, "believe that Jews are the seeds of Satan, that people of color are beasts of the field, and that Aryans are the lost tribe, God's chosen people.

Some of those beliefs are shared by the Freemen, the right-wing anarchist group en gaged in a standoff with air thorities in Jordan, Mont. But Pasenelli said, "We're definitely not relating this is Montana.... There's nothing in anything we've seen that shows it's related to what's going on out there."

Minutes before the robber, in what police call a diversion, a bomb exploded and shattered windows at a nearby office of The Spokesman-Review newspaper. A bomb also was exploded at the bank...

Exploding a pipe bomb as a diversionary tactic is described in The Turner Digries, a fantasy novel that may have served as a blueprint for the 1995. bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City.

Reynolds said that's part of the standard procedure for

It's a tactic that has been used by extremists on both ends of the political spectrum, he says, but is more often assoclated with right-wing paramli-itary groups that "share an ab-normal fascination with frearing and evalorities" firearms and explosives.

And more than just money can be a factor. "Using weap-ons, risking your life, is part of the attraction of being a terrorist." Jenkins said. "If you want to create a national resistance to wage a guerrilla war, then a bank robbery is about the best kind of training."

When Richard Gutherie Jr. and Peter Langan were charged with some of those robberies, court documents said a videotape seized from their apartment in Pittsburg. Kan, was called The Aryan Republican Army Presents: The Armed Struggle Underground."

The tape described the group's goals: "Eliminate the government, from the federal government to the county seats. Exterminate Hymle. Repatriate all nonwhites to their homes. Return the country to the Bible."

Results of examination:

Please refer to previous FBI Laboratory reports dated January 31, 1996 (50120004 S/D AD AR AN ZZ TT); March 5, 1996 (60122016 S/D AD HA UY AR and 60207032 S AD); December 29, 1995 (51208032 S/D UY UJ, 51218038 S/D UY UJ and 51218067 S/D UY UJ); January 25, 1996 (51219005 S/D AD UY AN) for a complete listing of submitted specimens and previous examinations.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Your office advised that subsequent to the arrest of subject Peter Kevin Langan in Columbus, Ohio on 1/18/96 a search was conducted of the residence leased and occupied by both subject Langan and Richard Lee Guthrie. Among the items of evidence recovered were several specimens of foot wear and an electric typewriter. These specimens were compared to specimens previously submitted in this matter.

PHOTOGRAPHS:

Enclosed for your investigative assistance are five (5) black and white photographs depicting some of the submitted footwear specimens and shoe print lifts.

DOCUMENT EXAMINATIONS:

The Q14 lift submitted under Laboratory number 50727006 S/D shares design similarities with the K33a left shoe. Due to the limited detail retained in the impression, a more positive association was not made.

In as much as no footwear impressions of value for comparison were found on the Q23 through Q28 lifts (see previous Laboratory report dated 1/31/96 Laboratory number 50120004 S/S AD AR AN ZZ TT) submitted under Laboratory number 50120004 s/d, no comparisons were conducted with the submitted shoes.

The submitted evidence and natural size photographs of the Q14 lift and the K33, K34 and K37 shoes will be returned separately.

The print wheel found on the typewriter designated specimen K64 (your item G-7) was not used to prepare the typewritten entries appearing on specimens Q1, Q3, Q4, Q5, Q6, and Q7, previously submitted by the Omaha Field Office and described in Laboratory report #'s 51208032 D/S UY UJ, 51218038 D/S UY UJ, and 51218067 D/S UY UJ, or the typewritten entries appearing on specimens Q1 and Q3 previously submitted by the St. Louis Field Office in case 91A-SL-180175, and described in Laboratory report 51219005 S/D AD UY.

The style of type appearing on the K64 print wheel is similar to the style of type found in the entries reading, "To report sightings of the evil and demented Santa Claus, call "loud mouth" at ______, appearing on specimen Q2 previously submitted and described in Laboratory report 51208032 D/S UY UJ and on specimen Q2 previously submitted and described in Laboratory report 51219005 S/D AD UY. However, it could not be determined whether these questioned entries did or did not originate from the K64 print wheel, because the submitted questioned documents were produced by the photocopy process, and because of the absence of individual identifying features in the limited entries available for comparison purposes.

The ribbon found on specimen K64 was read for content. Two copies of the text of the K64 ribbon are enclosed for the investigative assistance of the Omaha Field Office. The K64 ribbon did not contain the text of the typewritten entries found on specimens Q1-Q7 or specimens Q1-Q3.

DISPOSITION OF SPECIMENS:

The submitted specimens will be retained in the Laboratory for possible additional examinations. You will be advised of the results in a subsequent report.

Please call the Explosives Unit-Bomb Data Center, (202) 324-2696, if you have any questions concerning the results of examinations in this case.

Symongie Communication provided	to establish a	tempo	rarv

Synopsis: Communication provided to establish a temporary evidence storage facility in Columbus, OH for the storage of bulky evidence for the August 4, 1996 trial in the above captioned case.

Details: Due to the tremendous amount of evidence that will be needed for the trial of PETER KEVIN LANGAN a temporary evidence storage facility will be required. Evidence from Kansas City Division has already arrived in Cincinnati and it is anticipated that evidence from Omaha Division, Des Moines RA will be arriving on the week of 6/3-7/96. A large quantity of evidence is already present in Columbus and evidence from the FBI Laboratory will be arriving prior to the trial. In addition to the storage problems, the defense has requested to review all of the evidence along with LANGAN.

After discussion with the United States Attorney's office and GSA a room suitable for the storage and review of evidence was located in the Federal Courthouse in Columbus, OH. This room is located on the basement level of the Courthouse. The room has the required phone service for the alarm system and SA will be changing the locks on this room on 5/31/96. SA will also arrange active phone service for this room.

It is anticipated that defense counsel and LANGAN will be reviewing the evidence in the near future. Defense counsel has filed several motions for the review of the evidence, therefore the sooner this space can made suitable for evidence storage the sooner the government can comply with the courts request.

It is requested that an alarm system be placed in this room no later than 6/7/96.

This evidence storage facility will be maintained through the end of 8/4/96 trial. It is believed that this space will be vacated soon after the trial because the evidence will be needed in other jurisdictions.

During the period 03/04-15/1996, subject Guthrie was extensively debriefed by FBI agents in Cincinnati, Ohio. During the course of the interview, Guthrie identified the other coconspirators involved in BOMBROB. He advised that midway through their bank robbery spree, a critical meeting took place after the bank robbery that occurred on 11/11/1994, in Des Moines, Iowa. While staying at a Motel 6 near a Waffle House in the Fort Smith, Arkansas, area, a meeting took place between Guthrie, Langan, Stedeford, McCarthy During the course of this meeting, bank robbery plans were discussed, as well as dividing bank robbery proceeds. In addition to information provided by Guthrie, McCarthy also advised pursuant to an interview that this particular meeting took place as Guthrie described. McCarthy felt that during the meeting, he was being interviewed for a job position by Langan. According to McCarthy, Guthrie, Langan, Stedeford, and Thomas were all intimately involved in discussions that took place at the motel.

Guthrie advised he was usually responsible for registering for any motels during their bank robbery spree. He generally registered for the rooms utilizing a fictitious name and address, while listing a vehicle with each motel registration as a Ford truck, although the license plates were phony. He also generally indicated the number in his party as between two and four.

GUTHRIE recalled that he may have also sent small amounts of money, $200 to $300, on a few occasions, to with the baby clothes for support of white supremacist cause.
GUTHRIE was questioned regarding his recollections of a meeting with SCOTT, and KEVIN, that occurred in November, 1994, in the vicinity of Elohim City, Oklahoma.
GUTHRIE was shown a map and clarified that he stayed at a Motel 6, located by a Waffle House Restaurant, possibly at the Van Buren Exit #5, I-40 and Arkansas 59, east of Elohim City, and recalled that he may have used the name of, CHARLES BRADDOCK, and a fictitious Maryland driver's license in that name.

GUTHRIE had been beeped by SCOTT and recalled that this was a spontaneous meeting at Elohim City to meet with him, and be introduced to KEVIN.

GUTHRIE arrived with PETER LANGAN, possibly on Wednesday after the November 11, 1994, Des Moines, Iowa, robbery, rented two single rooms at the Motel 6, and was driving his Chevrolet Station Wagon with Kansas license plates.

On the morning that he and LANGAN arrived, they had breakfast at the Waffle House Restaurant with SCOTT, and KEVIN, and then all talked in SCOTT's red Chevrolet van. GUTHRIE recalled that the van was not heated and that it was cold and rained heavily. At this meeting LANGAN did most of the talking, since he was head of the bank robbery department within their "cell", and, that there was no question that they specifically discussed preparation for their next bank robberies and their bank robbery activities in general.

GUTHRIE believes that because of the poor weather they may have also discussed their bank robbery activities in the motel room.

GUTHRIE further recalled that SCOTT had taken a towel from the motel room for some reason and was chastised by LANGAN because actions like that can bring unnecessary attention to their activities.

Regarding a July, 1995, meeting with

GUTHRIE reviewed a Pennsylvania road map and believed that he met not south of Macungie, PA, but at a non-chain type motel, possibly called the "Village Inn" in the vicinity of Exit #14,
I-78, north of Macungie, PA. The motel was close to an Exxon gas station and a diner. GUTHRIE believed that he stayed five or six days, arriving possibly on a Thursday and leaving the following Tuesday.

It was at this time that GUTHRIE gave SCOTT, and KEVIN, $1,000 each for their participation in their "cell" and because he and PETER LANGAN had done very well on their previous robbery. In a subsequent conversation with wanted to know more details about the bank robberies and their plans, and discussed wanting to go along and monitor the next robbery. During this meeting, SCOTT was upset with GUTHRIE for violating the need-to-know doctrine by providing too much information outside of those actually involved in the specific robberies. However,

$2,000 for his assistance in bringing SCOTT and KEVIN into their "cell".

GUTHRIE could not be absolutely certain if KEVIN was part of this later conversation with and SCOTT.

GUTHRIE was questioned regarding the robbery of the SOCIETY NATIONAL BANK, Springdale, Ohio, that occurred on June 8, 1994, and recalled that LANGAN had previously purchased a book entitled MALCOLM and FIDEL at a flea market, and that they left it in the Chevrolet Citation getaway vehicle after the robbery. GUTHRIE stated that they did this in order to make law enforcement think that the bank was robbed by black bank robbers.

GUTHRIE was shown a photocopy of the cover of a book entitled FIDEL & MALCOLM X; Memories of a Meeting, that was found in the getaway vehicle after the Society bank robbery. GUTHRIE identified this as the same book which they left behind, and initialled the photocopy. (Attached)

GUTHRIE was shown a photocopy of a temporary KENTUCKY license plate issued to ED McCLEAN, when purchasing the Chevrolet Citation for the Society bank robbery. GUTHRIE stated that he recognized this temporary license as the one he obtained in Newport, Kentucky in the name of ED McCLEAN, when he purchased the Citation. GUTHRIE initialled the photocopy. (Attached)

GUTHRIE was shown a photocopy of a Bill of Sale for a 1980 Chevrolet Citation four door, purchased at MODERN MOTORS, Newport, Kentucky. GUTHRIE stated that he recognized this Bill of Sale and demonstrated how he signed it by writing left-handed and back-handed with a scribbled signature. GUTHRIE initialled the photocopy. (Attached)

GUTHRIE was shown evidence located in a black nylon Spalding brand gym bag containing numerous items of false identification, a protective vest, and other items, that was seized during a search by the FBI of the residence of SCOTT STEDEFORD.

GUTHRIE identified and initialled specific items, and initialled a sample of each type of false identification, as follows:

Stedeford search was an original Social Security mailing form with the original social security card detached. Guthrie stated that he had allowed Stedeford, using the name of William Robert Stevens, to use his (Guthrie's) mail drop address, 3318 S. Glenstone, No. 127, Springfield, Missouri, 65804-4408, to obtain a legitimate SSAN in this fictitious name. Guthrie retrieved this SSAN from the mail drop and sent it to Stedeford, and believed that Stedeford used this Steven's name and SSAN to obtain an Oklahoma driver's license.

Cincinnati is attempting to determine the actual SSAN and locate a record of the Steven's Oklahoma driver's license.

Synopsis: Request SAC approval for additional storage space of BOMBROB evidence.

Details: The United States Courthouse, 85 Marconi Blvd, Columbus, Ohio has been previously designated as suitable by the SAC for the storage of BOMBROB evidence for the duration of the BOMBROB case. Currently, all BOMBROB evidence is stored in a locked, alarmed room in the basement of 85 Marconi Blvd.

The basement evidence room is now full making the storage of additional BOMBROB evidence difficult. As a result, the United States Attorney's Office has made available a locked and alarmed storage room located in their office on the forth floor of 85 Marconi Blvd. It is requested that the SAC approve the storage of evidence in this room as well.

Interdepartmental Correspondence Sheet

Date: 11/9/92

To:	Lieutenant Colonel H. Bruce Knox, Acting Police Chief
Pron:	Sergeant District Three
Subject:	Incident Report - Arrest of Peter Langan
On 11/9/9		b6
summoned	by the Secret Service Agency to assist in the execution	b7 warrant w	rest warrant at 1907 Biegler St. The subject of the was Peter Langar, M/W/34, who resides at that address.
The offic	ners met and conferred with Special Agents at the scene. The agents advised the officers that Lang	gan was wanted on an open Armed Robbery warrant initiated residence	aklin County, Georgia. Langen was apprehended at the within a short period after the officer's arrival.
P.O. him at th	called for car Sgt. to meet ac location. I then responded and met with the officers and the a	agents at the scene.

The Secret Service Agents indicated that Langar had participated in an armed robbery in Georgia along with another subject with the last neme of Guthrie. Guthrie is the subject of a Secret Service investigation pertaining to a conspiracy to assassinate President Bush. It was hoped that Guthrie was staying at the residence on Biegler Street or the arrest of Langan would lead to Guthrie's whereabouts. A check of the residence was made to determine if Guthrie was in the house. Guthrie was not located, but several semiautomatic weapons that violate the city semiauromatic ordinance were found in plain view in the rear bedroom of the home. A consent to search was granted in writing and a further search uncovered what appeared to be explosives, grenades, and other assorted amounition. I the ceased the search and the Cincinnati Fire Division Explo . Thit was summoned to the scene. The Department of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms also responded to the scere All handheld radios were ordered off at about 1613 hours and necessary traffic posts set. A general evacuation of the area was made. This evacuation only consisted of only several homes and less than 20 persons. The Bomb Unit conducted an extensive search of the home and rendered the residence safe. They did, however, remove some dangerous and explosive substances. The weapons and ammunition were then, removed from the residence by officers on the scene. The scene was cleared at approximately 1815 hours and residents were permitted to return home.

The arrested, Peter Langan, was transported to the Justice Center and held on the outstanding warrant from Franklin County, Georgia. Langan has also been charged with violations of the city Semiautomatic Firearm Ordinance (CMC 708-37). The firearms and ammunition have been placed in the district property room to be held for court. The Secret Service Agency is still conducting their investigation into the search for the Guthrie subject and the Department of Alcohol Tobacco, and Firearms have indicated a desire to test fire the confiscated weapons to determine if any have been converted to a full automatic capacity. The alleged explosives and grenades have been determined to be safe according to the Bomb Unit as of the writing of this report.

But free and reduced rate parking program win be used

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER

Strolling magicians and street performers, bright lights and sidewalk art sales are among the holiday treats in store for visitors to downtown Cincinnati during the next two months.

Absent from this season's festivities, however, will be the generous parking incentives offered last year to drum up interest in the city's core business district.

According to Quentin Davis. Cincinnati's economic development director, the free and reduced-rate parking promotions last year not only failed to attract parkers, it put the city $25,212 in the hole.

In discussions with the Downtown Progress Committee and the Retail Steering Committee, "neither has expressed interest in repeating last year's parking promotion," Davis said in a report to city council this week.

The promotion aimed at encouraging downtown shopping offered free parking at Fountain Square and Garfield Place garages from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays. Reduced weekend parking fees ranged from $1 to $2.

In an ordinance going to city council today for consideration, the city's economic-development department is requesting $70,000 to buy advertising and other materials to prome the downtown holiday festivities. The Downtown Council will match the amount of funding from the city.

Society Bank Festival of Lights, Nov. 21, Fountain Square: skating rink opens, weather permitting, with a petting zoo and performances by school choirs.

■ Sidewalk Art Sale — The Magic of Art, Dec. 5: Professional artists and art students will exhibit wares along downtown streets, in conjunction with the Fourth Street art-gallery district.

■ Taste the Magic, Dec. 19: a progressive feast for shoppers to sample downtown restaurants.

Man pleads not guilty to weapons charges

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER

A 34-year-old Fairmount man. wanted in an armed robbery in Georgia, pleaded not guilty Tuesday to three charges of violating a Cincinnati law against possessing semiautomatic firearms.

Peter Kevin Langman of the 1900 block of Biegler Street was arrested at his home by Cincinnati police at 3:15 p.m. Monday on the Georgia warrant and charged with Peter Lanoman lations after police found three semiautomatic rifles in his home.

According to court records, Langman had a .308-caliber M14 with a 15-round magazine, a Ruger .22-caliber rifle that contained two 50-round magazines and a .223caliber Ruger Mini14.

the weapons charges and also to a charge of possessing two driver's licenses -- one from Iowa and one from Maryland — neither of which was in his name. He remains in the Hamilton County Justice Center in lieu of a $40,000 bond.

Cincinnati made it illegal in 1989 to buy, sell, rent or possess a semiautomatic rifle, shotgun, handgun or detachable magazine. The law defines "semiautomatic" as a rifle or carbine with a magazine that can hold more than 10 rounds; a shotgun that can hold more than five rounds; or a handgun that can hold more than 15 rounds.

A similar case many viewed as the first court test of the city law was dismissed earlier this year when it was discovered Cincinnati police destroyed the evidence.

FBI: Heist trail led to white supremacists

Robbers hit 7 states, but their aim may have been bigger. A confession led authorities to Philadelphia.

By Mark Fazlollah, Michael Matza. Maureen Graham and Larry King INQUIRER STAFF WRITERS

The young man in jeans walked onto the used-car lot in Des Moines. pointed at the white 1979 Buick Le-Sabre, and bought it for $750 cash.

"He didn't test-drive it, didn't even start it up," remembers Jay Helton, manager of Mr. Lee's Autoland. "He asked me if the thing ran, and I said: 'It's a good ol' car.'

Something about the buyer made Helton queasy. So he photocopied the man's Alabama driver's license that balmy March afternoon in 1995.

later, when the FBI agents came.

The Iowa car dealer's instincts were right. The man wasn't from Alabama. He was from Ardmore, Pa. -Haverford High, Class of '86.

The FBI said he and his friend, a Bustleton teenager, had fallen in with two older men from the Midwest and joined in a bank-robbery spree fueled by the antigovernment gospel of white power. Between Thanksgiving 1992 and last Christ-

Helton still had the copy a year mas, the ring hit 22 banks in seven

Federal court documents portray a strange, latter-day James Gang that roamed the Midwest in harrowing style - and may have been bankrolling the nation's white-supremacist fringe.

The robbers took at least a quarter of a million dollars - none of which has been recovered. They left unexploded bombs behind in banks and getaway cars. They spoke to one another in gibberish. They wore hard hats, Bill Clinton masks. even Santa Claus hats.

They tweaked their pursuers with mocking cartoons and letters to newspapers. They lived in motels and rode in used cars, such as the LeSabre, sometimes purchased in the names of retired FBI agents. They packed automatic weapons and Aryan Nation literature.

FBI: Bank heists have links to white extremism

SUPREMACISTS from A1 stretches from eastern Oklahoma, where a man called "Grandpa" heads an armed Christian sect, to an Upper Darby music studio, a Camden rowhouse, and the Wildwood boardwalk, where teenagers with shaved skulls wear black and camouflage.

Scott Anthony Stedeford, 27, engineer's son, commercial artist, rock musician, Haverford High grad, is one of four men charged. So is his former roommate, an orphaned Bustleton teen named Kevin McCarthy. He turned 19 last week.

Both said they were not guilty.

At a hearing last month in Des Moines, a federal prosecutor said the gang called itself the Aryan Republican Army, espoused the overthrow of the government, and planned to use the bank booty to finance white-supremacist groups.

One suspect, Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., 38, has confessed. He said the gang gave money to unnamed far-right causes.

FBI agents in Cincinnati arrested Guthrie in January after a car chase. Two days later, Peter K. Langan, 37, was nabbed after a shootout with the FBI in Columbus, Ohio.

In the murky world of white-supremacist groups, the accused men have crossed paths with some notorious people. McCarthy stayed for a time in the same Oklahoma compound that has been mentioned in the Oklahoma City bombing investigation. Guthrie told the FBI that he met Stedeford through a Berks County right-wing leader named Mark Thomas.

Thomas, 44, who faces no criminal charges, has been to the idaho rightwing compound once frequented by Randy Weaver, the key figure in the 1992 Ruby Ridge standoff.

Stedeford and McCarthy had no criminal record. The two older defendants in the bank robberies had previous felony convictions.

Langan, born in the Mariana Islands, is the son of a CIA employee and ran away from home at 16. Guthrie tried to join the elite Navy Seals underwater squad — but left after being court-martialed in 1983.

Peter K. Langan

In court documents, federal invesgators said a search of the robbers' "safe house" in Columbus yielded pipe bombs, guns, bullets, extremist literature, FBI hats, fake IDs, and bomb-making tools.

FBI agents found similar items in a storage locker the group had rented in Shawnee, Kan. Included was a copy of Hitler's Mein Kampf.

Guthrie's confession — and a trail of documents, including the bogus Alabama driver's license — led investigators to Philadelphia.

On May 22, FBI agents arrested Stedeford at Sound Under, the Upper Darby recording studio where he had worked as a guitarist.

Two days later — as McCarthy was being arrested in the Bustleton section of Philadelphia — federal agents searched a Camden apartment where Stedeford had lived since December.

There, they confiscated more of the same: a Ruger handgun, a shotgun, automatic-rifle ammunition, a police scanner, false Social Security cards, blank birth and death certificates, supremacist literature, a walkie-talkie, T-shirts with law-enforcement insignia — and a stack of CDs recorded by Stedeford's band, Cyanide.

Any link between Stedeford and hate-inspired bank robberies baffles his old friends in Delaware County.

"He was just the guy next door, a nice guy," said Haverford classmate Timothy Walsh, who has known Stedeford since kindergarten days at St. Denis' Parish. "I never heard him get in an argument or a fight. I never heard him use any racial slurs."

But friends also have described Stedeford as easily led and quick to embrace new friends and ideas.

Guthrie has told authorities he was introduced to Stedeford by Thomas, the middle-aged white supremacist who lives in a ramshackle farmhouse in Berks County and spreads his beliefs on the Internet.

Young people "talk about him [Thomas] as someone they would follow," said Ann Van Dyke, an official with the state Human Relations Commission who monitors hategroup activity across Pennsylvania. "He has become a father figure to many of them."

Thomas also has ties to Elohim City, the compound in Oklahoma. In an interview last week, Elohim City leader Robert G. Millar said Thomas sent Kevin McCarthy to study there.

Elohim City — described by Millar as a spiritual place where every family "has a weapon ... and most of them are crack shots" — has been in the news before. Timothy McVeigh, the accused Oklahoma City bomber, placed a call to Elohim City before last year's explosion, federal investigators said.

Then there is the mystery man.

Investigators still want to talk to one more Philadelphia man, a law enforcement official said last week. He declined to say why. The man, in his 20s, is acquainted with Stedeford and McCarthy.

In Camden, Stedeford's friend Sara Palilonis said FBI agents had asked her about the same man.

And in Oklahoma, Millar said the same young man had lived at Elohim City for about two years.

reach out to the young.

"They have methodically, strategically looked for young people to draw into the movement," said one expert who has advised government agencies. "They cannot be underestimated."

Floyd Cochran, an upstate Pennsylvania man who left the whitepower movement and now lectures on its dangers, describes the phenomenon this way:

"You take a 15-, 16-year-old, a young kid, and pump into their head that if you rob a bank, if you burn down a church, you assault the enemy, that you are a warrior of God, a hero of your race."

Scott Stedeford's roots lie in a largely Italian American neighborhood of modest, gray stone-and-brick twins in Ardmore. His father, a retired quality-control engineer, and mother, who stayed home to rear four children, still live there. Acquaintances describe them as kind and generous.

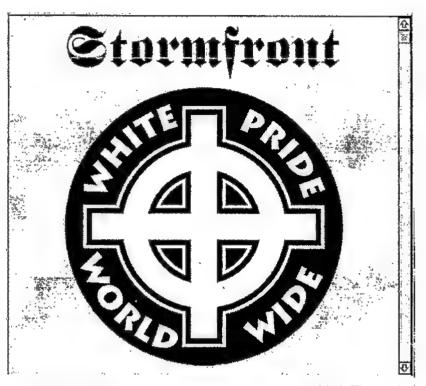

As a teen, Stedeford immersed himself in drawing and music, friends said. He played drums in a rock band, took commercial-art classes, and delighted in airbrushing images of his favorite band, Van Halen, on friends' jackets.

After graduation, he let his hair grow long and worked as a silk-screen artist for a Broomall firm, where, coworkers said, he played acoustic guitar for them on his lunch breaks. He also led a band known as Cyanide, which played loud "speed-metal" music.

A friend and former coworker recalled Stedeford as a soft-spoken, impressionable "follower" who plunged headlong into new friendships and interests.

"Î've seen him meet people, become their friends, and then take on the way they talk and behave," said the friend, Pat Clinton. "It seemed like he was looking for something to latch onto, something to belong to."

By the early 1990s, Stedeford had latched onto the trappings of the skinhead world. Clinton described running into his old friend in early 1994 at the Cellblock, a Bensalem club. Stedeford was passing out leaflets from a white-supremacist group, he said.

Computer users who go to this Web site can access Mark Thomas' Internet posting.

"He came up and said, 'Yo,' and I didn't even recognize him," Clinton recalled. "He had his head shaved, with the combat boots and flight jacket and camouflage pants. I said, 'What? Are you into this stuff?' He said, 'I think you'd really like it. You, ought to check it out.'"

Clinton said Stedeford introduced him to a friend who was similarly attired. His name: Kevin McCarthy.

He was smart but unruly, disruptive yet likable, resourceful but easily led. To many who knew him, Kevin McCarthy was potential unfulfilled.

"To tell you the truth, I enjoyed Kevin. I got along with him very well," said Arthur N. Romanelli, the principal at Greenberg Elementary School in the Northeast, where McCarthy attended eighth grade.

On the other hand, Romanelli said, "he was a disruptive kid. He settled down for a while, but any time we had a substitute teacher, it was kind of a free day for him."

Unlike Stedeford, McCarthy seemed to have discipline problems throughout his youth. His mother died when he was small. His father, who was seldom around, died later. For most of his life, McCarthy lived with his grandmother.

"He's a very ambitious boy," said his grandmother, who asked not to be named. "That's why it's so heartbreaking for something like this to

When McCarthy was on the cusp of adolescence, his grandmother and her husband moved to the Jersey Shore. It was there, against a Wildwood backdrop of Ferris wheels and taffy shops, that he began associating with skinheads, said Sean McCoy, who met McCarthy when the boy was 12 or 13.

"He started hanging out with these guys he met up on the boardwalk, and it seemed like he got into all this radical stuff," McCoy said. "Any time I'd see him around, he'd be dressed in these weird clothes and Army boots."

At the time, McCarthy's grandmother was married to Edward J. O'Neill. According to his son, Tim O'Neill, of Philadelphia, the stepfather tried in vain to rein in the boy before the couple divorced a few years ago.

In the early 1990s, the grandmother returned to Philadelphia. Around that time, McCarthy became acquainted with Mark Thomas and lived for several months on Thomas' Berks County property.

In an interview Friday, Thomas initially said he could not talk about McCarthy because he was the young man's minister, requiring confidentiality.

"I love him," Thomas said, tears welling in his eyes. "I mention his name every night in prayers."

Thomas said he could not remember how McCarthy came to live with him.

According to the grandmother, it was Thomas who helped the boy gain entry to what she described as a Christian academy in Oklahoma. Thomas denied this.

He said he "tried for more than a year" to enroll McCarthy in a local high school, only to be rebuffed by local officials. But he insisted that he had no role in sending the youth to Elohim City,

"I don't know how he got there," Thomas said. "He went on his own initiative."

Whatever the impetus, the move was disastrous for McCarthy, Tim O'Neill said.

"I think that was the downfall of everything," O'Neill said.

In the rolling, wooded hills near the Oklahoma-Arkansas border, between hardwood forests and fields speckled with bales of hay, small churches dot the landscape.

But Elohim City, the 1,000-acre Christian Identity compound founded 24 years ago by itinerant pastor Robert Millar, is a place apart eight miles from the nearest paved road.

"We came here to be able to control the environment," explained Millar, 70, who leads a community of about 100 adherents who live in a cluster of 10 to 20 mobile homes and rough-hewn buildings.

The Canadian-born Millar, a small, white-haired man known to his followers as "Grandpa," sat Friday inside a chapel built of stone, wood and hardened foam. Three flags - the American, the Confederate, and the banner of the Church of Jesus Christ — sprouted from poles above the entry.

He said that he remembered Kevin McCarthy fondly and that Mark Thomas arranged McCarthy's stay of several months at Elohim City. But Millar said there was no link between his community and the bank robberies.

"If what they allege is true, I wonder who on earth could have influenced a nice boy like that to get involved in such things," he said of McCarthy, "He was a nice, quiet, cooperative, intelligent person. Law enforcement will have our complete cooperation."

Millar said Thomas had sent another Philadelphia man to Elohim City, too - a man Millar remembered only as "Scott."

He said Scott stayed at the compound a couple of weeks.

As for Elohim City's beliefs: "We are opposed to governmental misuse of tax money," Millar said. "We are opposed to some of the actions of government. We're not anti-government.... Our people are all self-employed, and we all pay taxes."

The men and women of Elohim mostly do construction-type work. They live together but not communally. Each man is responsible for his family and for putting groceries on the table, Millar said. They grow vegetables and hunt deer for meat. Children are home-schooled.

"We are racist," Millar said, "but we aren't anti-Semitic. I think it's better for races and cultures ... to have relationships within their own ethnic group. That doesn't mean isolationism, but it means separatism."

Millar said he had known Mark Thomas for about eight years and couldn't be sure how many people Thomas had sent him over that

"Now, with Kevin, [Thomas] particularly thought we might be able 🤚 to help him — with education," Millar said. "A teenager looking for help is pretty hard to turn down.... We don't advertise. We don't seek recruits."

Millar acknowledged being questioned recently by the FBI but said he doubted that the government suspected him of having had any influence over the bank robberies.

"To the best of my knowledge, I don't think the government agencles are considering that approach."

Mark Thomas' Berks County place near Allentown looks more like a junkyard than a compound.

Thomas would not say on Friday whether the FBI had questioned

regional outlet for right-wing propaganda from his trash-strewn Berks County farm. He lives with his 21-year-old wife, Wendy, and their year-old daughter on the farm, where for years he held skinhead and neo-Nazi rallies, sponsoring the Hitler Youth Festival in April 1994 and White Pride Day last October.

The farm, which sits adjacent to a closed toxic-waste dump, was once a scrapyard. Dozens of rusting car, bus and trailer shells dot the woods behind the house. When Thomas holds rallies, he hangs a Nazi flag out front as a marker for visitors. There have been no recent rallies. An outbuilding is home to goats, which, Thomas said, provide milk for his daughter.

In an interview Friday, Thomas, who wore an Aryan Nation belt buckle, said he had been under a lot of stress because of news reports shout the benk reports.

about the bank robberies.

He spoke guardedly of McCarthy, saying he had seen him recently in prison but only in Thomas' capacity as a minister. And, contrary to what Millar and McCarthy's grandmother have said, he insisted that he had sent only one person — his teenage son — to Elohim City.

Thomas also said he remembered Scott Stedeford only vaguely. He said Stedeford had never attended rallies at his farm, nor stayed there.

And Thomas said he could not recall introducing Stedeford to Guthrie, as Guthrie has told the FBL

"I introduce hundreds of people," Thomas said. Any introduction would have been "only social, not to engage in any criminal activity.... I don't engage in any criminal activity."

He added that all information Guthrie has given the FBI "comes from a polluted source" — a confessed bank robber.

Even Thomas' recollection of his relationship with "Grandpa" Millar was clouded. He said they met in 1990 at the Aryan Nation compound in Idaho. He said he had only stopped in Elohim City while passing through Oklahoma, and never for more than a day. Millar visited his home, Thomas said, sometime after 1990, but he could not be more specific.

When he spoke with reporters last week, Thomas portrayed himself as a moderate, and made a point of praising a Jewish reporter's work. "I don't hate anybody because of the color of their skin," he said.

Floyd Cochran, the former white supremacist who has renounced his old views, said he had talked on the phone several times this month with Thomas, whom he met in 1990 when both were living in the Aryan Nation compound in Idaho.

Cochran, now of Coudersport, Pa., said Thomas "was boo-hooing, saying maybe he should make a change in life, maybe he would quit being a racist."

In a recent edition of his Internet publication, The Watchman — subtitled The Voice of the Christian Posse Comitatus in Pennsylvania — Thomas wrote:

"While I place the preservation of the White Race above any other consideration, I do not desire to follow the party line of mindless race-

An FBI agent's affidavit offered a look inside one bank robbery and its preparation.

Federal authorities have sealed some court documents relating to the bank robberies, saying the investigation is not over.

But a seven-page sworn affidavit by FBI Special Agent Kenneth E. Moore, one of the agents who cracked the case, surfaced.

Moore described the March 29, 1995, heist in West Des Moines — a week after the Buick LeSabre was purchased for cash.

About 10:15 a.m., "three masked gunmen entered the Boatmen's Bank... As one robber ordered everyone to the floor, the two other gunmen vaulted the teller counter and emptied the teller drawers... Eyewitnesses described the robbers as white males ... thin to medium build, all wearing some type of facial disguise, including a white hard hat, camouflage green jacket, and some type of camouflage..."

Afterward, he wrote, a search of the bank "revealed an Easter basket containing an eight-to-nine-inch, gold-colored, galvanized pipe bomb."

Then Moore described what Guthrie has since told the FBI about the Boatmen's Bank heist, and the purchase of the getaway car.

It was almost funny.

A week before the holdup, the robbers parked at a Wal-Mart near Mr. Lee's Autoland in Des Moines. Guthrie said "Scott" walked over and bought the white LeSabre. But when he returned to the Wal-Mart lot and told Guthrie what had happened, Guthrie"was upset that the driver's license was copied" - and ordered him to ditch the LeSabre.

The next day, the gang bought another used Buick LeSabre. Guthrie said - and that became the getaway car for the Boatmen's Bank heist.

That was the car that authorities found later. Tucked between the cushions of the Buick's back seat was a blue hand grenade. It was a dud, Moore wrote.

The robbers liked gestures. Last December, several newspapers received letters nominating St. Louis FBI Agent Jim Nelson for a civic award. News accounts had quoted Nelson about the heists.

"The Midwestern Bank Bandits are proud to appoint Jim Nelson as our new spokesman for 1996. We're sure Jim will do a better job than Larry has done in the past," the letter said, referring to another FBI spokesman, Agent Larry Holmquist.

But it wasn't all tweaks. When defendant Langan's van was cornered by the FBI in Columbus in January, he opened fire on them. The agents returned fire, wounding him slightly, and arrested him.

Later, when Guthrie confessed, he told the FBI of young men he knew only as Scott and Kevin. He said that they were from Philadelphia - and that he had been introduced to Scott by Mark Thomas.

The FBI obtained the copy of the Alabama license that car dealer Helton made back in Des Moines last year. They showed it to Guthrie, who said the photo was of the man he knew only as Scott.

It's not clear exactly how the authorities tracked down Stedeford. Sara Palilonis, who in December began subletting a room to Stedeford in her Camden home, said the FBI told her the agency had tailed him and his friends for 90 days.

Palilonis added that she'd known Stedeford for years. She said he was a kind man who helped take care of her when she was eight months pregnant.

The FBI searched her rowhouse for nine hours last month.

"I stood outside and cried," Pali-

The day before he was arrested, Scott Stedeford sat, plucking his acoustic guitar, in the lunchroom of the Broomall print shop where he had worked for seven years after graduating Haverford High. He surrendered quietly the next day at Sound Under, the studio where he had worked in Upper Darby.
Authorities said he was carrying a semiautomatic pistol.

When the robbery spree ended, big questions remained unanswered, questions like: Where's the money?

In a phone interview from fail in April, Guthrie told the Chicago Tribune that he and Langan had given money to groups he refused to identify.

"We really didn't give all that much," Guthrie said, "but we didn't really have a chance to get started. It wasn't until the latter part of last year that we started to grow." Authorities are not saying whether they know where some, or all, of the $250,000 wound up or whether any more arrests are possi-

Last week, though, one senior lawenforcement official said: "Stay tuned on the bank robberies."

This article was also reported by Inquirer staff writers Connie Langland, Jeff Gelles, Howard Goodman, Anthony Gnoffo, Tom Moon and Joseph A. Slobodzian and correspondents Justin Pritchard and Jacqueline L. Urgo.

Banks, Robberies and White Power

The FBI says Scott Stedeford, Kevin McCarthy, Peter Langan and Richard Lee Guthrie Jr., were members of a ring that called itself the Midwestern Bank Bandits, Authorities have linked the gang to 22 bank robberies throughout the Midwest between Nov. 27, 1992, and Dec. 19, 1995.

INSTRUMENTAL ANALYSIS:

The results of a physical and instrumental examination of specimen K78 identified the material to be commercial grade black powder. Black powder is considered a low explosive.

The results of a physical and instrumental examination of specimen K79 identified the material to be non-perforated disk double base smokeless powder. The powder is consistent with Hercules Red Dot smokeless powder. Smokeless powders are considered low explosives and can detonate when properly confined and initiated.

The results of an instrumental examination of residues removed from specimen K126 identified the major substance to be hexachlorocyclohexane (Lindane). The chemical is considered a potent insecticide and can pose health risks if exposed to humans at certain levels.

The specimens were examined using all or some of the following techniques: optical microscopy, chemical spot tests, burn test, x-ray powder diffraction, scanning electron microscopy with energy dispersive x-ray analysis, ion chromatography, gas chromatography with chemiluminescence detection, gas chromatography with mass spectrometry detection and fourier transform infrared spectroscopy.

FIREARMS:

The K97 shotgun; the K100, K101A, K102A, K104 and K112 rifles; the K105 carbine; and the K113 and K114 pistols functioned normally when test fired in the FBI Laboratory.

Specimens K87A and K87B are part of a Remington "Premier copper solid sabot" slug like the type loaded into 12-gauge shotshells.

Specimens K102B through K102F are five (5) .223 Remington caliber jacketed hollow point cartridges produced by/for Federal Cartridge Company. Specimens K88, K101B-K101F, K102B-K102F have all the physical characteristics of functional Ammunition. COMPUTER ANALYSIS: A directory listing of K117 was produced. K117 is a Macintosh formatted diskette containing one (1) computer file entitled "SedDoc". The "SedDoc" file appears to have been created using Pagemaker 5.0 software and has "creation" and "lastmodified" dates of July 16, 1995.
